Spring 1986

Dear Members:

Spring is fast upon us, it seems like a year goes by like a flash. This will be my last year as your President. I hope to remain as the Editor and perhaps be elected to a seat on the Board of Directors so I can remain active in the affairs of the society to oversee things. It's time for new blood and new ideas less we become stagnant. Twelve members of our society took a trip to the Public Library on Sherbrooke Street in Montreal in January; a good time was had by all. We hope to plan a weekend trip to Quebec City this summer, let me know if you would like to go.

In November I was offered a complete set of Brother Rivett's Collection. It is very rare and covers the following nine counties north of the St.Lawrence River, to include the counties, Berthier, D'Argenteuil, Deux-Montagnes, Gatineau, Joliette, L'Assomption, Lebelle, Montcalm and Terrebonne. We had to act fast because this rare set even though it's a photocopy set rarely comes up for sale. I sent out an urgent appeal for donations, with a promise to use any left over monies to purchase other books we needed. We collected $1500 in donations. The Brother Rivett set cost $1000 Canadian dollars. We had enough to also buy the three volumes of Nicolet county for $110 Canadian dollars and also had enough to bring the University of Montreal's set of "Répertoire des actes de baptême, mariage, sépulture et recensements du Québec ancien" off which we were two years and fifteen volumes behind. We now have that set completed to volume 26 minus volume twleve (out of print) and we have to buy to volume thirty to be up to date for 1985 but that will take another $300 dollars. I want to thank all the members who gave a lot and also all the members who gave a little, every little bit helped. René duFort donated a new complete seven volume set of Tanguay. I also want to thank all the members who sent in articles for our journal. Keep them cming, I can't promise we will use them all but we will use most as space permits. Without articles we would have a very small journal. I hope everyone enjoys this journal as a lot of work went into its making.

I'm sounding a little more upbeat this letter perhap because my term as president will be coming to an end in October. Its a lot of work and I have enjoyed most of it but it's time for others to take over. I hope to see most of you at our spring conference and Father O'Doughty will be back for our fall conference with a different subject.

Suggestions on Questionnair

- (1) Print query number over names.

 As you can see starting on the second page of the querys.
- (2) Punch holes in journal for 3 hole binder.

This was a good suggestion, but because our printer only prints the journal and we correlate it and we are 265 miles away from the printed as he would have to drill the holes. But individually you could take the staples out and use a three hole punch.

- (3) Print maps of Clinton County New York.
 This has been done.
- (4) Print a documentation materials sheet of Clinton County, NY
 This has been done.
- (5) List Library of Congress numbers book about Clinton County, NY
 This has been done on documentary sheet where appl. but 99% of the books don't have a number.
- (6) To print speaches or not print speaches.
 45 yes & 2 no If fact the yes members said they would not keep membership if we stopped printing speeches.
- (7) Print articles to upstate Vermont.

 I recieved about 5 suggestions with this request. I will start printing select items out of Virginia E.DeMarce's Vermont notebook, I didn't have room this journal.
- (8) List local cemeterys in Clinton County
 This has been done this issue.
- (9) Print recording of local cemeterys.

We have printed the Old West Plattsburgh Roman Catholic cemetery not recorded by McLellan in his McLellan Cemetery Records. It was recorded by Theodore W.Ginnet # 0102.

- (10) Do not put fillers in journal.

 Our journal would look funny with so many pages half full.
- (11) Some members want scholarly journals and others said they do not like scholarly journals because they talk down to them and they want a down to earth homey journal. I have to balance the journal to suit both types of members.
- (12) Print family group sheets.

 This has been done but they must be typed as much as you know.
- (13) Print our library list.

This should have been done from the first issue. Now it is a major project and I hope to have it next journal.

I now allow 1 free query per journal. That could be 250 queries per journal. I believe 10 pages of queries is a good balance. Will print more suggestions next journal

DOCUMENTARY MATERIALS IN CLINTON COUNTY, NEW YORK

by

Addie L.Shields # 0004 Clinton County Historian

DOCUMENTARY MATERIALS IN CLINTON COUNTY has been assembled as a check list to assist the searcher in the knowledge of what is available in the area in conducting family research. The intention is to place a composite of documentary materials arranged chronologically in an effort toward efficiency in searching whether this leads backward in time into the Canadian Provincial Census or forward down through the years with the U.S. Federal Census to the 1925 New York State Census, which is in open ledger form at the Clinton County Clerk's Office.

One should first consult the COMPUTERIZED INDEX for the years 1790-1850 of the United States Federal Census known as the ACCELLERATED INDEXING SYSTEM which locates where the name searched may be found in other censuses. The only copies of this index in the area are at the Plattsburgh Public Library and the State University of New York (SUNY) at Plattsburgh.

Another important tool is the book HISTORICAL MATERIALS RELATING TO NORTHERN NEW YORK - a Union Catalog compiled and edited by G.Glyndon Cole and others, and published by the North Country Reference and Research Resources Council in 1976. Mr Cole and his committee list every book, pamphlet and map published about Northern New York and gives the locations of the libraries in the region where they may be found. Those items marked PIU in this book may be found in the Special Collections at the Feinberg Library at SUNY in Plattsburgh as are the items so marked in this list.

The McLellan Cemetery Records and Index compiled from gravestones during the years 1930-1960 by the McLellan Family are county-wide with original manuscripts at the Special Collections. These records are not copyrighted.

Mr.Charles Woodberry McLellan generously gave permission for copies of the Clinton County Segment to be made for the Plattsburgh Public Library, the County Historian's Office and that each town within the County have a copy of their segment of the Records. The County Historian's Office also has a copy of the Grand Isle County, Vermont, records.

Most of the documents listed above must be used in the library where they are held - the Special Collection, the Reference Room of the Plattsburgh Public Library, privately held library collections, and the County Historian's Office, or as specified being in the County Clerks's Office or the Office of the Surrogate. Many of the latter volumes from 1940 through the present can possibly be obtained through the inter-library loan of your library system. The micro-film reels of the Federal and Canadian census, for the payment of a small fee, can also be obtained on inter-library loan.

It is intended also that as the researcher consulted this list focusing in on the years of the lifespan of a member of his extended family, the resultant study would produce a backdrop of social, political, and economic factors in order to understand the setting that the progenitor lived in. This is the enrichment of doing genealogy that one comes to understand the culture that engulfed a long ago grandparent.

Since this area was opened for settlement following the Revolution, pursuing the HEAD OF HOUSEHOLDS taken in 1790 of the various states, assists in finding points of origin prior to a progenitor's migration. Each of these original Colonial States have list of those who served from that colony against the invading British Army, known as REVOLUTIONARY WAR ROLLS. Listed in these rools is military status, dates of time served, the engagement and amounts and kind of payment.

Certain factors emerge as one studies the history of the early families of settlers migrating north up the Hudson River-Lake Champlain Waterway or across the Lake from Vermont to this area. Just as these pioneers seemed to settle in a cluster deriving strength from each other's talents; so did the Revolutionary gold they had received from their service become the 'money up-front' for costs of migrating. Were they not bolstered by the extra work effort of their grown sons, children of the 'baby boom'of the Revolutionary War, who now at 17 years in 1800 were capable of a day's work besides their fathers? Did these factors not augment the surge of courage in daring to take the tremendous risk towards the pursual of the virgin wealth, the land and the timber of the American dream?

These were families of Protestant faith, the tracing of which is accomplished through the use of the Federal Census - Heads of Households, Revolutionary War Rolls, the 1798 and 1811 Assessment list, Bible Records, McLellan Cemetery Records, Mortgages, Deeds, Wills, Probates and administrations and the Newspapers of the time. However, one feels the presence of many unrecorded, unsurmountable defeats in the wilderness of this early settlement period. Often the researcher has a wisp of paper salvaged from the past, which becomes a contribution to someone else's puzzle. One goes forward with what one can find and in the absence of documented facts, one studies the history of the area trying to gain incite into the movement of these families.

THE REFRUGEE LIST, their allotments and rations as kept by General Benjamin Mooers, has already been printed in the first issue of the Journal. These French, whose lineage goes back to Acadia and the Old French Province, had crossed the 'gran ligne' to cut timber and then had signed on in CONGRESS'OWN REGIMENT under Col.Moses Hazen, fighting all the way to victory at Yorktown. They had been warned of 'excommunication'by their priests and were listed in their home church 'absent with the rebels'. On their return up the Hudson to the wilderness at FRENCH BAY on Lake Champlain just south of the Border and across from Isle la Motte, they were classified as REBELS unable to return to their homelands. They had not only disobeyed the priest, but the British kept an armed quard at the Fort at Point au Fer. No local government existed. Knowing the ways of the Indians, they survived living off the land, avoiding scouting parties from the Fort. returned north under the leadership of this General Benjamin Mooers. He knew their ways and became for a time their authority or government. It is General Benjamin Mooers'papers which have given us the records of these refugees. It is this general who interceded for them with the government to get the land promised to them for their services. With the setting up of the CANADIAN NOVA SCOTIA REFUGEE TRACT, it was this same Mooers who received the contract from the government for half the cost of the surveying of this land. By 1790, Mooers had acquired 20,126 acres at an average cost of seven cents per acre. By 1808 he owned some 30,000 acres, nearly one fourth of the entire refugee tract. Can you speculate how and why this transition of land occurred? Was the Refugee overpowered emotionally with discouragement in not being able to earn or produce the cash needed to pay the other half of the cost of surveying? Did he find his way back home in Canada by traveling the inland route where he would not be picked up and then be cloistered for a time until some relative assisted him to set out on foot for economic satisfaction in other timbered areas in Canada East or out west via the indian trail to Lake Ontario to the west to states like Michigan, Minnesota, etc. and other wilderness area's in the United States.

In the 1st County Ledger Deed book known as Grantor with dates 1788-1837 there are 10 pages with Benjamin Mooers Grantoring out or Reselling 290 parcels of land which had belonged to the refugees. Of which many were to other Canadians coming from Northern Vermont or just north of our border. Because of the movement of our French for economic reasons the islands which were steeping stones in east west traffic.

Mr.Pontbriand's 2nd volume #110 contains BAPTEMES ET SEPULTURES 1843-1880 of St.Joseph's of Coopersville,N.Y. and from this area whose missionaries fanned out serving the people up the river waterways. Volume #111 Mr.Pontbriand's 3rd volume in the Clinton County area covers Redford, Dannemora, Rouses Point and Champlain, N.Y. BAPTEMES ET SEPULTURES 1853-1880.

The priest from St.Joseph's in Philadelphia attended the armies as they surrounded and fought at Yorktown in 1781. It is Mrs.Virginia DeMarce who has extracted the deaths, marriages and births occurring in that 1781 time frame on the march of the regiment and the straggling families to and from that battle area.

Indians had prevailed upon Champlain to make the long trip up the St.Lawrence and Richelieu Riviers to see the beauty of 'Kan-yat-aire Garroont', which means the Lake which is the Gate to the Country. Champlain wrote documenting this journey and his magnificent view from the Lake of the virgin wealth of the area. Constantly, over the years, this wealth in natural resourses continued to attract statesman, soldier and settler.

The archives in Chambly contain contracts of the French coming down south of the River Saranac to cut timber for masts in 1747. Prior to the Revolutionary War, Moses Hazen and others were employing Frenchmen in the cutting of timbers for masts for British sailing vessels. With the outbreak of hostilities Moses Hazen with the lure of receiving their salary for serving in the ownership of land signed his men into this Regiment known as CONGRESS' OWN.

