From the Editor's Desk

Members' response to our request for material for publication in GENERATIONS has been most gratifying. We appreciate the many manuscripts we have received and hope our members will keep them coming. We will endeavour to publish all of these; some of the longer material will be serialized. Please keep it coming!

Use white, letter-sized paper and leave a one-inch margin on all four sides. Thanks.

The following story was written by my great-grandmother, Mary Eliza (McFee) Duncan in March, 1939, during her 84th year. She was born on May 24th, 1855, near Kinnear Settlement, Westmorland County, N.B. where this event took place. Her parents were Charles McFee and Christina Colpitts.

This is an exact transcript given to me by Mary Eliza's grandson, Ainsley Dagg, of Sidney, British Columbia.

A HEROINE

This adventure took place over a hundred years ago, and is a true story, told me by my mother, who was a witness to the act. It was considered by all who knew, to be the biggest day's work and the most courageous act ever accomplished by a pioneer woman, but I will have to take you to the beginning.

In 1831 two young men, Isaac Bleakney and Charles McFee (true names) took up homesteads in New Brunswick on the West Branche of Petitcodiac River, about thirty miles from Moncton (then called the Bend). Their homesteads lay side by side separated by a little brook which they could jump across, although quite deep. They went to work clearing the land which was heavily timbered to make their home. They were careful to select the largest and best timber for their buildings. The remainder was cut in lengths, put in piles and burned, preparing the land for a crop, and in the spring they each had a nice large field which they sowed with oats for future feed, and while the oats were growing they set to work building their spacious barns, Bleakney building on one side of the little brook and McFee building on the other side. When the oats were ready to harvest they were safely stored in the barns.

Pioneers were coming thick and fast, settling all round, clearing land, building and making homes and roads. Bleakney and McFee were building their houses. McFee was a hewer by trade. They hewed and squared the logs laying them up flat sides together, also making a flat smooth surface inside and out. When they were completed and their large stone fireplaces (which a stonemason from Moncton built) erected, they were very proud of their work and boasted that they had the best buildings of any of the settlers, and in 1833 March 1st they brought their wives to complete their homes.

Mrs. Bleakney (the heroine) brought one cow, six sheep, and household goods. Mrs. McFee brought two cows, six sheep and household goods and they were as happy as pioneers could be in their new homes. In a very short time each cow presented them with a calf and they were quite proud that their stock was increasing.

The cows being well fed, were giving a nice mess of milk and the calves were getting all they could drink. The cream was churned giving butter for the tables and yet there was a surplus of milk, which must not be wasted. They decided that pigs would be the best to take the milk and also would provide pork for the coming winter.

Now pigs were scarce and high priced. McFee was fortunate enough to get one down the river near Moncton and Mrs. Bleakney wanted one too. In course of time word came that John Patterson, a pioneer in Canaan, ten miles distant, had spring pigs for sale. Mrs. Bleakney said "Isaac you must go and get a pig." Now Bleakney was a lazy man and not very courageous. He said "No, I wouldn't walk to John Patterson's and carry a pig home through ten miles of woods, if he would give me the pig. You know the woods are full of bears, and they are very savage this time of the year." She was so disappointed and disgusted that she said "Well, I will go and get the pig myself", (and she did).

They were up bright and early the next morning as all pioneers were. The two men went to their blackland fields preparing for another crop. Mrs. Bleakney milked the cow, fed the calf, did her chores and prepared for her journey. She wore a pair of coarse cowhide shoes made by the shoemaker, a homespun dress which she had manufactured from the wool off the sheep's back, a beautiful plaid shawl (which her Mother had given her brought from Scotland), and a sunbonnet on her head. That was her costume. She did not have any powder or paint on her face. She did not have her hair bobbed or curled, neither did she have her finger nails tinted. She was a small woman weighing just 110 lbs, but she had courage and determination.

She started on her ten mile journey. It was a beautiful morning in May, sun was shining, birds singing, everything showing of spring and life and she was as happy as the birds. She travelled along fine and reached Mr. Patterson's home before noon. She rested over an hour. Mrs. Patterson gave her dinner. She bought the pig, paid $5.00 for it, it weighed 15 lbs. Mr. Patterson put it in a bag, and if she had been a man would of thrown it across her shoulder and carried it that way, but she was a woman and she took it up in her arms and carried it as if it had been a baby.

