President's Letter

BY ARLENE FROLICK

SGS President

On behalf of SGS's membership, I would like to extend a thank-you to the four members of the Board who retired at the end of 1999: Marie Svedahl, who joined SGS in 1979, has played a huge role in various areas of the organization, served on many committees, and is a past president. Bev Weston has been on the Board for 6 years; Terry Ford for 4 and Neil Southam for 2 years. Those who sit on the Board are accountable for all actions taken on behalf of SGS. It is an important role and not always an easy task. Thanks again from all of us, and we know you'll still continue to lend a helping hand when needed.

I would be amiss if I didn't also welcome two new members to the Board: Nancy Lyons and Rocky Sample. They along with Janis Bohlken, Blanche Fleming, John Meen, Wanda Young and I look forward to serving you in 2000.

We are now three months into a New Decade, a New Year and a New Millennium -- and everything continues to run smoothly! This is an exciting time. The 'hobby' of genealogy has become much more -- it's on the cutting edge of being a huge business. Technology has forced many organizations to keep up with the times. SGS is no exception. Our webpage (look for the address elsewhere in the Bulletin) is visited often. Our membership is increasing, our workshops are well attended. Let's keep up the good work!

Genealogy can evolve into more than just looking up names and dates. There's a whole heritage to those names and dates - a legacy that our ancestors left, a sometimes invisible thread that gives us (most of us?) an interest or perhaps even an obligation to find all we can about our past. Heritage is like a family; it should be cherished and respected, but not be taken for granted. It doesn't give us any rights, nor makes us any better or worse than what we are. Heritage is our past - not to brag about, nor be ashamed of. It's like a shadow. It follows you, but it is not YOU.

Executive Director

In this issue, there is information regarding the Family History Fair, the Annual General Meeting and the upcoming SGS Annual Seminar. Take the time to read the information and plan on attending these events. Genealogical events provide you with the opportunity to network with others who are researching the same areas and an opportunity to learn research techniques.

There is no Surfing the Net in this issue since we have an article from Garth Ulrich on his favourite web sites.

Thank you to everyone who sent in articles. Please keep them coming.

You'll likely be hearing quite a bit more about heritage this year. SGS's Saskatchewan Heritage Record Directory (SHRD) is a new program dedicated to locating and listing early documents. We need to preserve the records that make up our past in Saskatchewan, and we're looking for volunteers to gather information on records in all communities.

Mark your calendar for April 8 to attend the Family History Fair being held in Regina, and April 29 for the Annual General Meeting held in Saskatoon.

I feel very proud of SGS and its many volunteers. And I'm looking forward to my term as President.

The Shiloh People

A Black Settlement in Saskatchewan (Part 2)

BY ARLENE FROLICK

Part 1 is in Volume 30, Number 4, December 1999 issue of SGS's BULLETIN (page 133). It briefly outlined the reasons why African American families fled the southern states of USA to Oklahoma Indian Territory, Texas and Missouri and then relocated to a tiny settlement north of Maidstone, Saskatchewan. More than 30 families, plus the married sons of the original settlers, filed for homesteads in that area from 1908 to 1912.

The windswept land of possibilities was undoubtedly a welcome sight to the eyes of the new settlers after their long and bittersweet journey. They were home at last and prepared for a new way of life on the Saskatchewan prairies as they applied for homesteads, built houses, and cleared the land readying it so that they could qualify for that very important Land Patent.

Today Shiloh Church, an enduring symbol of those settlers, sits empty and silent on land situated just north of the small prairie town of Maidstone.

It is the only church in the province that was erected by African American pioneers and was used until the 1940's. Spruce trees that were dug up from the "mouth of the Gully" - a boreal forest a few miles away - more than 70 years ago and replanted in the churchyard have grown tall and offer shade to the forlorn looking tiny building and white wooden crosses that dot the nearby graveyard.