Þ

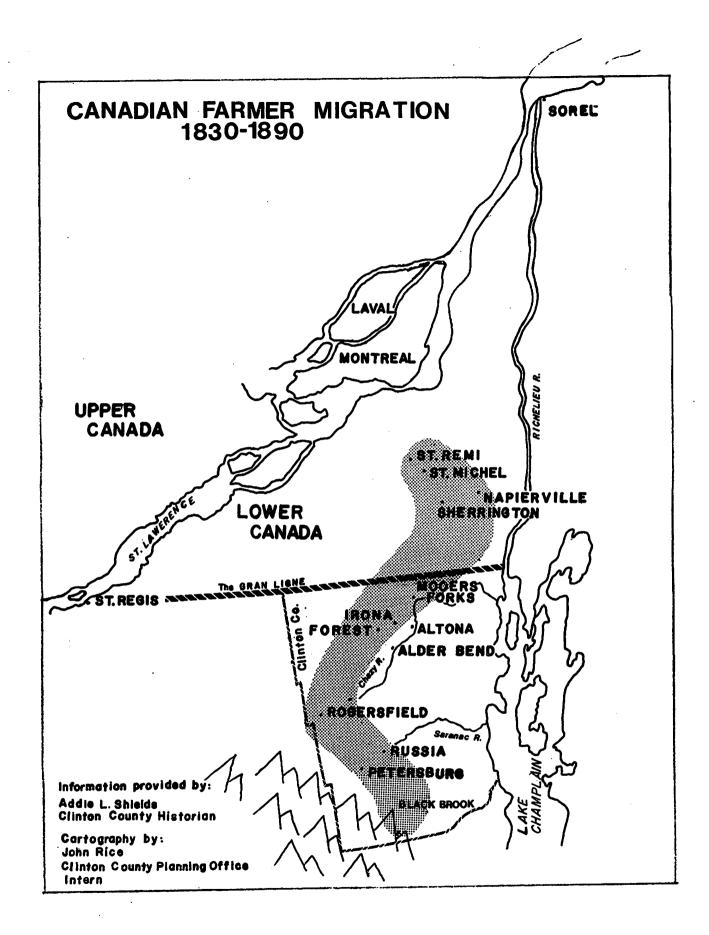

Historians allude to the unavailability of timber from the Lake Champlain area needed for the repair of the ships in the British Navy that were laid up as being a contributing factor to the fall of Yorktown in 1781. The French Admiral DeGrasse arrived from the Caribbean to the Chesapeake Bay all uncontested by the British. They knew this fleet was coming; but they did not have the ships to contest battle. With this French Fleet in the Harbor, Washington's forces on land and no Brittish Fleet to contest the press, Lord Cornwallis had no alternative but to surrender.

The forested shores of Lake Champlain had been Great Britain's Woodyard! This flow of timber to the north in rafts for sale to Great Britain continued following the Treaty of Paris in 1783. With the advent of the building of the Lake Champlain Barge Canal in 1822 the flow of timber was to the south to Albany and New York City in deals or plank in canal boats. This required milling of the logs at the falls nearest the timberline the process requiring more men gaining extra employment.

The French had been coming south in the North-South Waterways; but the French from the vast inland acres of wheat lands could use the inland Indian trails and walk to the millsites at Champlain where canal boats were being built or to the millsites at Mooers, Mooers Forks and Woods Falls. By 1848 Boston Industrialists were financing the building of the Ogdensburg and Rouses Point Rail road east to the Lake. This opened 28 September 1850. Note how that Mooers Forks known as Centerville was just north of Woods Falls. Note the names and route southwesterly, ALTONA, IRONA, FOREST, ALDERBEND and JERUSALEM uniting the stands of timber for the charcoal kilns with the iron ore of the Lyon Mountain-Standish area. This iron ore was first brought by oxen to the bloomers at Altona using charcoal from the heart of the timberland between Jerusalem and Alder Bend. The development of the iron industry within this complimentary timbered setting had very early followed up the river banks until by the time of the Civil War the forges on the river at Clayburg at Saranac were being used for our first ironclads and was consided the best in the world. 20 years from 1820-1851 COOK & CORNING had flourished in the manufacture of Redford Glass bringing glass blowers from New Jersey and England up river to this site at Redford on the River in Saranac. These were Protestant families working beside the French who had found employment as blacksmiths, coalers, teamsters and loggers in the charcoal kilns or the forges beside the River Saranac. There should be records of all this activity; but the U.S.Federal Census, the McLellen Cemetery record along with others previously discussed are all we have with at last the contribution made by Mr.Benoit Pontbriand of the Roman Catholic Records in the area. Also one should read the 3 volumes by Baker, THE SARANAC VALLEY vol.1 The Pioneers, vol.2 The Boom Days, vol.3 The Plank Road, all combined into one book (1968-1970).

As you pursue the sources chronologically matching the time frame of the life span of your progenitor with materials available and possibly finding a pause of defeat, trying to studyout what was the life style, the survival pattern or the social culture of these French who at first may have left their wives at home with the security of the home life of parents or grandparents in Canada; or with the death of a parent and the increase of children or the eagerness of the spouse had to ultimately make the decision to move the family to the States despite the lack of facilities or the established church. There was a Roman Catholic Mission at Champlain in '35, at Redford in '37 and at Mooers Forks in '61. The presence of their church justified their coming. Sacrifices were made but love, affection and being united strengthened the bonds involving courage. As a people the French had to have unsurmountable courage to sustain life despite the defeats in the Old Province, in Acadia and in Canada. Was coming down over the 'gran ligne' into our frontier county the way ahead and another move for survival? This Frontier wilderness land was where his work was and thus for economic reasons the move was made. How did they come? Could they have walked? There was the waterway; but then the treek inland from the Lake was some distance. They probably often brought just what they had on their backs or could drag with a pung (two poles with a crosspiece that could be dragged indian style) that carried coverlets, treasures, tools and the few cooking utensils they owned. Documentation exist of migrants walking from their farm in Beekmantown at Point au Roche to Ellenburg to work in the cutting of the woods known at that time as the Big Chateaugay woods. The pioneer society of that period along the timber line could have made and did make their furniture as well as their log homes. It was a stark existence; and with the continuous flow of migrants depressing the job market it continued to be so. The dream was the ownership of land and a home of their own; but workmen were plentiful and the pay stayed at a minimun. Now and then a man broke away from the hazardous timberline and signed on with a farmer working land 'on shares'. Here and there a Frenchman came property through faithful ownership of reliable service to a childless landholder who had no heirs. Here and there this man and his sons with their teams worked the timberline - the big woods in the winter and gained dollars while the wife and smaller children stayed at home and cared for the stock. This was true of the DEYO family who moved from the pasture land of the Alder Bend to the Treadwell Farm on St. Armand's Bay in Beekmantown.

Observe the spelling of French names in church records as compared with the listings in Civil Records at the Clerk's or Surrogates. Could it be theorized that the civilian employee or the school teacher of English, Scotch or Yankee background could not handle the phonetic French and wrote as best they could the Settlement north from the Hudson River did not always follow the waterway. The west shore presented an obstacle course of five mountain ranges rising from the shore in high unsurmountable bluffs or cliffs. By contrast, the east shore offerred the security of inhabitants and of lands previously partially developed by settlers, who because of their allegance to England, the Mother Country, had been 'run off' as Loyalists and their lands confiscated and offered for resale. Very often one of this family were raised and grew up in this Vermont, which had made its Declaration of Independence in 1777. As the family grew, sons listened to the glories of broad lands in the west, the Islands of the Lake became advantageous 'stepping stones' in their migration. Addie L. Shields odd sounding name - yet garbeled it? Could it be that lacking communication, the name was accepted by the migrant very quietly as garbeled, the error unrecognized and not refuted. Have an eye to the chronological years of name changes and note how the priest would bring a Yankefied or garbeled spelling back to the pure French as Forkey-Fortier, Gokee/Gokey-Gauthier, Pelkey-Pelletier. Interspersed among the names of settlers as Martin Aldrich, Esek Angel or Shubel Burdick, in the record book of his ashery in 1818, George Lesley of Chazy also often wrote French boy, 2 French boys, Frenchman or Frenchmen perhaps because of the inability to handle the French names.

Were these migrants disadvantaged when they crossed the line to work bringing very little worldly goods, but their courage, their stamina, their skills underwritten with their religion? Was their language a disavantage to them in that they were not bilingual and could not communicate? Often being looked down on and called the dumb and dirty French. After all if there is no money to buy soap one does the best he can to survive in the Northern N.Y. wilderness. If a person cannot not read or write does not mean he is not smart. For the Frenchmen of that day had remarkable skills most not known in todays labor force. Did peer pressure exist on the job as time went on and a man aged working from sun up to sun down and attempting to keep stride with the younger men who appeared to try their lot on the jobs in this area? Were their children disadvantaged in the school? How was it handled at the time? Could the settlers speak their names correctly? Was this worker's worry augmented as his family life remained same the increased, his status in seemingly having multiplied at the family store. indebtedness Most certainly the children were caught in the cross fire of culture being punished if they spoke English at home and on the other hand being punished if they spoke French in school. As the resources of the area plus the system may not have responded to the goals of the worker; did the increasing indebtedness become overpowering? There were socal classes! Were there Prejudices? Were these families in a sub-culture? How were social disappointments handled at the time? With the advent of Civil War, First World War and the Second World War and the

Myra Magoon White with chapter 1 by Dr.John Harrold Chapter 1 ---Ellenburg in Four Counties

Many pages of history could be written relating to the area that is now known as the town of Ellenburg in Clinton County, New York. Between 1683 to the present time, the area now known as the town of Ellenburg has been a part of four different counties and a part of three different towns in Clinton County before be designated as the town of Ellenburg.

Before the white man came to America, the area now known as the town of Ellenburg had been the Indians' summer hunting grounds. France claimed the area after the Frenchman Samuel de Champlain, accompanied by a Huron Indian war party from the St.Lawrence into the Champlain Valley in 1609. Valley, came England also claimed the area as part of the Province of New

In 1683, the Province of New York was divided for administrative purposes into ten counties, one of them being Albany County. The boundaries of Albany County were not definite but this new county included all of the area from Ulster County on the south northward to Canada on the north and from the Connecticut River on the east to the uncertain western boundary of the Province of New York. Thus, the area of the town of Ellenburg was once a part of Albany County.

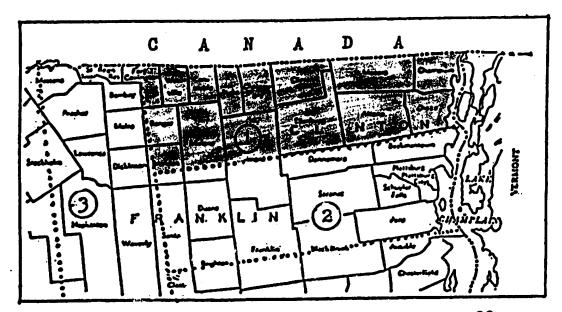

By the end of the French and Indian War in 1759, the French armed forces and most of the French settlers had been forced out of the area that was to become Clinton County.

In 1772, the northeastern part of Albany County was formed into a new county named Charlotte County. In 1784, Charlotte County was renamed Washington County. Thus the area now known as the town of Ellenburg was a part of Charlotte County and later Washington Co.

In 1788 the northwestern part of Washington County was set off to form a new county named Clinton County and Clinton County was divided into four towns, on of them being the town of Champlain. At that time the town of Champlain included the areas that are now known as the towns of Champlain, Chazy, Altona, Mooers, Clinton, and Ellenburg in Clinton County, as well as all or part of the

the towns of Chateaugay, Bellmont, Burke, Malone, Constable, Westville, Fort Covington, Bangor and Brandon in what is now Franklin County. Thus what is now the town of Ellenburg was once a part of the town of Champlain. (See the map below.)

Towns in Northeastern New York State in 1788

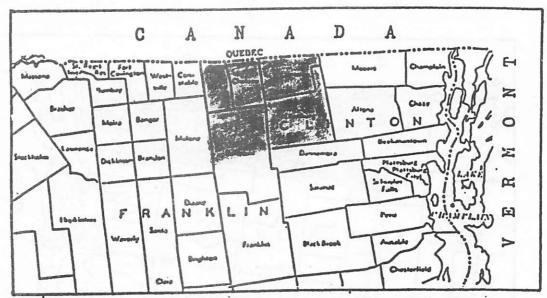

The above map indicates by dotted lines (.....) the boundaries of three of the original towns established in the northeastern corner of New York State by an act of the New York State Legislature on March 7,1788. These boundaries have been superinposed on a map showing by name the present-day towns and counties in the area. The three original towns have been designated by the numbers 1, 2 and 3 in circles as follows:

- 1 Town of Champlain in what was Clinton County in 1788(color blue)
- 2 Town of Plattsburgh in what was Clinton County in 1788.
- 3 Town of Caughnawaga in what was Montgomery County in 1788.

By Chapter 35 of the Laws of 1799, Townships 5, 6, 7 and 8 of the Old Military Tract were set off from the original towns of Champlain and Plattsburgh in Clinton County to form a new town in Clinton County designated as the town of Chateauga. This new town, latter known as Chateaugay, was composed of the towns now known as Clinton, Ellenburg, Chateaugay, Burke and the northern part of the town of Bellmont. Thus, in 1799, the area now known as the town of Ellenburg in Four Counties --- Dr. John Harrold.

Ellenburg was part of the town of Chateauga in Clinton County. (See map below.)