She started on her way home, so happy that she had the pig. When about five miles on her way, she thought the pig weighed thirty pounds. However, she travelled on and when within three miles of home she was confronted by a huge black bear demanding the pig; no doubt, he had smelt the pig and wanted some fresh pork for his supper. Now Mrs. Bleakney wasn't going to let him have the pig if she could help it, so she ran. The bear ran too. She shifted the pig from her arms to her left hand holding it by the bag, still running, and with her right hand undid her beautiful shawl, rolled it up and with the aid of her teeth she tied and pinned it the best she could (she had no safety pins), then dropped it to the ground hoping it would interest the bear until she could get a start (which it did).

Then summoning all the strength and courage that her little body contained she ran as she never ran before.

In the meantime the bear tore the beautiful shawl all in shreds (which they found later) and being so enraged with hunger and disappointment in not getting the fresh pork he quickly picked up the scent and made all haste after her, determined to have her and the pig too. The afternoon was slipping away, Bleakney working in his field was getting very uneasy. No doubt his guilty conscience was troubling him thinking he was such a coward as to let his wife undertake to do a job that he dare not do. He was a very passionate man, so leaving his work he went to the house and shouting to McFee and wife (my Mother and Father) who were working in their field saying "I fear something has happened to the wife." They both went over to try to console him. He was exasperated and saying "It is four o'clock and she is not here."

McFee said "Isaac, control yourself, she has not had time to get here. You must remember, ten miles over that rough road is a long way, and a pig is an awkward thing to carry, and she won't come back as quickly as she went (but she did). And if she gets here by six o'clock she will do well." And as they were talking she came in the clear running for all she was worth and the bear not far behind her and he was running too. My father took the situation in, ran to the house, got his rifle and shot the bear. The heroine reached her house with the pig in safety, but nearly exhausted, frightened beyond words - a forlorn creature. My mother took charge of her. She quieted, comforted, consoled, gave her refreshments and in a few hours had her restored to her normal self.

In the meantime the two men dressed the bear and they had a bear steak for supper, which my mother prepared, and they all enjoyed it very much. Mrs. Bleakney, the heroine, partaking of same and returning "Thanks" for her safety in reaching her home with the Pig!

Now if any of you readers can give us a story of a bigger day's work or a braver deed done by a pioneer woman, or a man either, and vouch for its truthfulness, we would be pleased to hear it. This finishes the Pig story.

Dear Sir/Madam:

Re: Library/Archives Advisory Committee
New Brunswick Museum

In the fall of 1988 the "Save Our Museum" committee called on the board of directors of the New Brunswick Museum to appoint an Archives advisory committee from among constituent user groups.

Acting on SOM's suggestion, the NBM wrote in the spring of 1989 to request that the NBGS put forward a nominee to such a committee. The Society honoured the undersigned with its nomination. On 15 February 1990 the appointments (Douglas Lockhead, Richard Thorne, David Bell) were actually made, with Wednesday, 2 May 1990 as the initial meeting date.

I take this opportunity to invite members of the NBGS who have suggestions and concerns as to the services offered by the Library & Archives of the NB Museum to communicate them to me, preferably in written form. I would emphasize that this new committee is merely an advisory group. It does not make decisions.

Without presuming to pre-empt discussions of a committee which is yet to meet, it seems clear that the Museum must now face squarely the issue of whether genealogical users are merely to be tolerated or actually encouraged (through, for example, special funding aids generated primarily with genealogists in mind). While the events of 1986-87 can never be undone, there is still a vast amount of manuscript material at the Museum of use to the non-beginning genealogist. The question the Museum must face is whether such material can practically be made available to the many potential genealogical users, given handling precautions and staff and space constraints.

Yours truly,

GENEALOGIST: One who traces your family as far back as your money will go.

Genealogical Notes

A LIFE MEMBERSHIP was awarded to Bill Kilfoil, Editor of Generations at the Annual Meeting of the N.B.G.S. held at the Saint John Regional Library, One Market Square, Saint John on Saturday, May 19th, 1990. President Wilmot Ross, on behalf of the Society, made the award in recognition of Bill's contributions to the Society not only as editor, but for his services during periods when various executive and committee positions were vacant. Bill is the third recipient of this award, the two others members being Mrs. Betty Sewell and Mrs. Julia Walker.

THE NEW BRUNSWICK MUSEUM BOARD, Saint John, recently appointed David G. Bell as a member of their Library & Archives Advisory Committee (L.A.A.C.) upon the recommendation of the New Brunswick Genealogical Society. Mr. Bell, known to many of our members as author of Early Loyalist Saint John, is a law professor at the University of New Brunswick, Fredericton and is considered a leading authority on a variety of subjects in the academic and historical communities. The New Museum has also appointed Richard Thorne, Vice Principle of the Saint John High School, upon the recommendation of the New Brunswick Historical Society. Mr. Thorne is active in historical and genealogical circles in Queens Co. and Saint John as well as in a number of civic activities.