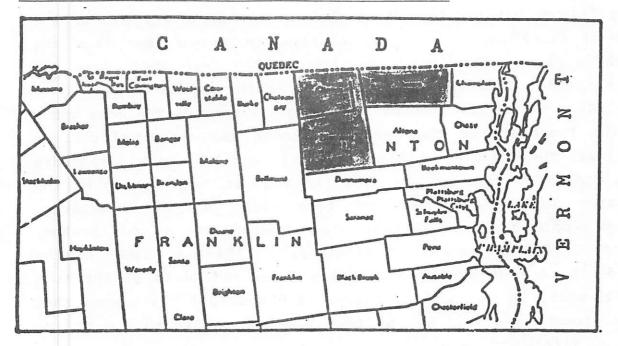

Town of Chateauga on March 15; 1799

On April 3,1801, the western boundry of Clinton County was moved further westward so as to include in Clinton County what is now part of St.Lawrence County. Eleven months later, on March 3, 1802, st.Lawrence County was established as a new county and the area placed in Clinton County on April 3,1801 became a part of St.Lawrence County.

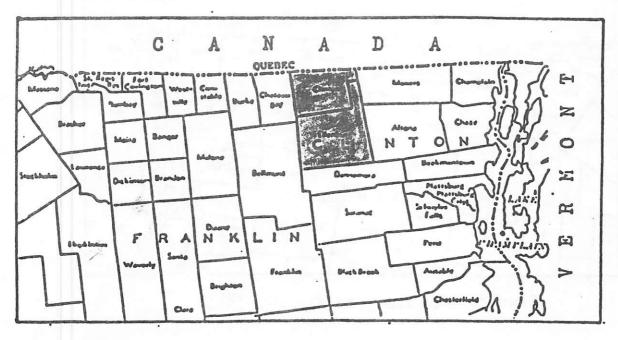

On March 11,1808, Franklin County was formed from the western part of Clinton County. The town of Chateauga formed in 1788, was split in half. The western half, composed of Townships 7 and 8 of the Old Military Tract, was formed into the town of Chateaugay in Franklin County. Townships 5 and 6 on the east were made a part of the town of Mooers, which had been established from the west end of the town of Champlain on March 20,1804. Thus, from 1808 to 1830, what is now the town of Ellenburg was a part of the town of Mooers, (See map next page.)

Before 1830,a large number of settlers had established homes in the western part of the town of Mooers. Many settlers had located along the Old Military Road and along the North Branch of the Chazy River. By 1830, enough people had settled in the western end of the town of Mooers to justify the formation of a new town in that area.

Town of Mooers on March 11, 1808

In 1830, the town of Ellenburg, which then included the area that is now the town of Clinton, was established from a part of the town of Mooers. The part that was taken from Mooers to form the town of Ellenburg was composed to Townships 5 and 6 of the Old Military Tract, the same townships that had been transferred from the town of Chateauga in Clinton County to the town of Mooers in 1808. (See the map below for the area included in the town of Ellenburg when it was formed in 1830.)

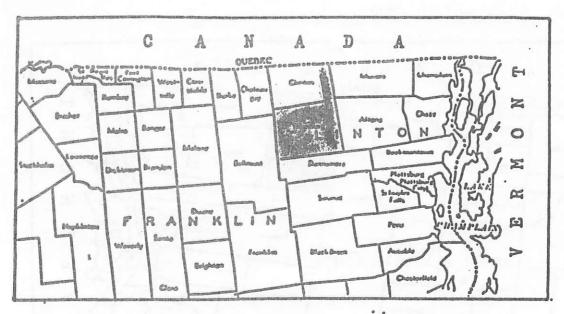

Town of Ellenburg on April 17, 1830

Ellenburg in Four Counties----Dr.John Harrold.

By 1845, enough people had settled in the northern part of the town of Ellenburg to justify establishing a new town from the northern part of Ellenburg. Settlements had been made along the western end of the Old Military Turnpike in the first quarter of the 1800's before the town of Ellenburg was formed. The area known as the Frontiers on the Canadian border had attracted various families. The Canadian rebellion of 1836 and 1837 caused settlers from Canada to come to the area. An inn had been set up on the Military Turnpike. Stores had been built at the Frontiers. A few people had settled near where Churubusco is now located. A post office had opened in Frontiers in 1842. A number of the residents of that area had served as town officials of the town of Ellenburg in the period between 1830 and 1845. It seemed that a new town was justified for that area at the north end of the town of Ellenburg.

In 1845, the New York State Leglislature established the town of Clinton from the northern part of the town of Ellenburg. Thus, 18 1845, the town of Ellenburg became the town in Clinton County that it is at the present time. The map below shows the location and shape of the town of Ellenburg in Clinton County on May 14, 1845.

Ellenburg in Four Counties----Dr.John Harrold.

Early Exploration

Only a comparatively few persons had settled in the northeastern part of the Province of New York prior to the Revolutionary War. Some information was known about the area. The Indians had used the area as a summer hunting ground. Samuel de Champlain had led a party of soldiers into the Champlain Valley area in 1609. French explorers had traveled westward along the St.Lawrence River. The English had sent expeditions up from the Albany area during the French and Indian War. A few settlers had established homes along the shores of Lake Champlain and the streams that emptied into the lake.

All of these penetrations in northeastern New York were mostly along the waterways in the area, and little was known about the areas some distance away from the waterways except that there was much unclaimed land, many waterways and good lumber available for taking.

Effects of the Revolutionary War

The Revolutionary War brought a marked change to the interior areas of northeastern New York. During the war years many persons, both from Canada on the north and from the colonies on the south, were brought into the area to do battle. Thus, many people learned about the area and some of them returned to settle in the area after the war ended.

A more influential factor brought on by the war which led to the settlement of northeastern New York was that neither the new State of New York nor the new United States of America had much money to carry on the war. Soldiers had to be paid for their services. Merchants had to be paid for supplies and equipment. Financiers expected to be repaid for moneys loaned to carry on the war. Citizens asked for reimbursement for properties lost or distroyed by the war.

One assert available to both the state and the federal government was the many hundreds of acres of unsettled and unclaimed land. Before the Revolution, the Province of New York had given or sold at a very low cost tracts, patents and grants of land to individuals in payment of financial debts as well as patronage debts. This practice provided a way to settle many claims due to the Revolutionary War. Both New York State and the United States passed laws which provided that the soldiers would be given a specified number of acres of land depending on their rank and years of service during the war.

The Canadian and Nova Scotia Refugee Tract

On September 10,1787, the State of New York set apart the Canadian and Nova Scotia Refugee Tract of land to be given in small parcels to refugees from Canada and Nova Scotia who had taken part in the war on the side of the United States. This sprawling irregular tract constitutes parts of the present day towns of Champlain, Chazy, Mooers, Altona, Dannemora, Plattsburgh, Schuyler Falls and Saranac. The tract was subdivided into lots of various sizes and given to qualified refugrees.

Some of the parcels were settled by refugees. But many of the parcels were sold by refugees for whatever could be obtained in order that the refugees could buy the necessities of life, they having abandoned all property in Canada and fled for their lives to safety in the United States. Parcels not given to refugees were sold to other settlers in the area.

No part of the Canadian and Nova Scotia Refugee Tract is in what is now the town of Ellenburg, but the settlement in that tract brought people into the center of the county and adjacent to the area that is now the town of Ellenburg. This made prospective settlers aware of the available lands to the west and many settlers who were first attracted to the Canadian and Nova Scotia Refugree Tract later migrated to settle in the town of Ellenburg.

The Old Military Tract

On March 20,1781, the New York State Legislature passed a law by which soldiers who had served in the Revolutionary War would be granted a specified number of acres of land for their service to the state and nation. A large tract of unsettled land in the central part of the state was laid out and divided into military townships. However, the Indian title to this land had not been cleared. By 1784, many disputes arose over the title to various sections in this military tract.

Ellenburg in Four Counties----Dr.John Harrold.

To settle the problem of land titles it was decided to lay out another tract of land in northern New York where the Indian titles to the land had been extinguished. In 1786, an area in northern New York State was laid out and designated as the Old Military Tract. This tract was composed of twelve military townships, numbered 1 ti 12. Townships 3,4,5 and 6 form the western side of what is now Clinton County. The north end of Township 5 and the south end of Township 6 form what is now known as the town of Ellenburg.

While the Old Military Tract was originally intended to be patented to various military claimants, it appears that few of the qualified military personnel were interested in claiming their rights to land in this area. Available parcels of land in central New York and in Ohio were more attractive and thought to be more valuable. Thus, the lots in the twelve townships in the Old Military Tract were finally sold by the state land commissioners to any interested buyers like other state owned lands were sold.

Other information on Land Tracts.

From the Geography & History of Clinton Co.N.Y. by H.K.Averill Jr.

The Livingston Tract was patent in 1800, sold to Elkanah Watson in 1804 shown of map as the Watson Tract. Donald Campbell obtained a Patent for 5,000 in 1805 now known as Tharp's Tract. Smith & Graves Patent lies along the northern boundary of the county, originally claimed by James Dean and was called Moorefield after Pliny Moore. the first settler, and one of the proprietors. It subsequently, on 5 Nov 1785, was granted to Mark Graves & Levi Smith and took name of Smith & Graves Patent. Plattsburgh Old Patent is a tract of land lying South of and adjoining Beekman's Patent, lying along the shore of Lake Champlain to Frizwell's and Newcomb Patents, and West to Platt's Little Location, its northeast corner being one mile from the lake. It was granted to Zephaniah Platt, 26 Oct 1784, for himself and 32 associates. About the same time he procured a Patent for Cumberland Head, for himself and 2 associates. On the 28th of Feb.1787, Patents were granted to Zephaniah Platt for the "Little Location" of 6,000 acres. The "Great Location" of 17,983 acres, Point Au Roche Patent, of 6,105 acres, the 12,000 Acre Location, the "Newcomb Patent, "of 4,170 acres, the 600 Acre Location, the 1,665 Acre Location, and for the Ausable "River Location," of 1,400 acres. Several minor locations were made by other parties. When these tracts were surveyed it was found that there were still pieces left unsold and unsurveyed. These were subsequently surveyed (See map page 15) and are called Gores.

GETTING STARTED IN FRENCH-CANADIAN GENEALOGICAL RESEARCH

Virginia Easley DeMarce # 0044

The purpose of this article is not to duplicate materials already in print elsewhere. As I write, I will refer to these. Rather, this article is for the purpose of directing beginners in the United States—those people who have just discovered that a line of the family is going to take off in the direction of Quebec Province, and are wondering how to follow it. What is more, I am going to presume that the researcher has already done all the normal procedures such as searching family papers, interviewing relatives, investigating the local courthouse, etc.

The first thing to do is to read the following article: Roland J.Auger, "Genealogy in the Province of Quebec", National Genealogical Society Quarterly, volume 67, no.1, March 1979, pages 34-41. This is a good, short, English language overview. The second thing to read is Joseph Carvalho III, "French Canadian Genealogical Research: A Closer Look at the Available Printed published in this journal, volume 2, no. 2, fall 1985, pages 69-77. Like most introductions, however, Auger does presume that you have already traced your family into Quebec, and are beginning the work from there. Carvalho has more references specifically for the U.S. descendants of French-Canadian immigrants, but leaves us faced with the fact that publication in this field is really only beginning. For the majority of genealogists who begin their work on the U.S.side of the border, tracing the family in Quebec (after overcoming a few handicaps such as a foreign language, which will be discussed below) is the easy part. The hard part is getting into Canada at all.

Section I. "The family was named WHAT?"

A lot of French-Canadians who came to the U.S. anglicized their names. Some did it by simple translation (Couturier= Taylor). Others did it by taking an English name with a more or less parallel sound (Morais=Murray). Even more of them tried to maintain the sound of the French name by simply transliterating it into English phonetics, with some interesting results. When I started to work on the Demo family of Pepin Co., Wis., the "experts" told me I should look for "Dumont" in the Canadian records. I did, for years, with no results at all. Eventually, one day, when contemplating that Guignard could turn into Dinyard and Guillet could turn into Diette, I decided to hunt for "Guimond" rather than "Dumont" as the origan of Demo. I found them in less than six weeks. It frequently does not hurt to spend some time just paging through a compilation as the Drouin index and learning what original names are available for French-Canadian families.

Learn some French phonetics and be willing to use your imagination. If the family is named "Cooper" in the U.S., look up the word in a French dictionary and try the possibilities. Don't presume that all U.S. phonetics go back to the same French name. I have seen "Bashaw" for Bachand--and "Bashaw" for Bastien--and "Bashaw" for Bergeron. Before you can make any further progress, the one thing you have to do is at least define a range of POSSIBILITIES as to what the family name might have actually been. For the Papaloose family, there was a range that included Papillon on out. It finally resolved into Douge dit Populus, which brings us to the next point.

Section II. Breaking All the Rules.

"Philip, if you are going to sin, at least sin with gusto."
(Martin Luther to Philip Melanchthon, on the subject of scruples.)

The first absolute rule that we are taught in American genealogical methodology is that we must always work backwards, and always work from the known to the unknown. If I had followed this rule, most of my husbands's lineage would still be untraced! The reason for this is the existence in French-Canadian research of the "dit"names, and I will give you a case study. In Pepin County, Wisconsin, descendants of my husband's "Grandma Til", who was actually his great—grandmother Matilda (LePean) DeMarce, thought they remembered very well who her grandparents who came to the U.S. from Canada were. Her paternal grandparents were Joseph LaPean and Nora Belill. Her maternal grandparents were Joseph Bolia and Flavious Hantz [sic].

This is very nice, except that of those four names, three are mildly (but obviously) anglicized "dits" and one is grossly misspelled. In the U.S., town clerks, census takers, justices of the peace, recorders of deeds, and any other Yankee individual who was keeping an official record worked on one basic presumption—what—ever came last was the family name. This has resulted in almost all of the French-Canadian enclaves losing the genuine family name and having it replaced by the "dit" name that followed it.

Luckily, as far as Canada is concerned, there are extensive list of the "dit" and the variants. There is one published by Tanguay as an appendix in his basic history, and Rene Jette has one, up to the year 1730, in his new Dictionnaire. The Drouin reference work gives "dit" names and variants in the next column to the actual family name.

What is more, in Quebec Province the genealogist is faced with a situation where for the early generations from the settlement to 1760, almost all of the spade work has been done. The immigrants and their immediate descendants have been researched, indexed, and published to a degree that exists, as far as I know, for no other place on the map of the world. The only possible equivalent is the Mayflower descendants, and that has been done only for one ship coming to New-England--not for all arrivals, the way it has been done in Quebec.

So I proceeded to sin mightily. I traced from the immigrant ancestor, through Tanguay and Drouin to 1760 and then through the printed parish marriage repertoires and through the Loiselle and Rivest indexes, ALL SEVEN of the French-Canadian families that used Lepine as a "dit" on the pragmatic assumption that, at the very least, LaPean had to be LePine. Eventually, I found them: Joseph LaPean and Nora Belill were sitting in the Berthier index, right where they should be, as Joseph Bernard dit LePine and Honoree Germain dit Belisle. However, if I had not traced all the "dit" names, I would never have done it, for I would never have searched the correct parts of the alphabet. Of course, I was left with a lot of not immediately applicable material on other families such as Lalime and Chevaudier, but I left it in the files on the possibility that I might some day meet someone who needed it.

The same procedures worked for the Bolia side of the family. I traced every family with a "Beaulieu" dit from the immigrant DOWN TO the generation that wood have had to come to the U.S. It was complicated by the fact that the priest misspelled Hudon dit Beaulieu as Dehudon in the crucial marriage, but eventually, it did turn up. Flavious Hantz turned out to be Felicite Henne-- her father was a German named Hoehn. This was the one family in which the downward procedure did not work, for after I had traced Hains, Han dit Chausse, and all the other apparent possibilities, I determined that her father came to Canada as a mercenary for the British during the American Revolution, and therefore appeared in none of the standard pre-1760 reference works. Again, however, I maintained all of the gathered material in my files on the possibility that it might someday help someone else.

It was clear that the DeMarce lineage would be Demers. Here the problem to resolve was that Joseph DeMarce/Demers married Eliza Kelley in 1885 at Immaculate Conception (St.Mary's) in St.Albans, Vermont, where the priest did not bother to record the names of his parents. Looking for a Joseph Demers, even though I had traced all lines from the original three immigrants to Quebec down to his baptism in 1835, was like looking for a needle in a haystack.

Subsection III. If the only route to where you are going is all around Robin Hood's barn, than take that road.

The next thing to do is to hope that your ancestors lived in a town that had a local paper, and that the local paper had a local news colum, AND that back files of the paper are still in existence. The DeMarce lineage was solved, ultimately, by two short items in the (Durand, Wis.) Pepin County Courier. On Nov.27,1903, p.4, col.3, "Mr. Joseph DeMarce starts Monday for S.D. to visit his brother that he has not seen for some 40 years." On Jan. 15,1904, vol.27 no.3, p.8, col.1, "Joseph DeMarce returned Thursday from S.Dak. where he visited a brother he had not seen for forty years."

So what? So in the 1900 census of South Dakota, there were only two men named DeMarce or Demers--that's what. I ordered both of their death certificates. One gave the names of both parents, whose marriage was in the downward linage that I had traced. From there, I read the parish registers and determined that because of the dates of baptism of their other children, there was no room for Joseph in their family. The death certificate of the other man was for Salem Demarce, father Leon and mother unknown. Luckily, in French Canada, looking for a "Leon" anyone with a son "Solime" is not looking for a Joseph. It became clear, very shortly, that the Leon Demers and Elizabeth Morais who were in the downward genealogy at St-Athanase-d'Iberville had a son "Solime" baptised at the proper date for the Salem Demarce of South Dakota, and room in their family for our Joseph. With a little hunting, we found his baptism across the river at St-Jean-d'Iberville and could take the lineage from there.

The most obvious problem with this procedure is that it is very time-consuming. There is no way to deny that. However, if it is a choice of tracking a problem in a way that will take three or four years of one's spare time, or never solving it at all, I prefer the prior methodology. If Quebec only had one family that used a particular "dit", you will be lucky. Unfortunately, most of the popular "dit" names were used by several families, so to use this procedure, one has to track them all down to the generation of the emigrants to the U.S.

Subsection IV. "But I don't speak French."

For most genealogical research in French Canada, at least for the 19th and later 18th centuries, to take you back to the Tanguay and Drouin indexes, you will not really need to know French as a language. You will need to pick up a certain basic amount of French vocabulary—the names for various family members and relationships. You will need to learn the dating system, since the priest frequently wrote out the date rather than using numerals. Beyond this, however, the entries in the church registers are highly formalized:

Let's look at the following baptismal record from St-Joseph-de-Chambly:

le vingt-deux fevrier mil sept cent quatre vingt onze par nous soussigne cure de Chambly a ete baptisee marie josette nee le jour precedent du legitime mariage de Chretien aoen et monique celle dte sanquartir a ete parain Simon Bertrand et marraine marie josette dassilva son epouse qui ont declare ne savoir signer.

Mennard cure

This presents you simultaneously with the basic formula, and all the possible problems you are likely to encounter. Resign yourself to the fact that most priests had a highly individual approach to capital letters, if they used them at all. Take a look at a basic handwriting manual for the era, and then get going.

We start with the date: 22 February WHAT?? There is no such year as one thousand seven hundred four twenty eleven. I mean it-learn the French numbers. That's 1791, to be sure. Quatre vingt is "eighty" and they don't have a "ninety", but keep going from eighty-one to eighty-nineteen.

"Par nous soussigne cure de Chambly" is the priest using an ecclesiastical equivalent of the royal "we". This appears in almost all of the records, followed by the name of the parish. If a parish name appears here that differs from the parish register you are reading, there is probably a guest priest. This could occur for a variety of reasons, usally when the resident priest was ill.

"A ete baptisse" (feminine ending for a girl) followed by the name of the child, followed by the date of birth, sometimes given as a date, sometimes as "yesterday, last evening, this morning," etc. If baptism was delayed, this may be "agee" followed by the number of years or months a child has attained.

"Du legitime mariage" is usally a very good clue that the parents were properly married in a Catholic ceremony and the priest knew it. This means that you can go hunting for it in the indexes and marriage repertoires. But don't take it as a guarantee! I know of at least one case where a child was baptized at Chambly in 1794 as "du legitime mariage" , but the parents came to St-Mathias across the river in 1800 and had rehabilitated a civil marriage that had taken place on Lake Champlain in 1790. At Berthier, there is at least one case where a boy was baptized "du legitime mariage" of his parents by one of the team of priest who were administering the parish, while six months later the other priest rehabilitated their marriage and legitimated the same child. I think the ultimate that I have seen personally is in the register of St-Valentin, where a couple from Vermont, who over the years had come up and had the priest at Lacadie and St-Luc baptize three children "du legitime mariage," eventually decided to have a Catholic ceremony, at which time the St-Valentin priest baptized and legitimated EIGHT more of their offspring. This will also be true of the U.S. Catholic records of the Lake Champlain area. The Louis Lajeunesse and Clothilde Dignard/Guignard who are married in 1853 [sic] at St.Peters,Plattsburgh, are having legitimate children baptized as early as 1835 by priest in Burlington,Vermont.

The next item is the names of the parents and the names of the godparents, sometimes with identification of their relationship to each other or to the child. In the 18th and 19th centuries, French was spelled just as phonetically as English, and just as adventurously. Chretien Aoen, here, is Father Mennard's assault on the German soldier Christian Hoehn/Henne, mentioned above. His wife, here spelled Celle, is the child of a man who himself spelled the name "Sel".

Marriage and death records are usally as standardized as the above baptismal formula. Learn the formula, and the process of reading the registers is no more complicated than a "fill in the blanks" exam in school. What is more, when you recognize the formula, you will come to recogize when an entry varies significantly from the formula. In that case, just copy everything, word for word, and have someone who really knows French translate it for you. Variations from the standard formula frequently indicate a genealogical gold mine.

Subsection V. "But Where do I get the records?

Mr.Carvalho's article, mentioned above, refers to a number of library collections of French-Canadian materials available in the Lake Champlain and New England area. Outside of New England, with its French-Canadian/American genealogical societies and libraries, the largest collections of which I am aware in the United States are at the Library of Congress in Washington, D.C., at the Fort Wayne County Public Library in Indiana, at the Detroit Public Library, and at the Genealogical Library of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in Salt Lake City, Utah.

The Library of Congress collection is Almost entirely of printed source material. Aside from the volumes published by the Department of Demography at the University of Montreal, under the direction of Hubert Charbonneau (which, unfortunately, they decided they could not afford to purchase), it comes very close to being complete. It is accompanied by a large collection on Canadian local history. There is a specialist reference librarian in the Local History and Genealogy Room who works almost entirely with acquestion of Canadian material. The collection is not confined to Quebec, but also includes the Maritimes, Ontario, and the western provinces as well. Joy Reisinger's journal LOST IN CANADA published an inventory of L.C. material in volumes I and II, 1975 and 1976. For some of her earlier volumes, she still has back issues available (address 1020 Central Ave. Sparta, WI 54656).

To the best of my knowledge, the Detroit and Indianapolis collections have to be used on site. Their purchase, of course, was inspired the 18th century French-Canadian settlement in the Michigan and Northwest Territory areas.

For most U.S. researchers, therefore, the most accessible collection will be that in Salt Lake City by means of the various branch libraries sponsored by (and usally located in) Mormon churches. Most of these branch libraries are quite small facilities. In the way of books on the shelf, they will have little, if anything, on French Canadian genealogy. Most, however, will have U.S. printed census indexes and other items of immense help in searching for the families on this side of the border.

Beyond the books on the shelves, they do have available, on microfilm and microfiche, catalogs of all material at the main library in Salt Lake City. Of that material, everything (except a very few restricted items) that is on microfilm, which includes almost all of the parish registers of Quebec Province, may be borrowed on interlibrary loan, through the LDS branch libraries only. They also have available on microfilm Father Loiselle's index of Quebec marriages and Father Rivest's index of brides. Each of these covers some parishes omitted by the other.

For the Lake Champlain region, they hold microfilms of almost all pre-1800 Vital Statistics for the Towns of Vermont, pre-1870 land records for Vermont, pre-1880 land records for Clinton Co., etc. In addition to the microfilms of church, land, and vital statistic records, Salt Lake City, whenever given permission, films the books purched by the library and makes them available in this way. If the catalog indicates for a book not only a call number, but also a reel number, this means that the book has been filmed and may be borrowed. The fees are normally quite modest, between $2.50 and $3.25 per reel. The film does have to be read on the premises.

GETTING STARTED F-C GEN.RESEARCH---Virginia E.DeMarce.

The LDS branch libraries, in addition to the above, will also have on microfiche their IGI, or International Genealogical Index. This is not comprehensive, of course, but it does have millions of index entries to genealogical material that has been filed with the Mormon church. Pamphlets explaining use are available. For me, the greatest use of this has been to identify the names of researchers who filed informations on families I was hunting, so that we might get in touch and exchange. On occasion, however, the entries themselves are very helpful—for one thing, some kind person has entered into the IGI a very large portion of the pre-1800 Vermont Vital Statistics indexes in the card files at Montpelier. It should go without saying that for descendants of families from the Lake Champlain regions, this is a big help.

Most states have two or three branch libraries. They are not always close to an individual researcher, but they are usually much closer than the other major collections.