THE CANADIAN FEDERATION of genealogical and family history societies has appointed Daniel F. Johnson, 2nd V.P. of the N.B.G.S. to the Board as representative for New Brunswick. Commencing in 1991, Mr. Johnson will undertake the duties as editor of the national newsletter.

SOCIETY LAPEL PINS are available exclusively from the branches of the N.B.G.S. No matter where your place of residence, this is an opportunity to show support to the Branch of your choice. Their addresses may be found on the inside back cover of this book. The Lapel Pins 5/4 " are illustrated with the NBGS tree logo and lettering in gold on a white background and sell for $ 3.00 each. The pins are available only from the Boiestown, Capital, Carleton County, Charlotte, Restigouche, Saint John and Southeastern branches.

PLEASE HELP spread the word about the New Brunswick Genealogical Society. We have updated and improved the Society brochures which contain information geared to prospective new members. However, we need help in their distribution. If there is a library, archives or other institution where genealogists tend to congregate or conduct research we would like to know if that place would distribute our brochures. We especially appeal to our members in other provinces of Canada, the United States and Australia. What better way to find others in your neighbourhood who share New Brunswick (Canada) roots? If interested please contact: Daniel F. Johnson, P.O. Box 2387, Saint John, N.B. Canada E2L 3V6

THE IRISH FESTIVAL will have its annual celebration in Chatham this summer. The Provincial Archives will be hosting a number of genealogical and historical topics which have always drawn large crowds. The N.B.G.S. would like to establish a booth at this conference in cooperation with the Provincial Archives, but we need members to man the booth. If you wish to participate please contact: Daniel F. Johnson, P.O. Box 2387, Saint John, N.B. Canada E2L 3V6

DEPT. OF TOURISM & HERITAGE Minister, the Hon. Roland Beulieu, received on behalf of Provincial Archives, a donation of Generations-10 and 1871 Census For St. John County, N.B. as well as other books from the Saint John and Capital Branches. President Wilmot Ross made the presentation on behalf of the Society.

THE DEPT. OF HEALTH has made significant progress in the services provided genealogists and the public. The Vital Statistics Committee of the N.B.G.S. expects to meet with department officials to discuss possibilities for future access.

DO NOT take Generations for granted. Communication is a two-way street and we rely on members for information, articles, genealogies, etc. Let's keep the ball rolling!

Wills of Essex, England: The Archdeaconry Court, 1577 - 1584

You may perhaps have heard of the ambitious project here in the County of Essex to transcribe and publish all the wills relating to the County throughout the Elizabethan period, a project which has not been attempted for any other English County.

Already three volumes have appeared, covering the period 1558 to 1577. These have been published by, in turn, the National Genealogical Society and the New England Historic Genealogical Society.

I am now writing to tell you that a secure future for the remaining volumes in this series has now been ensured. Publication has been taken over by the Essex Record Office, with its prestigious publishing record. The Office will be working in close collaboration with the Friends of Historic Essex, who will be organising funding.

The first fruits of that collaboration have now appeared in the form of a volume, "Essex Wills: The Archdeaconry Court, 1577 - 1584".

You may already have purchased copies of the preceding volumes in the series, in which case I am sure your interest will be in seeing the volumes build into the complete series on your book shelves.

On the other hand, this may be a new series to you, in which case I hope the enclosed leaflet will be a useful introduction. You will note from the leaflet that stocks of the earlier volumes have been acquired for re-sale, so that, if you wish now to begin to collect the full series for your library, that can be done.

I hope to welcome you soon to the growing list of libraries and societies which are adding to their resource data through this series.

Yours sincerely,

County Archivist

NOTICE

In 1982 and again in 1984, the New Brunswick Genealogical Society published booklets listing the names of families being researched by our members.

It is our intention to update this information and to publish another booklet listing the names currently being researched by our membership.

We need your help.

We ask members who have not indicated in recent years the family names they are researching to send us those names so that our revised "Index to Names Being Researched by Members of the N.B. Genealogical Society" may be as up-to-date as possible.

Thank You.

Names should be sent, before 31 July, 1990, to:

Norm Belliveau
Membership Secretary, NBGS
94 Maple Street
Moncton, N.B.