Section VI. There Is Nothing Like a Friend

For the beginning researcher in this area, above all, I would recommend joining a couple of societies, publishing queries in a couple of journals, and making contact, if at all possible, with someone else who is searching the family name. One advantage in doing this is a problem, because it makes looking for a Joseph Tremblay equivalent to searching for a John Smith. However—all those Tremblays trace back to just a few original descendents, there are other genealogist, one of whom may already have solved your problem.

A SIMPLIFIED METHOD OF NUMBERING PEDIGREE SHEETS

AND FAMILY GROUP SHEETS
BY

Henri E.Carrier (President) of French-Canadian Genealogical Society of Connecticut

- 1) Number the first pedigree sheet number #1. At the end of this sheet you will have sixteen names. Number #2 thru #17.
- 2) Now on the sixteen sheets numbered #2 thru #17 you will again have sixteen names at the end of each sheet. Simply by adding a letter to each number, you will proceed as follows. (Do not use the letter I or O.

example: Page 2 the sixteen entries are numbered 2A thru 17A.

Continue as shown.

Pg.3,	3B - 18B	Pg.7, 7F - 22F
	4C - 19C	Pg.8, 8G - 23G
	5D - 20D	Pg.9, 9H - 24H
	6E - 21E	Pg.10,10J -25J

And continue through pg.17, 17R - 32R

3)You should now have twelve generation done. To continue the sheets marked with a number and letter simply add the number 1. Page 2A now has sixteen entries numbered 2Al through 2Al6 the last entry of page 2A is 17Al through 17Al6. The same principal applies to all the other entries.

example: Page 9H the sixteen entries are 9Hl - 9Hl7 on Page 24H the entries will be from 24Hl - 24Hl6.

4) Now you should have 16 generations done, 1 - 2 - 2A - 2Al (Paternal family). and the same amount for the branch lines. This will put you at approximately the sixteenth century. You will be able to carry on very few lines from this point. So I will suggest that you continue my adding a letter M which will denote that you are proceeding into Mediaval Genealogy which is the period from the fall of the Roman Empire to the period known as the Reviva; of Letters or Renaissance, 476 - 1400 A.D. The Renaissance 1400 - 1600 has been ignored here for purposes of keeping alphabetical and numerical. Consequently if you are able to go on from your fourth page simply add -M & that sheet could be continued by adding -Ml etc.

example: pg.1, followed by 2, 2A, 2Al, 2Al-Ml, 2Al-M2,etc.

NOTE: For those who feel it is neccessary, you could add a page 2Al-1 before you begin with the letter M. 2A1-1M1 would Tn other words follow 2Al-1. 5) Maintaining two Genealogical Records is adisable, one Paternal and one Maternal. My family group sheets are filed alphabetically by name and date of Marriage. The only exception being that in my Paternal Book the Carrier Family Sheets are the first, all others are filed alphabetically by date of Marriage. The same is true of my Maternal Book, whose first sheets are the Demers, mymother's name. All others are Alphabetically and where there are similar names the date of Marriage comes first. All Family Group Sheets show the number of the Pedigree Sheet or Sheets that they appear on.

This system is simple and effective, it can be carried on indefinitely simply by adding a letter or a number.

Editors Note: This is Henri Carrier's talk that he presented at our October 1984 meeting, Henri talked about the regular system used by most and that it breaks down after a time. This keeps the system simple. Read: 'THE NEW YORKER' Mar 13,1985 starting on page 51 "A REPORTER AT LARGE The Mountain of Names", by Reporter Alex Shoumatoff. Discusses the many aspects of intermarrying between families and shows the very fact that when one arrivies into the Mediaval Era the problems one encounters.

Thank You Henri.

Unlike many who were born in Northern New York, I am sorry that I cannot claim Canadian forebearers. Our common heritage is French. Mine came from Protestant Huguenots who escaped from France to avoid persecution for their religious beliefs. The loss of countless thousands of Huguenots contributed to the political isolation and economic decline of their native country and of New France.

In France

The DuBois family owned property at Wicres near Lille and Armentiers in French Flanders. Pierre DuBois, an army officer, married Françoise Olivier de Nevville. Their children were Jean b.1590, Louis b.1593 (became a Lieutenant-General), François b.1595 was called Frose, Chrétian (1597-1629) married Cornelia who married second his brother Jean, Jacques b.1600 and Xavier b 1602. Some remained Catholic but at least Jean amd Chrétian became Huguenots.

In America

Chrétian and Cornelia left four children. The eldest, Françoise, b.1622 married April 3,1649 Pierre Billiou in Leyden. They became in 1661 early settlers on Staten Island, N.Y. Their house is now the oldest on the island. Its inhabitants elected him as a double magistrate on August 25,1672 as bouth Shout and Schepen. Their descendants flourish. Mrs Billiou's sister, Anne, was b.in 1624 and brother, Louis, in 1626. The Jacques b.1628 was my progenitor.

The little city of New Paltz in Ulster County, N.Y. was founded by twelve Huguenots. For many years its official language was French. The strong Huguenot Historical Society of New Paltz and the family associations of the original settlers have been outstanding in research, preservation and restoration. In 1692 the Patentees started to replace their first log cabins with substantial stone houses that now constitute the oldest street in the United States with its original houses. The hewed beams of the living room are exceptionally long. A person can stand in the fireplaces. The DuBois Family Association's many volumes on genealogy have hard facts on 50,000 descendants of Chrétian DuBois' children who came to the new world. When letters and numbers are used in the following they conform to those used by the association and not in the first of the family books printed over a century ago.

- Jacques, younger son of Chrétian & Cornelia DuBois, bp August 27,1628 at Lille, the parish church of Wicres, married 25,1663 at the Wallcon Church of Leyden, Netherlands, Pierronne Bentyn of that city. She married 2nd John L. Pietersy, Jacques having died in 1677 at Esopus, New Kingston, N.Y. after being in this country only two years. His elder brother, Louis, known as the Walloon, had emigrated fifteen years earlier to become the strong man of the area. Jacques'eight children were all born in Leyden. He was a manufacturer of laces, grosgrains, and other cloths. Weeks before his sudden death he, with a partner purchased a distillery for 500 schepels of wheat. Grain & beaver pelts were common mediums of exchange. His wife inherited the proceeds of the sale of the Leyden house property in
- Pierre, b. Leyden March 18,1674, died Fishkill, Dutchess County, N.Y. on January 21 1738 having married at Esopus October 12,1692 Jannetje (1676-1732) daughter of Jan Burhans and Helena Traphagem with issue twelve. A postulation is that Pierre did not get along well with his step-father and set out on his own when fourteen. He is apt to have been the heretofore unidentified Peche DeWall who in 1688 was the first white man to spend time in southern Dutchess County, N.Y. The name translates to mean a walleen who fishes. Wallcon was a common name for a Huguenot. It is a matter of record that Pierre had a life lease at Beacon from Catharynd Rombout Brett for the island and more acreage abutting the Hudson at the mouth of Wappinger's Creek. In 1713 the most southern great lot of the Rombout Patent of mortgaged. The 80 acres under life lease to Pierre were excepted. The exception is explained in Dutchess County deeds Liber XIII 1707 he moved his family to Fishkill, The former capital of the Wappinger River Indians. There he became prosperous farmer, a Justice of the Peace, a member by 1715 of Barent van Kleeck's troops and a founder of the Reformed Church of Poughkeepsie and Fishkill.

THE DuBOIS ANCESTRY---Mary Burnham Oliver.

C-118. Johnathan DuBois, the fifth child of Pierre, was bp.at Kingston,NY September 3,1704 married August 16,1732 Ariaatje (1712-1776) daughter of Pieter Jans Oosterhougt and Heyltjin Schut of Brabant,Ulster County. died Fishkill July 5,1781. His father's will of January 22,1737/8 had fairly divided his property among the nine children then living. Johnathan's lands were on the Sprout near Fishkill. He died esteemed and respected. The first of the eight children follows.

D-382. Petrus Johnathan DuBois, b. Fishkill November 4,1734 died there June 20,1773. Married November 11,1760 Maria (1740-1787) daughter of Koert van Voorhees and Catharina Filkin. Three years later his widow married Dr. Theodorus vanWyck who by his first marriage had sired two Revolutionary generals. Dr. vanWyck, a patriot, was a Commissioner of Sequestration. During the war a room was reserved for the future Chief Justice, John Jay, or for George Washington when he was with the Continental Army at Fishkill. Both celebrities often used the room. Peter Johnathan DuBois had by Maria seven children. By her second marriage she had a son who died young and a daughter who married Peter A. Meiser. The youngest DuBois child follows.

E-1029. Cornelius DuBois b.May 20,1771 at Fishkill died September 8,1846 at the Union Hotel in Saratoga Springs,N.Y. Married April 11,1803 Sarah Platt (1792-1836) daughter of Robert Ogden III and Sarah Platt. Ogden descended from the founder of Elizabethtown,N.Y. Orden's deformed right arm prevented full military service. He was a Quarter-master & Commissary during the war. His brother, Major Aaron Ogden of the Continental Line became Governor of New Jersey. Another brother, General Matthias Ogden was severely wounded on December 31,1775 in an attempt to take Quebec City. On recovery he rejoined the Continentals. Sarah Platt's father Zophar, a close relative of Zephaniah & the other Platts who founded Plattsburgh, N.Y.

Dr.Theodorus vanWyck and his step-son did not get along well. Cornelius left home at fifteen, a year older than had his great-grandfather, Pierre. In New York City after serving an apprentice-ship of six years, he became a merchant. He sold the products of Dutchess County but soon was a wholesale commission agent for many large planters of our south. Attaining wealth he became a trustee of the New York Bank for Saving and a dozen charitable institutions. Mrs DuBois carefully gave a little over $100,000 to the needy. Many of her papers are in the Clements Library of the University of Michigan. The youngest of their nine children follows.

George Washington DuBois, D.D. b. September 26,1822 at 9 Bridge Street, N.Y.C. d. January 29,1910 at Essex, N.Y. married August 16,1848 at Clifton,Ohio by his father-in law, Charles Pettit McIlvaine, D.D. (Pricceton) D.C.L. (Oxford) LL.D. to Maria Coxe McIlvaine (1831-1923). He was the rector of Protestant Episcopal Churches in Ohio, Iowa, Minnesota, New Jersey, Delaware and New York. His considerable inheritance was lost by his generousity and poor investments. Mrs.DuBois' pension #797518 of $30.00 a month was granted for his service as Chaplain, with the rank of Captain of the 11th Ohio Regiment in which he was commissioned on July 10,1861. As an astronomer of note with other scientific interests his lectures were popular. He patented a pen knife that ladies could open without damaging their finger nails. Tiffany manufactured and sold several hundred of the knives. He,a sweet gentle man,wrote some parts of the Dubois, Van Voorhees and Ogden genealogies. He and his wife had eight children. The sixth follows.

G-3239.Henrietta Haines Dubois b.July 7,1861 at Chillicothe, Ohio. Died April 5,1945 at "Highlands", Keeseville, N.Y. married June 15,1892 by her father at St. Huberts, N.Y. to John Bird Burnham (1869-1939) whose honorary D.Sc was granted for his life long work in conservation, the wise use of our natural resources. His papers are in the Special Collections of the University of Wyoming. They had met when Dr. DuBois was rector of Calvary Church in Wilmington, Delaware, who was one of the first summer residents of Keene Valley, N.Y. There he built an observatory, a chapel and also a studio for her. She was a well-known artist. Her paintings were initialed H.H.DuB. A family joke is that she was elected to the National Arts Club in the belief she was her brother, Henry. She assumed the middle name of Heathcote after a favorite ancestor, Col.Caleb Heathcote (1665-1720) one time mayor of New York City. Though almost eight years older than her husband, their marriage was fruitful and loving. Of their five children three reached adulthood. The youngest follows.