NEW BRUNSWICK NEWSPAPER DIRECTORY

The New Brunswick Newspaper Directory 1783-1988 lists approximately 650 titles, their dates of publication, location of holdings, microfilmed titles and much much more useful information. It should prove to be an essential tool for researchers, archivists, librarians, genealogists or anyone who needs to consult a newspaper, either current or historical.

This book will be of interest to all students of genealogical methods. And it will be of special interest to those who have roots in the Outer Hebrides. More than 30 family names are included but MacLeod, MacAulay, MacKenzie and MacDonald predominate.

The history of Sheshader is described from the first decade of the last century when it was part of a tack (communal farm) to its division into 14 crofts (small farms) and subsequent divisions until the crofts numbered 24. For each croft, the successive tenants and names of spouses and children are listed. Supporting data include Gaelic patronomics for tenants and their spouses; and birth dates and names of spouses for members of their families. Some individuals of each succeeding generation remained in Strathader but families were large and most had to leave. Many came to Canada or to the United States.

The history is a remarkable blend of data from official records and oral tradition. And the text is supplemented by 80 photographs and two maps. Mrs. Mary MacLeod, mother of Mrs. Lawson, has exceptional knowledge of the history of the village and family relationships. Her daughter made good use of the information in collaborating with the text.

In the foreword, Donald Whyte, President of the Association of Scottish Genealogists and Record Agents, describes some of the work of Bill Lawson. Over the past twenty years, this former college lecturer, has researched every household in the Outer Hebrides back some 200 years. His research has resulted in a data bank of 17,000 pedigree sheets at his research centre Co Lus Thu. (In English, what people belong to).

The Sheshader history is the first of a series, planned by Mr. Lawson, to include all the crofts on the Long Island (Harris and Lewis). But as a professional genealogist, he also undertakes research for individuals. Descendants of Scottish emigrants studying Outer Hebrides families are indeed fortunate that there is a professional with such profound local knowledge to whom they may turn. The history of Sheshader can illustrate to them the results that might be achieved.

Don W. MacLean

Pat Cook, an NBGS member from North Vancouver, B.C., has provided us with a marriage record she discovered in the church records for Cumbernauld, Dumbarton, Scotland, under the date of 6th September 1846:

STREET, Bruce Jas., St. Johns, New Brunswick and Alice ORR, Cumbernauld, proclaimed married on the 10th.

This book includes all records for the province, with an index. In all, some 3000 entries are included. Records include age, occupation, cause of death, and other information. Returns written in French are printed in the original language, with a translation guide is included at the beginning of the book.

I have begun work on an index to the 1891 Census. This index is by heads of families and cross-references. This is being published in county instalments, and will be followed by a master index for the province as a whole. As of 01 April, Albert County has been published. Plans are for the other districts of the province to be published at the rate of one per month. The next two districts published will be Kings County and Saint John City.

The 1871 Census

For the 1871 Census for the province, returns for the following areas are missing.

St. John County: Kings Ward #1 (59pp), Portland Parish #3-5 (app.411 pages), and Simonds Parish #2 (124pp).

Restigouche County: Addington #2 is listed as missing, but cross-referencing with the published totals indicates that this section was redundant.

WHO IS WHAT? TITLES, TITLES, TITLES

Published by the Clan Maxwell of the USA. Copied from the Central Georgia Genealogical Society, Fall 1985

Many Americans who (in our case Canadian-) who read history or ethnic news are not familiar with the British titles of nobility that we so often come across in our reading. Just what is an Earl? Is that higher or lower than a Duke? Why is an Earl's wife called a Countess? And what is a Lord? Or a Laird?

KINGS, QUEENS, PRINCES, AND PRINCESSES we understand - these are the monarch and first generation offspring. Other hereditary titles often seen are - in descending order of importance - Duke, Marquess of Marquis, Earl, Viscount, Lord, and Baron. Non-hereditary titles include Baronet and the "Sir" of knighthood.

DUKES used to be semi-autonomous rulers of kingdoms or sub-kingdoms. They did not used to be, but now are related to the monarch - examples are the Duke of Cumberland, the Duke of Argyll.

MARQUESS (Marchioness) are not as common in Scotland as either Dukes or Earls, but rank between the two. It's an imported French title. The Stuarts are the Marquis of Bute, the Kennedys the Marquis of Ailsa.

EARLS are called "Counts" on the European continent - which is why their wives are called Countesses. Earl comes from the Scandianavian title "Jarl". Earls used to rule "Counties" - and in the days of loose central control they were almost independent little kings - examples include the Earl of Glasgow (Boyle) and the Earl of Wigtown (Fleming).

VISCOUNTS are what it says: vice-counts, below an Earl. LORDS are a little lower and originally held oversight over a considerable expanse of land which could be expected to furnish a considerable party of armed men in case of war. In Scotland they often head families with several cadet families - the Lord of the Isles with several MacDonald Clans; the Lord Strathspey with sub-families of Grants at Rothiemurchus, Talloghgorm, Glenmoriston, etc.

BARONS usually headed a fortified house and enough land to provide a small party of warriors. The title was hereditary as long as they kept up their obligations to the overlord - which is why one reads of rebellious lords forfeiting their titles and estates.

P.O. Box 1111
Camden, ME. 04843

LIMITED TIME OFFER...ONLY 100 COPIES AVAILABLE

The records of Mount Desert Island and nearby islands is the latest special publication No. 4 by the MAINE GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY. The records transcribed here are an extraction from the original parts of the first book of records of the Plantation and later the Town of Mount Desert. The book consists of vital records of resident families, warnings-out and cattle marks. MGS has added an Every-Name index with 2,075 entries, 1791 map of the Island and five early photos.

The records themselves tell much about the life of these early settlers, spanning the periods of the War of Independence and the War of 1812, a time of strife and uncertainty for the islanders, oftentimes in relative isolation.

As of the publishing of this book the whereabouts of the original book is unknown. Fortunately in 1983 the book was brought to the Maine State Archives to be microfilmed, but curiously, no record was kept of the lending custodian. The Town of Mount Desert has a typed transcription of the original book prepared accurately by William O. Emery of Ellsworth in 1910.

Picton Press and the Maine Genealogical Society have cooperated in making this high quality book available. One hundred copies have been reserved for the members of the Society at the discount price of $15.95 [first come-first served], and the remaining 150 copies are available to the general public at $20.00.

VITAL RECORDS OF MOUNT DESERT ISLAND AND NEARBY ISLANDS 1776-1820 is MAINE GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY SPECIAL PUBLICATION NO. 4. ## HISTORY & GENEALOGY THE PROVINCE OF NEW BRUNSWICK (CANADA)

VITAL STATISTICS FROM NEW BRUNSWICK (CANADA) NEWSPAPERS 1784-1875

The project to extract genealogical data from New Brunswick newspapers was begun by the New Brunswick Genealogical Society in 1982. It was continued (commencing with Volume 6) by Daniel F. Johnson. In the past eight years, 35 volumes have been published with a new volume being printed every other month.

This collection has become the largest single source of published genealogical data in New Brunswick. Over 150,000 names are cross referenced.

As well as births, deaths, marriages other data such as passenger lists, tax payer lists, coroner inquests, mates and masters receiving certificates of competency, graduates of medical colleges abroad, epitaphs, burial lists, biographies, shipwrecks, murder trials, executions, attorneys sworn, mention of those living abroad, ordination of ministers and priests etc. are included.

Extracts are generally complete including any parents, children, brothers and sisters and their ages where such information appears in the newspapers. Some items are abridged omitting character reference. When further reference is recommended the notation (see original) accompanies each extract.

Every extract is a numbered entry. The entries are preceded by the name of the newspaper and its date of issue, thereby allowing reference to the source for verification.

The scope of the project is to include all New Brunswick newspapers. For the researcher thousands of hours of research time has been eliminated. For the library, archives or society which subscribes to this series, costs in inter-library loan of newspaper microfilm is greatly reduced.

This project receives no funding from any government or private foundation. There is no advertising revenue. The project is wholly dependent on the sales of books.

The following have been published:

Vol	Years	Vol	Years	Vol	Years
1-3	1784-1828	14	1852-1854	25	1867-1867
4	1829-1831	15	1854-1856	26	1867-1868

CARRAIG BOOKS

P.O. Box 8733, Ste. Foy, Quebec G1V 4N8

The English translation of "Grandmaman raconte la Grosse Ile", a book now in its fourth printing and second edition. The author, Jeannette Vekeman Masson was the daughter of the Belgian translator at the quarantine station on Grosse Ile. She wrote of ten years of her life, at the request of her grandchildren who loved her stories of growing up in an ordinary village on this extraordinary island in the St. Lawrence (1904-1914). Translated by Johanne L. Masse. Photographs. $16.00 postpaid.

IN ALL WEATHERS IN ALL SEASONS a Quebec scrapbook

This book of essays written by a fourth-generation English-speaking Quebecer spans a few years and a few thousand miles of territory: his city, his province and neighbouring U.S. hiking areas. Clive Meredith presents a very individual, humorous, gently satirical and philosophical look at growing up English-speaking in a French milieu. Illustrated by Elizabeth Abbott. $13.00 postpaid.