H-3625. Koert DuBois Burnham b.March 23,1904 at "Heartsease", Essex, N.Y. married 1.June 24,1923 at Piercefield, N.Y. Mary Ella (1904-1961) daughter of Oliver Arthur Wolcott and Jessie Mary Thomas. Issue only Mary Gorton Burnham who will appear below. married 2.February 26,1940 Edith Myra Palmer of Essex, N.Y. at Elkton, Maryland, married 3. August 22,1944 at Jacksonville, Florida, Florence Elizabeth (Fenner) MacInnes b.1910. By this marriage he acquired three step-children who are deeply loved. As was the family custom Koert and his brother & sister were sent when young to boarding schools. He was sent to Rumsey Hall in 1913, graduated from Kent in 1922 and became a member of the Class of 1926 at Princeton University. After resigning as Superintendent of the Boquet Electric Power Company, now part of New york State Electric Company and then the Union Oil Company. Later he was Superintendent of Mining foe Titanium Alloy Manufacturing Corporation. More suited for individual enterprise, he has worked on many such in several states. His papers on mining are among the Special Collections of the University of Wyoming. He has had published articles on mining, geology, forestry, history and genealogy. Interest has made his join too many societies. He has been President of Northern Minerals, Inc. from 1947 His only issue from his first marriage below. appears

I-3002. Mary Gorton Burnham b.November 27,1924 at Plattsburgh, N.Y. married June 8,1945 at Norfolk, Viginia, Bernard George Oliver, b. 1924. She was then a Yeoman 1st Class in the United States Navy. Issue eight, of whom the elder of two sons was killed as a Marine in Vietnam. She obtained a divorce in 1976 and lives at Essex, N.Y. She has been active in the Girl Scouts for forty years. She is Senior Warden of St.Johns P.E.Church of Essex, one of the two stock holders and an officer of Northern Minerals, Inc. She is a trustee of the Smith House Health Center and a member of the Willsboro School Board. As a skilled book-keeper she works in that field for several individuals and corporations.

AUGUSTINE LEVESQUE

by

Col Cleon E. Hammond # 0287

Private Augustine Levesque was one of the French-Canadians who cast his lot with the American Army, in Col.James Livingston's regiment, probably during the seige of Quebec in December 1775. Although his enlistment is officially documented as January 1776, his reenlistment in Albany the following December seems to support December 1775 as his initial participation.

Born 31 May 1754 in the parish of Riviere-Ouelle, Kamouraska, Quebec....downstream from Quebec about sixty mileshe was the oldest son of Jean-Bte.Levesque and Marie-Marthe Michon, of whom the pioneer ancestor in Canada was Pierre Levesque, married to Marie Caumont of Rouen, Normandy, France c.1648.

The story of Augustin/Augustine Levesque suffers greatly from missing as well as garbled documentation in official records. Like most of his contemporaries, he was illiterate, and the spelling of his name depended upon the skill or whim of the many scribes who wrote down what they heard....further complicated by unfamiliar French sounds and spellings. Thus, it is not surprising that his Pension File is captioned "Levake or Lavoke (Augustus or Augustine): also Levaque, Levague, Le'vesque. Ultimately, confusion was laid to rest, along with his remains, beneath his gravestone in Bolton, Vermont, which states with finality "Augustus Levake, Esq."

Levake's pension application leaves no doubt that he well earned his citizenship by serving in the Continental Army seven years, until honorably discharged at Morristown, New Jersey in December 1782. The drama and details of his long service barely surface from the sparsely documented statements set down by a Vermont scribe whose knowledge of the historical facts seemingly did not inspire him to consider (and perhaps clarify) the sequence of events as the ageing Levake recalled them. Thus, the statement mentions names, ranks, places and events seemingly without regard for sequence that follows military history. Nevertheless, Levake's statement leave no doubt that "he was there":

"On the Second day of April 1818 before me...one of the Assistant Judges of Chittendon County (Vermont) Court, personally appeared Augustus Levaque Aged sixty-five years, resident in Bolton who declares...that he enlisted in Camnosho (Kamouraska) in the province of Lower Canada in the month of January...1776 in a company commanded by Capt. Cambell of the South River in the (said) province, in a Regiment commanded by Col.Dougall retreated with the Army from Quebeck [sic] and continued Service of the United States until the month of December following when he again enlisted in the City of Albany....in the Company commanded by Capt. James Robisheau (of Lower Canada who also retreated with the American Amry from Quebeck) in a Regiment commanded by Col. James Livingston in the New York Line. That he continued to serve in (said) Corps or in the Service of the United States until the month of December....1782 when he was Honorably discharged at Morristown (N.J.). That he was in the Battles of Fort Stanwick and with (i.e.against) Bourguoin and in the Battle of Rhoud Island....the last two Battles he was wounded. And that he is in reduced circumstances and stands in need of his Country for Support. And that he hath no other evidence now in his power of his said Service."

To this statement Levake inscribed his mark, witnessed by Assistant Judge Joel Brownson, who noted (with understatement), "as this name is spelt in different ways, and as the applicant does not write, it is presumed there may be a difficulty in tracing him in the Rolls." The judge added, "I have personally seen and had in my possession a large quantity of the Continental money, which this Mr. Lavoke informed me he recieved for his services, and I have no doubt of the truth of his declaration." Decades later, a grand-daughter recalled a "trunk filled with old papers" that was lost during a move....the sort of statement that tortures genealogists.

Judge Brownson's prediction soon materialized, as a notation on Levake's application testifies: "Nothing like the name of the applicant is to be found in the New York rolls." Unfortunately, the "New York rolls" would not have included Col.Livingston's lst Canadian Regiment, the records of which were in themselves poorly maintained, it was observed. In any case, Livingston's regiment was never part of the New York Line, but rather, an "Extra Continental Regiment", as was Col. Hazen's 2nd Canadian Regiment.

Levake's predicament was finally resolved by the sworn statements of three other French-Canadian Continentals, then living in Clinton Township, New York....Louis Marney Jr., Basile Nadeau, and John Baptiste Vinet.....who testified that he served in Livingston's regiment during the retreat from Quebec, and thereafter until it was "detached from the Brigade" to which they belonged....about 1779 or 1780, and they did not see him any more.

In fact, Livingston's regiment was down to 118 men in October 1780 and was disbanded that December at Verplanks Point, N.Y., most of the men going over to Col. Hazen's 2nd Canadians, then at Fishkill, N.Y.. If Levake was among them, it is not evident. It seems likely that he joined some other unit, for whatever reason, or possibly served with some French officer as a "batman". (batman, an orderly of a military officer) His honorable discharge was not challenged, and his pension was finally approved on 17 October 1820, with arrears payable back to the date of his application.

Soon after his discharge, Levake married a lady identified only as "Lucy Clarke of Connecticut," whom he probably met during his regiment's repeated presence in that state. Briefly, he owned property in Hanover, N.H., on the Connecticut River, before settling permanently in 1790 at Bolton, Vermont, about midway between Burlington and Montpelier. There, he acquired several "farms" bordering on the "Onion" (or Winooski) River, and apparently he kept the taven at that place.

Among his descendants it was traditional that Levake "came to this country with Lafayette." Clearly, he was born in Canada, and it seems unlikely that he had any association with Lafayette, directly....unless possibly as a servant or "batman, "after leaving Livingston's regiment. He was intensely patriotic, an attribute evidently passed on to his sons, three of whom served as officers and one as enlisted rank in the War of 1812. It is related that Levake "...qiartered the army (in 1812) that division of the army that passed through Vermont to Burlington and back east again, on his fields, and whatever the farm produced was at their disposal almost if not all free of charge, in consequence of which he....lost all he had. There was no self will about him. He entered into the country's cause soul, body and property and all. He became very poor."

On 1 September 1822, Augustus Levake died and was buried in AUGUSTINE LEVESQUE---Col.Cleon E. Hammond.

Bolton graveyard, where his marker may still be found....the only "Levake" there. His widow, Lucy, presumably remained on the "Home farm" in Bolton until it was sold in 1825. It is suggested, but not established, that she then lived with a son (or grandson) and may have died around 1834 in Troy, New York.

Apparently, Levake never applied for the land grant to which he was entitled as a Canadian "Refugee." Both his Hanover property and his several Bolton properties were his own purchases. Perhaps the many sprllings of his name account for his omission from the published listing of Vermont's Continental soldiers, but he is included in the Daughters of the American Revolution Index of Patriots. One may only regret that this twice-wounded French-Canadian had been better documented during his seven years of service with the Continental Army. He deserved better recognition than he received.

It is my hope that readers of this Journal will voluntarily offer any supplementary information they might have to complete this (or any) story. Like, for example, any information re his wife Lucy Clarke....or what unit Levake might have served with after the disbandment of the 1st Canadians, etc. Presumably, this is a main reason for such a Society.

OF ELI CHARLEBOIS (WOOD)

Patrick L.Hanrahan # 0270

This last fall, I had the opportunity to vacation in New York and work on my gr gr grandfather's family history. He was Eli Wood or Charlebois using the French form of the name.

Elie Charlebois was born in Province of Quebec in 1826 and later lived on Cold Brook road in Saranac Twp., Clinton County, N.Y. His naturalization papers show him entering the USA at age 12.

He was a lumberjack by trade. The 1860 census of Clinton County shows Eli's occupation as being a "collier" or coal miner. Yet, there are no coal mines in the area. I latter learned that he was in the charcoal business. Trees were converted into charcoal. After making the charcoal, he had his 8 year old son, Eli Jr., drive this charcoal by wagon to Standish, N.Y. where it was used as a substitute for coal in the iron mills. He had a large family and he expected even the smallest to help him in his work.

Family tradition hold that the Charlebois line had immigrated by way of covered wagon to Saranac Twp., Clinton County, N.Y. from Pokeamoonshine, Essex County, N.Y. (near Keeseville). Today the village is gone but a mountain still uses that name. Several families had come over togeather to Saranac. These were the Charlebois, Brien, and the Vennes.

A key record for tracing his ancestry was publication #106 by Mr.Benoit Pontbriand: "Marriages of Clinton County, N.Y." Here I tound the marriage of Eli Charlebois to Margaret Brule on 6 Dec 1853 in Keeseville, N.Y. This marriage record, like those of Province of Quebec, (by luck) showed the names of the parents of both the bride and the groom (many don't). An added interest was that this marriage was dated after their first three children were born (perhaps a civil marriage first). This did not appear uncommon as many other marriages were sanctified in that year. In pioneer N.Y., the parish priest was not always available.

In Montreal, the Municipal Library was my neat source. Here there are more than 600 index books to Quebec catholic parish records. These books are also identified in a card catalog which list the appropriate books for each town or county of interest.

First, I checked the Loiselle Marriage Index which is a microfilm master index to 520 parishes of Quebec. It is also available through the Mormons (film nos.543,721 through 543,858). Here I found the marriage of Eli's parents (Pierre Charlebois & Marie Josephine Brien; 9 Aug 1819; St-Jacques de Montcalm). Again the parents of the next generation were giving. I had confirmed this by visiting the Provincal Archives in I realized later, that the same microfilm for my parishes were also available from the Mormans. Also, I learned that they have another general French-Canadian marriage index called the "Rivest Marriage Index" It is not as extensive as "Loiselle" but includes over 230,000 marriages and includes references to Indian spouses. The Mormon microfilm numbers for the "Rivest"records are 933,109 through 933,166.

Next, I checked the individule parish index books for all those parishes around St-Jacques. I found it in L'Assomption: Jean Baptiste Amable Charlebois to Marie Josephine Sulliere; July 19, 1773. From here, I was stuck. I was not able to find the marriage of the next generation (Amable Charlebois to Marie Lavigne). Upon returning to Portland, OR, I wrote Mr. Marquis of our society and told him of my problem. He showed me that I missed the marriage because I was not aware of a "dit" name for Lavigne (moreover Lavigne is the "dit" name for another family) In Tanguay's "Dictionnaire Genealogique des Familles Canadiennes," one "dit" name is shown as "Brodeur." He also found the marriage of the next generation: Jean-Baptiste-Amable Charlebois to Madeleine (Le)Brodeur dit Lavigne (30 Jan 1747; Varennes, PQ). Further, he found two additional generations of the Charlebois line that are shown below.

To my surprise much of the ancestry of Jean-Baptiste-Amable Charlebois (Jr.) can be traced in the "Dictionnaire Genealogique Des Famillies Du Quebec" by Rene Jette. This includes many of the lines that married into the Charlebois line (to 1730). They are also listed in "Genealogie Des Familles De Terrebonne" by Raymond Masson as well in "Tanguay." The next generations are as follows.

The Ancestry of Eli Charlebois (Wood) ---- Patrick L. Hanrahan.

- Charles/Jacques Charlebois == Marie-Françoise Danis
 m.23 Nov 1716 Montreal, PQ
- Jean Charlebois dit Jolibois dit Joly == Marthe Perrier b.1656 St-Macaire, France m.25 Nov 1686 Montreal, PQ d.24 Jan 1722 Jean was a soldier in the company of M.Crisafy at the time of his marriage.
- Antoine Joly == Marie Dosquet This is where I will start my French work by looking for a French marriage in the 1630's.

While tracing this line, I learned a number of things about French-Canadian genealogy. First, do not expect names to be listed the same way in different records. Surnames are often changed through the use of "dit" "called" names. However some names may have many "dit" equivalents. For example, "Lavigne" has 18 dit names to check.

Futher, first names also change. For example, baptism records for some of my more recent ancestors were as follows:

Relation	Expected Name	Found Name	Date & Place
grandfather	Paul Charles Wood	Joseph Napoleon Charlebois	5 Aug 1887 Redford,N.Y.
g.grandfather	Zeb Wood	Euseb(e)Dubois	2 April 1862 Redford, N.Y.
g.g.grandfather	Eli Wood	François-Eli Charlebois	1826 St-Jacques de Montcalm,PQ

Of all these, the listing for my grandfather surprised me the most. A probable explanation for this is that "Poli" is a French nick-name for Napoleon. This would be converted to Paul in English.

Within U.S.records, I have found that all civil records refer to this family as "Wood", while all church records use the French form of "Charlebois". When I told this to the catholic priest in Redford, he had an explanation for this. Most of the early French priest in this area went out of their way to use the proper French form of the names. In fact, they even changed some English names to their French form the the church records.

Announcing Vol. 3

retitled Our FRENCH-CANADIAN Ancestors

by Thomas J. Laforest

"The Role of the Church in New France"

OUR FRENCH CANADIAN ANCESTORS, Volume Three, 1985, by Thomas J. Laforest. Paperback, stiff cover, 6X9, xiv + 296 pages, illustrations, maps, references, bibliography, index of names. ISBN 0914163-03-5. Distributed by The LISI Press, P.O. Box 1063, Palm Harbor, FL 34273. Price $12.00 postpaid.

This is the third of a continuing series, translated from the French version entitled, NOS ANCETRES, by Gerard Lebel. Chapters 3 - 26 of Volume Three contain 24 biographies of the following ancestors and their families: Francois Allard, Guillaume Bauche dit Morency, Claude Bouchard, Mathias and Pierre Campagna, Etienne Charles dit Lajeunesse, Jean Crete, Pierre Dagenais dit Lepine, Pierre Duguay dit Lafranchise, Joseph-Mace Gravel dit Brindelliere, Jacques Gueret dit Dumont, Jean Lalonde dit Lesperance, Jean-Baptise Legendre, Clement Lerige dit Laplante, Simeon Le Roy dit Audy, David Letourneau, Laurent Levasseur, Jacques and Nicolas Marcotte, Julien Mercier, Louis-Auguste-Frederic Parrot, Isaac Pasquier dit Lavallee, Philippe Plamondon dit Lafleur, Jean Prou, Nicolas Quentin dit Lafontaine and Pierre Tremblay.

Chapter 1 continues to provide background information on Life in New France. Whereas Volume 1 discussed the Structure of Society and Volume 2 treated the Seigneurial System, Volume 3 considers the Role of the Church.

Chapter 2 continues to feature material peculiar to the social structure. In Volume 1, the Kings Daughters were explained. In Volume 2, The Role of the Carignan Regiment was discussed, while in Volume 3, the Origin of Family Names and the use of the "dit" surnames are developed.

Appendix A, contains a lengthy list of names in support of Chapter 2. Not only are the origins of names brought out, but, most importantly for Americans of French Canadian descent, the Americanization of these names is interpreted.

Volume 3 also features illustrations of coats of arms, portraits of the ancestors, maps of their land holdings and sketches of their homes. The book concludes with an annotated bibliography for each ancestor plus a comprehensive index of names.

This series is intended, not only for those French Canadians seeking their family roots, but also for those who would like an appreciation of their North American heritage.

NOTES and COMMENTS

on

Benoit Pontbriand's "Mariages-Marriages de Conté de Clinton County"

by

Marie Pearce #0077

Pg.27 BOUDREAU

Edward (min) Jean-Bte.& Flavie ROBIDOUX sjke 25-10-1856 LESCAULT, Delima (min). This should be DESCAULT instead of LESCAULT. I believe this to be an original transcription error. However, there are "LESCAULTS" in Longueuil, PQ. I'm not sure whether these are the same family but in the formation of French names "les" and "des" are used interchangeably.

Pg.31 BOYER

Antoine T:V.Boyer & V.Guertin V.BOYER is Vital BOYER who married Octavie PATENAUDE.

Pg.43 CARMELL (Also CARMEL)

Peter T: James LEMIEUX SABL 21-10-1873 DESCOMPT, Addie DESCOMPT should be DESCAULT.

Also:

Peter T: Ls.Carmell & S.DOUGLASS ICKE 05-02-1853 LAROMAIR, Domitille, LA ROMAIR is LARMEY in my records.

Pg.44 CARRUEL

Mathilda T: Delima & Moses DECOMPT SABL 18-04-1873 DESCOMPT, Noé This is badly mixed up. I have.

CARMEL

Mathilda T: Delima & Moses DESCAULT SABL 18-04-1873 DESCAULT, Noël.

I had only an approximate marriage date of ca 1873 so I am grateful for the full date. Mathilda is also called Domithilde. Delima was the aunt and Moses the father of Noël who later changed his name to Louis and moved to the western U.S. Delima and Moses were my great aunt and uncle.

Pg.73 DESCAUX

This was usally spelled DESCAULT but also as DESCO and even LESCAULT in Canada. In the U.S. it is usually DISCO or DISCOE.

- Octavie Pierre & Mérande GREMBLEY SJKE 17-06-1866 CHICOTTE, Diana GREMBLAY should be TREMBLAY. Mérande's full name was Emérentienne and Diana was also called Lena, Selinda and Delima. Pierre and Emérentienne were my great grandparents.
- Celina(16) Moyse & Sophie BOISSONEAU SJKE 01-09-1867

 I have Sophie as St-ONGE which was a "dit" name for BOISSONEAU or BOISSUREAULT.

NOTES & COMMENTS Cont.----Marie Pearce.

Guillaume Pierre & Méranda Tremblay SJKE 03-11-1867 PATENAUDE, Hermine, These are my grandparents am I'm very grateful to get their compleat marriage date and place. As mentioned, Mérande is Emérentienne and I also know Hermine as Alma but these are just variations in the names.

Pg.146 LABONTE

François & Marie DESCELLES also dit DUCLOS which is the way it is on her death certificate. They are my great great grandparents.

Pg.156 LANGEVIN

Miseal - I have Michel married Olive PATENAUDE 25 Jun 1859

Pg.161 LA ROMAIR

I have Larmey

Pg.173 LESCAULT

This probably should be DESCAULT. Delima was one of my great aunts.

Pg.218 PATENAUDE

Marie T:Marie LABONTE & Edmond ROBERT SABL 15-17-1878

JABOT, George, Marie LABONTE (DUCLOS) is my great great grandmother and Marie PATENAUDE is a great aunt who married George CHABOT.

Also under Edmond: parents given (Jacob & Marcelline TREMBLAY) are Catherine's parents. Edmond's are: Nicolas & Emerence DUPUIS.

Again: Ester's parents are Alfred & Lisa or Louisa BOUCHER.

Still again: Henriette (Theodore & Marie PROVOST) married Pierre POTVIN, although I believe that POIDEVIN or POITEVIN are other forms of this.

Pg.229 PORCHERON

- I have no idea where this name fits in.
- 1. Noé was Noël (later Louis) DISCO (DESCAULT), son of Moses & Sophie ST-ONGE. Mathilda's name was CARMEL(L). (see this marriage given incorrectly on pg.44 under CARRUEL.)
- 2. Addie was also a DESCAULT (DISCO), daughter of Pierre, Jr. & Addie (Adeline) BELOIN. (see marriage on pg. 43 under CARMELL.)
- 3. Delima DESCOMPT was a DESCAULT as is Moses. Emelie may have been a PORCHERON. I do not have her.

Thank You Marie

James W.Kissane, (MD) Nellie Kissane (Murray) R.J.Kissane

Adie --Married Oliver Smith. They had one son:
Rudolphus (Dolph) Smith, who had one son:
Steamboat Springs, CO

Rudolphus (Dolph) -- Married Cornelia Smith.

Note: The marriage of Fredrick Anderson to Josette Forget Despatis has not been located it's not on the Loiselle Index either. any help finding this marriage???

Thomas Smith was born in 1640. His parents had come to this country in around 1635. He married Elizabeth Patterson in 1662. She was born probably around (1640-1645). They both died the same year,1724. Their son, Thomas Smith, born (1673, died 1762) married Eunice Russell, and they had a son, Jacob, born in East Haven, Ct. in 1742. He died in 1837. He married Elizabeth Blanchard (b.1743, died 1829) in Willington, Ct. Their son, Col. Thomas Smith was born in 1776 and died in 1840. He married Sally Boardman in 1800. She was the daughter of Jonathan and Pricilla (Stafford) Boardman, born 21 May 1775 and died in 1830.

Henry Boardman Smith was born to Col. Thomas Smith and Pricilla Boardman Smith on 3 Jan 1803. He died in Chateaugay, on on 22 Aug 1863. He married Margaret Roberts (b.1811 died 1837) in 1834. They had one daughter, Sarah, who married Uriah Winchester. After Margaret's death in 1837 Henry married Janet Crippen in 1843. He became the first Judge of Franklin County in Northern New York. Henry and Janet had three daughters: Janet called Nettie, (1844-1926), Margaret A. (1847-1918) and Cornelia (11 Jul 1854-3 Aug 1914).

Nettie-- married Robert Cantwell. No infor.on children.
Margaret--married Robert's brother, Thomas. Two children.
Nettie b.1868 and William b 1869.
Cornelia-- married Rudolphas Anderson.

Dolph Anderson and Cornelia Smith were married, probably ca.1875. They had 4 sons.

Henry Boardman Smith (1876-1954). He married Esther Johnson (1889-1947). They had one daughter Cornelia, who married to Gordon Robinson

Arthur (1882-1948

The subject of this letter is to offer you my services as a research-genealogist in the Montreal-Quebec region. My back ground is mostly working in the archives centers of all the province of Quebec. I have also completed successfully, at the University of Quebec, a course on History-Genealogy.

My experience could help find any information according to your needs. For example, I could work in various fields such as: census, notary certificate and Church certificates. If you require, I could send you photostats or even pictures of important documents needed for your research.

My fee is: $6.00 U.S. per hour.

For special intensive research cases: accommodating arrangements are negotiable.

Flavian Courtemanche (1853 - 1932)

From The Richelieu Valley to the Hudson Valley

Flavian Courtemanche was the first of my husband's line to come to the United States. He had been born on the 15th of March, 1853 to Isadore and Sophie Bluteau, in the Richelieu Valley of East Canada. His parents had been married at Saint Antoine, P.Q. 8 Oct. 1839. It was there that he spent the first years of his life, until at the age of eighteen he left his parents home to make a life for himself in a new country. None of the children of Isadore and Sophie Bluteau are listed as marrying there. Perhaps the whole family emmigrated.

Going first to Vermont, we believe he lived in the Highgate area where there were other Courtemanches living, as well as, relatives of the girl he was one day to marry. Later he would move to Cohoes, (Albany County) N.Y. to work there as a painter. There were other Courtemanches living in that city also, according to the 1870 census. Pierre a boatman, Napoleon (listed as saloon keeper), and Abraham, living in the same area of the city.

Finally, he moved on to Troy, (Rensselaer County) NY where he was to settle permanently. He obtained work as a shirt cutter in the mills that had brought so many French-Canadian and Irish to this part of the state. He received his naturalization papers in 1871, and on 17 July, 1873, at the age of 21, he married. The girl who won his heart was 17 year old Adeline Brunelle (daughter of Francois and Julie Balthazar). The couple married at St. Jean de Baptiste Church, in Troy. Although Flavian and Adeline were both born in Canada, census records show them both able to read and write in both languages.

Together they worked and saved until they were able to purchase a three story brick house in the area of the French Church. He opened a grocery store on the first floor, their living quarters were on the second, and the third floor they rented out. This house was to be their home from then on, and the store, his life's work.

Twelve children were born to them there. But many died as babies or young adults. The records show them to be:

- (1) George Baptized December 1874. Married Mary A. Cleary. They had one son Leon and a daughter Frances. Both believed to have married. Believe both living.
- (2) Mary Ludor Baptized November 1875 Died Oct. 1878 of Spanish Influenza.
- (3) Frank Baptized Oct. 1878 Died January 9, 1900 at 22 years of age.
- (4) Marie Ludor (the second child of this name) Baptized September 1880. Married Joseph Mochon. She died 27 September 1918, at the age of 38. (Probably in the influenza epidemic that hit the area in that year).