GROSSE ILE GATEWAY TO CANADA

location*

With the eventual establishment of a national park under the direction of Parks Canada on the historical island of Grosse Ile, this book by Quebec historian Marianna O'Gallagher provides a needed study of the development of the island as a quarantine station from 1832 until 1937. Highlights of the book are the chapters on advancement in preventive medicine, and an account of the famine of 1847 along with a list of more than 600 children orphaned in 1847 and adopted into Quebec families. Photographs. $16.00 postpaid.

THE VOYAGE OF THE NAPARIMA

An Irish teacher's journal dating from 1847 forms the basis of this dramatic presentation of the events of 1847 - from Ireland to Grosse Ile. According to tradition the diary was found among the effects left behind when the young teacher, Gerald Keegan, died at Grosse Ile. Written by James Mangan, F.S.C., the modernized version contains explanatory notes and illustrations by Steve Otis. $8.00 postpaid.

The Uncounted Irish

in Canada and the United States

by Margaret E. Fitzgerald
and
Joseph A. King

Clothbound, 390 pages, over 40 illustrations, including 30 photos.

ISBN 0-88835-024-4 P.D. MEANY PUBLISHERS

SEAMUS P. METRESS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF TOLEDO SAYS:

"Fitzgerald and King have uncovered many previously forgotten areas of Irish American social history... a new approach to ethnic history, revealing the potential of genealogical methods as a tool in historical research."

Breaks New Ground

--In twenty chapters, Fitzgerald and King challenge much that appears on Irish immigration in school textbooks. The Irish settled in rural North America much earlier and in far greater numbers than the textbook writers have taught.

The Foreword

--Professor Metress places the book in the context of studies of Irish immigration by such scholars as William Shannon, Lawrence McCaffrey, Andrew Greeley, Kerby Miller, Dennis Clark, D.H. Aken-son, Houston and Smyth, and others: "Fitzgerald and King challenge what are almost axiomatic ideas on the Irish experience, but even those who disagree with the authors' conclusions on the rurality of the Irish must admire the meticulous detail of their work."

The Research

--The authors have conducted over ten years of research in the archives of Ireland, England, Canada, and the United States.

Surname Index

--Librarians and genealogists will be pleased with the index of 1,800 surnames.

Prior Study Praised

--The thesis on the rural Irish was originally advanced by King in The Irish Lumberman Farmer (1982). Professor F.M. Carroll of the University of Manitoba says, "King has broken new ground...it is hoped that other historians will reap a full harvest from his efforts."

A HISTORY OF THE WORLD

By Richard Lederer

(Supplied by John Beyea )

One of the fringe benefits of being an English or history teacher is receiving the occasional jewel of a student blooper in an essay. I have pasted together the following "history" of the world from certifiably genuine student bloopers collected by teachers throughout the United States, from eighth grade through college level. Read carefully, and you will learn a lot.

The inhabitants of ancient Egypt were called mummies. They lived in the Sarah Dessert and traveled by Camelot. The climate of the Sarah is such that the inhabitants have to live elsewhere, so certain areas of the dessert are cultivated by irritation. The Egyptians built the Pyramids in the shape of a huge triangular cube. The Pyramids are a range of mountains between France and Spain.

The Bible is full of interesting caricatures. In the first book of the Bible, Guinesses, Adam and Eve were created from an apple tree. One of their children, Cain, once asked, "Am I my brother's son?" God asked Abraham to sacrifice Isaac on Mount Montezuma. Jacob, son of Isaac, stole his brother's birth mark. Jacob was a patriarch who brought up his twelve sons to be patriarchs, but they did not take to it. One of Jacob's sons, Joseph, gave refuse to the Israelites.

Pharaoh forced the Hebrew slaves to make bread without straw. Moses led them to the Red Sea, where they made unleavened bread, which is bread made without any ingredients. Afterwards, Moses went up on Mount Cyanide to get the ten commandments. David was a Hebrew king skilled at playing the liar. He fought with the Philatelists, a race of people who lived in Biblical times. Solomon, one of David's sons, had 500 wives and 500 porcupines.

Without the Greeks we wouldn't have history. The Greeks invented three kinds of columns--Corinthian, Doric and Ironic. They also had myths. A myth is a female moth. One myth says that the mother of Achilles dipped him in the River Stynx until he became intollerable. Achilles appears in the Illad, by Homer. Homer also wrote, The Oddity, in which Penelope was the last hardship that Ulysses endured on his journey. Actually, Homer was not written by Homer but by another man of that name.