- (5) Severin Flavian (called Phillip) Baptized August 1881. He was a fireman and single when he died January 5, 1923, of a sudden illness. Phillip was 42.
- (6) Loduvics Alfred Baptized 1882 died Nov. 1886 at 4 years of age.
- (7) Carol Alfred (Fred) my husbands father was:
 Baptized: June 1888
 Married: 19 August, 1917
 Loretta Bouchard (dau Geo. & Mary Spenard)
 (Children of this marraige will follow in next section.)
 Died: 28 November, 1938 at age 50
- (8) Esma Lucia Virginia (Lucy)
 Baptized: August 1892
 Died: 14th June, 1893 at 10 months
- Baptized: September 1893
 Married: Anna Schleich
 They settled in Watervliet, NY where Charlie worked for the Watervliet Arsenal until his retirement.
 Three children were born to them, twins Frank and Anne and Adeline.
 Frank married Catherine J. Harbour, one known child Mary Katherine.
 Mary ? Anne married Thomas S. Shields.
 Adeline married Joseph DeLorme. Believed to be recently deceased.
- (10) Delina Lina (Adeline)
 Baptized: Dec. 1885
 Married: Joseph Bouchard Jr.
 Died: ?
- (11) Arthur Cynillus (Art)
 Baptized: December 1885
 Died: 18 July, 1941

Art had a leg amputated in his youth due to an infection. He never married, and operated the grocery store with his father until Flavian's retirement in 1907. Then he conducted the business himself until his own death in 1941.

(12) Emily Rosa
Baptized: December 1899
Died: ?

In the 1910 Census, Flavian also had one brother Edward living with the family. Edward was naturalized in 1872 in Rensselaer County.

When Adeline died, on May 26, 1922 at age 65, she was buried at St Jean de Baptiste Cemetary in Troy where Flavian would join her 10 years later, leaving only four surviving children, George, Charles, Arthur and Fred.

The neighborhood store that had supported the family through the years ran into trouble later. With their inherrant compassion and empathy Flavian and, later during the depression Arthur, had let all of their usual customers charge whatever they needed. These debts were nearly all left unpaid, since it was difficult for people to catch up on past debts and still raise families on small salaries.

At Arts death, taxes were due on the old building and none of the remaining members of the family wanted it, byy this time having settled into their own homes and established their own trades or businesses. The younger nephews and nieces also turned it down and it was sold eventually for taxes.

According to naturalization papers (now missing from the Rensselaer County Court House), Flavian had listed himself as half-indian. He evidently thought that Sophie Bluteau, his mother, was an Indian, but research has shown that it was an aunt of Sophie who had married an Indian. The fact that his cousins were Indian had evidently led him to believe in his youth that he was, also. The young must always jump to conclusions, I guess, without ever stopping to ask the truth until there is no-one left in the family to ask.

One of the most striking memories Flavian left to his grandchildren, was of an elderly gentleman, who was rather tall (for French), dark complexioned with dark eyes and a good humored approach to life and the people he met. He smoked long curved pipes that he had brought with him from Canada, and told interesting stories of the 'old days', of French and Indians and 'Metis'.

Every Sunday after Mass his grandchildren gathered around Flavian's chair while he talked to them. They collected their hugs, words of wisdom and the pennies that he gave them (one for each year of their age). Sometimes he would slip in a medal instead of a penny and laugh to hear the lisping complaints. Then, giving them their real penny, he would take them on his knee to describe the Saint on the medal and how he or she had become a Saint or Sainte.

My husband Ray was too young to participate, or at least too young to remember. Ray'§ memories of his grandfather are dim, although his elder sister Evelyn's are very vivid.

Our line moves forward with my husband's father Carol Alfred Courtemanche. He was known all of his life as Fred, although I have seen him referred to as both Frederick and Alfred. Fred married Loretta Alana Bouchard, daughter of George C. Bouchard and (Alana) Mary Spenard. Alana had always used Mary, as she hated the name, yet she gave it to her daughter Loretta as a middle name.

George Bouchard was the son of George and Marie Trembley of Bay St. Paul (Lake?), P.Q. Canada, while Mary was the daughter of Joseph M. Spenard and Julise Gervais who had married at Notre Dame de Montreal, P.Q., Canada.

Fred and Loretta (she was always called Lorette by Fred), were married at St. Jean de Baptiste Church 19 August, 1917, after he had been discharged from the U.S.N. The church records listed his name as Edward F. Courtemanche.

The children are listed as follows:

(1) Alfred Carolus: Baptized - 15 May, 1918 Died at 8 months.

(2) Wilfred Conolus: Baptized - 31 Aug., 1919 Died at 13 monts.

GENEALOGY GOLDMINE

Sent in by Mrs.Helen Eagle (President) of the Anderson Falls Heritage Society, Keeseville, N.Y.

The following information was found during recent research in a privite collection of the "Essex County Republican" published in Keeseville, N.Y. March 3,1881. We felt it would be of interest to those researching their genealogy especially due to the nature of the information. The following is a list of children from the "Essex County Poor House" placed out West in 1880, by the Children's Aid Society:

Reda Demo in Stanley, Kansas with Samuel L. Winston Lucy Hayes in Louisberg, Kansas with Mrs. Lucy E. Martin James Gleason in New Lanchester, Kansas with S.F. Hickman Letitia Gleason in New Lanchester, Kansas with R.J. Hiner John Gleason in New Lanchester, Kansas with R.J. Hiner Joseph Gleason in Paola, Kansas with Mr. Hiram Henry Gleason in New Lanchester, Kansas with M.F.Dowd George Caton in Olthe, Kansas with Dwight Pierce Clayton Fleming in Paola, Kansas with William Walters Katie Fleming in Paola, Kansas with H.H.Wright but now in Paola, Kansas with J. PRE-PUBLICATION ANNOUNCEMENT

ALL-NAME INDEX TO BONA ARSENAULT'S HISTOIRE ET GENEALOGIE DES ACADIENS

This is an all-name index of Volumes 2 through 6 of Mr. Arsenault's wonderful HISTOIRE ET GENEALOGIE DES ACADIENS. The index will be in 4 volumes, and will list, in alphabetical order, every name appearing in the 5 volumes.

Each listing will include the LAST NAME, FIRST AND ALL OTHER GIVEN NAMES, YEAR OF BIRTH, FULL NAMES OF BOTH PARENTS, DATE OF MARRIAGE, FULL NAME OF SPOUSE AND PAGE(S) ON WHICH THAT PERSON'S NAME APPEARS. Obviously, if any of the above items are not included in the original work, it will not appear in the index.

As all dedicated users of Mr. Arsenault's monumental work know, person may appear in more than one volume, and may also appear more than one time in the same volume. With this index, since it will be an alphabetical listing of ALL names in ALL volumes, it will show at a glance all of the different places in the same volume and/or all of the different places in all volumes where information on a given person may be obtained.

This will be a MUST for all dedicated Acadian Genealogists who regularly use Mr. Arsenault's books.

SCHEDULED PUBLICATION DATE - JULY 1, 1986

Each volume will contain approximately 380 pages and will be printed on $8\frac{1}{2}$ by 11", 60# white offset paper and will be perfect bound (hard cover). It will be printed in black ink on both sides of the sheet, and will have the title printed down the spine of the book. It will be trimmed top, right and bottom for ease in leafing through the book.

REGULAR PRICE - $30.00 PER VOLUME - $120.00 PER SET

PRE-PUBLICATION PRICE - $25.00 PER VOLUME - $100.00 PER SET

If you order before July 1, 1986, we will pay all postage and handling charges. If you order after July 1, 1986, please add a total of $8.00 for shipping and handling.

Tougas farm laborer, and Marguerite Gauthier of Malone, State of New York. Sponsors James Leahy and Ellen Raney. She was m. she was m.same day to Louis Dagenais. Louis Dagenais & Marie Helene Tougas recognize as legitimate a daughter Marie, b.20 Oct 1868 and Bap.in the parish of St-Joseph de Huntingdon, PQ 23rd of the same month.

Q-33 SUGGESTION QUERIES 33 & 167 of Dorothy Hartley: by Virginia & DeMarce. I suggest Isaac Regnier (Louis & Romaine Falcon)

Q-167 m.26 Oct 1824 at Lacadie to Osithe Doucet (Nicolas & M-Anne Bisaillon), as other members of this family moved to Clinton County, NY.

CORRECTION

Q-28

Correction to Response Query 28,by Kenneth M.Sanchagrin. by Virginia E.DeMarce. While in fact,most of the Lake Champlain area Sanschagrin families do go back to Charles Girard dit Sanschagrin, the family of Dr.Sanschagrin is another, that of Bourret dit Sanschagrin.

The beginning connection links are in the Prospect Hill Roman Catholic Cemetery, Champlain, NY, with the tombstone of Anna Weightman, wife of Jacob S. Sanschagrin, died 14 May 1907 aged 28 years. There are additional Sanschagrin tombstones in this cemetery.

A Jacob Sanschagrin is to be found in the Corbeau baptisms ndex, born 24 Nov 1849 and baptized 30 Dec 1849, son of Joseph Sanschagrin and Adelaide Lafortune (he died at age 19 and was buried at Corbeau). Examination of this repertoire will indicate the "dit" name of Bourret dit Sanschagrin. There were two men in the county: Joseph Bourret dit Sanschagrin married to Adelaide Tellier/Letellier dit Lafortune and Louis Bourret dit Sanschagrin married to Emelie St-Jean.

Adelaide Lafortune, wife of Joseph Sanschagrin, died 25 Oct 1885, age 76 years, is buried at St. Joseph Roman Catholic Cemetery, Coopersville, NY. There are many other Sanschagrin burials at this cemetery, including those of Louis Sanschagrin and his wife Emily.

The 1850 census of Clinton County, NY, Reel 490, Champlain Township, shows Louis Sashigran, age 39, sailor, b. Canada with wife Amelia, age 28, born Canada, and six children. Joseph Sanshgra, age 45, shoemaker, born Canada, with wife Delila, age 44, born NY, with sons Joseph, Edward, Louis, Solomon (age 4), Jacob (age 7mo--cf. baptism above); daughters Felicet, Roselie, and Celeste, all born NY.

Salomon Sanschagrin, son of Joseph Sanschagrin and Cecile(sic) Lafortune was born 18 May 1847 and baptized 30 May 1847, Corbeau, with godparents Salomon Dumas and Julie Dumont.

ANSWERS

Salomon Sanschagrin, son of Joseph Sanschagrin and Adelaide Tellier/Letellier dit Lafortune had his marriage to Josephine Genest/Benoit rehabilitated in 1865 at Corbeau, unfortunately without having his parents named. This is why I cite the baptism and census record of his brother above, as well as his own baptism, to indicate the relationship. He remarried 9 Feb.1878 at St.Patrick's, Rouses Point, to Henriette Girouard (missing from repertoire of Clinton Co.)

Jacob Salomon Sanschagrin, son of Salomon and Henriette, was born 22 Apr.1880 and baptized 25 Apr.1880 at Corbeau, the godparents being Louis Goulet and Philomene Patenaude. The uncle, Napoleon Sanschagrin, son of Salomon and Josephte Benoit, born 19 Aug. 1874 and baptized 6 Sep. 1874, Corbeau, with the godparents Isaac Tremblay and Adeline Sanschagrin.

Analysis of godparents and other relationships in the Corbeau registers gives no futher clues on the Bourret dit Sanschagrin line. However, it indicates that Adelaide Tellier dit Lafortune was daughter of Benjamin Tellier/Letellier dit Lafortune, Sr., and Marie Asselin.

As a research hypothesis, I would suggest that Benjamin Tellier/Letellier dit Lafortune may be a son of the Joseph Delafortune listed on the 1798 tax roll of Champlain Township, Clinton Co.NY. From the close association of this family with the early members of the Refugee Settlement, it would seem probably that Benjamin's wife Marie Asselin will prove to be a heretofore unidentified daughter of Prisque Asselin, the Revolutionary soldier, and his wife Marie Louise Roberge dit Lacroix.

PARTIAL RESPONSE TO QUERY 65 of Kenneth S.Anderson. by Virginia Q - 65E.Demarce. Marie Louis Anderson, baptized 4 Oct 1841, St. Jean Chrysostome, PQ born 20 Sep last of the legitimate marriage of Frederic Anderson, farm laboror of the United States, and Rosalie Depatie. Godparents Joseph Raymond and Marie Beaudrie.

- Q-122 PARTIAL RESPONSE, QUERIES 122 of Mrs. Eugene C. Charest, and 133 of Mrs. Harold Rheaume. by Virginia E. DeMarce. Abraham Tremblay and Rose Chagnon had children baptized at St-Jean Chrysostome, PQ in the 1840's. There is also a possible baptism from St-Philippe de Laprairie for Jean-Abraham Tremblay, several months old, whose parents were living at "St-Yache near Kynstown," outside of the parish. -

Q-93 .Last journal Evelyn Courtemance of Troy, NY reports that she made a mastake on query 93. I evidently made a mastake writing the name when I answered the Rand query in the last journal page 99.