Socrates was a famous Greek teacher who went around giving people advice. They killed him. Socrates died from an overdose of wedlock.

In the Olympic Games, Greeks ran races, jumped, hurled the biscuits and threw the java. The reward to the victor was a coral wreath. The government of Athens was democratic because people took the law into their own hands. There were no wars in Greece, as the mountains were so high that they couldn't climb over to see what their neighbours were doing. When they fought with the Persians, the Greeks were outnumbered because the Persians had more men.

Eventually, The Romans conquered the Greeks. History calls people Romans because they never stayed in one place for very long. At Roman banquets, the guests wore garlands in their hair. Julius Caesar extinguished himself on the battlefields of Gaul. The Ides of March murdered him because they thought he was going to be made king. Nero was a cruel tyrant who would torture his poor subjects by playing the fiddle to them.

Then came the Middle Ages. King Alfred conquered the Danes, King Arthur lived in the Age of Chivalry, King Harold mustered his troops before the Battle of Hastings and Joan of Arc was canonized by Bernard Shaw. Finally, Magna Carta provided that no free man should be hanged twice for the same offense.

In medieval times most of the people were illiterate. The greatest writer of the time was Chaucer, who wrote many poems and verses and also wrote literature. Another tale tells of William Tell, who shot an arrow through an apple while standing on his son's head.

The Renaissance was an age in which more individuals felt the value of their human being. Martin Luther was nailed to the church door at Wittenberg for selling papal indulgences. He died a horrible death, being excommunicated by a bull. It was the painter Donatello's interest in the female nude that made him the father of Renaissance. It was an age of great inventions and discoveries. Gutenberg invented the Bible. Sir Walter Raleigh is a historical figure because he invented cigarettes. Another important invention was the circulation of blood. Sir Francis Drake circumnavigated the world with a 100-foot clipper.

The government of England was a limited mockery. Henry VIII found walking difficult because he had an abscess on his knee. Queen Elizabeth was the "Virgin Queen." As a queen she was a success. When Elizabeth exposed herself before her troops, they all shouted, "hurrah." Then her navy went out and defeated the Spanish Armada.

The greatest writer of the Renaissance was William Shakespeare. Shakespeare never made much money and is famous only because of his plays. He lived at Windsor with his merry wives, writing tragedies, comedies and errors. In one of Shakespeare's famous plays, Hamlet rations out his situation by relieving himself in a long soliloquy. In another, Lady Macbeth tries to convince Macbeth to kill the King by attacking his manhood. Romeo and Juliet are an example of a heroic couplet. Writing at the same time as Shakespeare was Miguel Cervantes. He wrote Donkey Hote. The next great author was John Milton. Milton wrote Paradise Lost. Then his wife died and he wrote Paradise Regained.

During the Renaissance America began. Christopher Columbus was a great navigator who discovered America while cursing about the Atlantic.

His ships were called the Nina, the Pinta, and the Santa Fe. Later, the Pilgrims crossed the Ocean, and this was known as Pilgrims Progress. When they landed at Plymouth Rock, they were greeted by the Indians, who came down the hill rolling their war hoops before them. The Indian squabs carried porpoises on their back. Many of the Indian heroes were killed, along with their cabooses, which proved very fatal to them. The winter of 1620 was a hard one for the settlers. Many people died and many babies were born. Captain John Smith was responsible for all this.

One of the causes of the Revolutionary Wars was the English put tacks in their tea. Also, the colonists would send their parcels through the post without stamps. During the War, the Red Coats and Paul Revere was throwing balls over stone walls. The dogs were barking and the peacocks crowing. Finally, the colonists won the War and no longer had to pay for taxis.

Delegates from the original thirteen states formed the Contented Congress. Thomas Jefferson, a Virgin, and Benjamin Franklin were two singers of the Declaration of Independence. Franklin had gone to Boston carrying all his clothes in his pocket and a loaf of bread under each arm. He invented electricity by rubbing cats backwards and declared, "A horse divided against itself cannot stand." Franklin dies in 1790 and is still dead.

George Washington married Martha Curtis and in due time became the Father of Our Country. Then the Constitution of the United States was adopted to secure domestic hostility. Under the Constitution the people enjoyed the right to keep bare arms.

Abraham Lincoln became America's greatest Precedent. Lincoln's mother died in infancy, and he was born in a log cabin which he built with his own hands. When Lincoln was President, he wore only a tall silk hat. He said, "In onion there is strength." Abraham Lincoln wrote the Gettysburg Address while traveling from Washington to Gettysburg on the back of an envelope. He also freed the slaves by signing the Emasculation Proclamation, and the Fourteenth Amendment gave the ex-Negroes citizenship. But the Clue Clux Clan would torcer and lynch the ex-Negroes and other innocent victims. It claimed it represented law and odor. On the night of April 14, 1865, Lincoln went to the theater and got shot in his seat by one of the actors in a moving picture show. The believed assassin was John Wilkes Booth, a supposingly insane actor. This ruined Booth's career.

Meanwhile in Europe, the enlightenment was a reasonable time. Voltare invented electricity and also wrote a book called Candy. Gravity was invented by Isaac Walton. It is chiefly noticeable in the Autumn, when the apples are falling off the trees.

Bach was the most famous composer in the world, and so was Handel. Handel was half German, half Italian, and half English. He was very large. Bach died from 1750 to the present. Beethoven wrote music even though he was deaf. He was so deaf he wrote loud music. He took long walks in the forest even when everyone was calling for him. Beethoven expired in 1827 and later died for this.

France was in a very serious state. The French Revolution was accomplished before it happened. The Marseillaise was the theme song of the French Revolution, and it catapulted into Napoleon. During the Napoleonic Wars, the crowned heads of Europe were trembling in their shoes. Then the Spanish gorillas came down from the hills and nipped at Napoleon's flanks. Napoleon became ill with bladder problems and was very tense and unrestrained. He wanted an heir to inherit his power, but since Josephine was a baroness, she couldn't bear children.

The sun never set on the British Empire because the British Empire is in the East and the sun sets in the West. Queen Victoria was the longest queen. She sat on a thorn for sixty-three years. Her reclining years and finally the end of her life were exemplary of a great personality. Her death was the final event which ended her reign.

The nineteenth century was a time of many great inventions and thought. The invention of the steamboat caused a network of rivers to spring up. Cyrus McCormick invented the McCormick reaper, which did the work of a hundred men. Samuel Morse invented a code of telegraphy. Louis Pasteur discovered a cure for rabies. Charles Darwin was a naturalist who wrote the Origin of the Species. Madam Curie discovered radium. And Karl Marx became one of the Marx brothers.

The First World War, caused by the assassination of the Arch-Duke by a surfer, ushered in a new error in the annals of human history.

Family Reunion-Danish Style

An interesting twist has been added to the program of the Andersen-Rasmussen-Hansen family reunion, being held at New Denmark, N.B. on 1 July 1990. Besides bringing along the old family photo albums and other mementos, participants are also being asked to bring favorite Danish family recipes. It is hoped to assemble these into a commemorative Danish cook-book, as yet another means of preserving and enhancing Danish culture. For those interested, favorite Danish recipes should be sent (soonest) to:

BACKWARD AND FORWARD

We have just concluded the 12th annual meeting of the New Brunswick Genealogical Society. The first annual meeting was held at Fredericton on 26 May 1979. Ruth Spicer was the charter president and membership then stood at 125.

The first issue of our then un-named newsletter (later to become GENERATIONS) came in June 1979. In a message of greeting, Marion Beyea, our provincial archivist, termed the publication of that issue "...an impressive achievement for a young association and an important step toward meeting its objective of promoting genealogical research and instructing in its techniques..."

Ms. Beyea went on "... The formation of the Society will provide a focus for the strong and widespread interest in family history and help it develop into a broader interest in our provincial heritage..."

Two of the objectives set out for the Society were:

- a. To promote the study of genealogy and genealogical research in New Brunswick.
- b. To encourage the establishment of Branches which will further the objectives of the Society.

Substantial progress has been made in reaching these and the other goals of N.B.G.S. Our membership is growing every month and the eight active Branches now functioning across the Province bespeak the continuing interest in family history. Our 700 members represent all parts of Canada, the majority of the U.S. states, Australia and New Zealand.

We hope the Society's presence over the past dozen years has vindicated Ms. Beyea's early faith in us. The spirit of co-operation expressed in her message has been maintained and strengthened over the years. We like to feel that N.B.G.S. has been a useful complement to the work and objectives of the Provincial Archives of New Brunswick.

GENERATIONS, too, has played its part in our growth. For a sizeable portion of our membership it is an important vehicle of communication. Making each issue better than the preceding one is a responsibility we feel toward our members, particularly those living thousands of miles from our Province.