In 1971, Saskatchewan celebrated "Homecoming '71", a provincially funded program designed to increase tourism. Funds were made available to businesses, communities and municipalities, and special events were promoted to bring former residents back to Saskatchewan. A group of people from five surrounding Maidstone districts formed a committee that was one of 759 eligible applicants to receive a government grant for the Homecoming '71 Program. That committee, the Maidstone-Waseca Districts Committee, took on as one of its projects the restoration of Shiloh Church and cleanup of the Cemetery grounds. Work began in April 1971 with a July target date for a reunion and celebration.

The first task for the volunteers was to clear the very overgrown grounds of badger bush, wild rose bushes, small willows, weeds and wild underbrush. Fencing was repaired or replaced, and a new chain link fence and two gates were added. After 30 years of neglect, the little churchyard was starting to take shape and the volunteers were fuelled with enthusiasm over their project. They organized work bees, brought lunch and had many enjoyable picnics, as the work progressed.

Volunteers, some of them on their knees, carefully searched at the bases of the spruce trees and trembling aspen for evidence of graves. They found stones laid in a pattern which appeared to be marking the head and foot of graves. After carefully and methodically noting each depression in the ground, they located 48 gravesites. The stone formations are believed to have marked the graves of 18 to 20 children.

Repairs to the church began. The outside walls were braced with steel road grader blades to insure a sturdy structure. Floor boards were carefully removed, and after all the beams underneath were braced, the boards were replaced one by one. The old roof was removed and replaced with a new shingle roof. Inside, the hand-hewn pews were left intact but the few holes in the square-log walls were filled. Two original doors remain - the entrance door and another at the front of the church leading to the churchyard and Cemetery.

The graves were marked by white wooden crosses built in the Sheltered Workshop in North Battleford, and placed in the ground by volunteers. After a few years, these crosses were replaced with white painted pressure treated posts that were constructed and erected by caring neighbours. After nearly 700 volunteer hours of labor, the project was completed and ready for an old-fashioned "welcome home" ceremony. Former residents were invited to once again visit the church of their childhood.

The homecoming celebration was held on July 4, 1971, a day that began with fresh rain, followed by clearing clouds and warm sunshine that spread across the Shiloh Church and its yard and Cemetery. It was a glorious day for renewing acquaintances, meeting old friends and school chums of both black and white folk.

Murray Mayes of North Battleford was Master of Ceremonies. He expressed gratitude and appreciation to all those responsible for the restoration project. Steve Ratuszniak, chairman of Homecoming '71, welcomed the over 500 guests who filled the church and spilled into its yard. Among the guests were about 85 descendants of the original settlers.

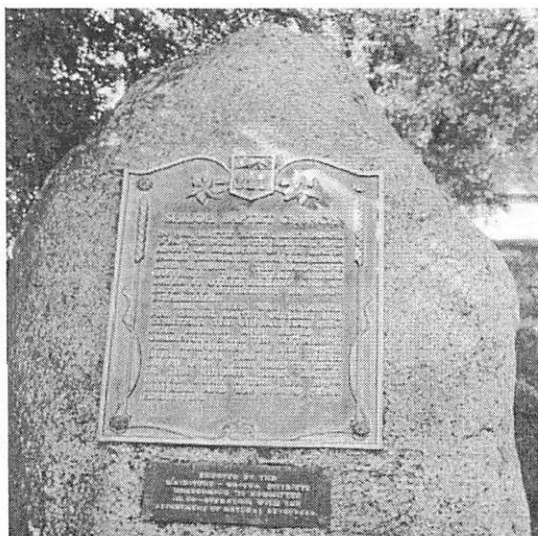

Brother Herrick Holt of the Church at Sharon, North Battleford, and Brother Arthur G. Wagar, Lloydminster, were guest speakers. Many others, including Leander Lane Jr., thanked the Committee, and reminisced about long forgotten memories of their childhood. The formal ceremony included the beautiful singing voices of descendants heard in solos, trios and quartets singing hymns and other spiritual songs. Shiloh Church stood proud that day.

A memorial monument, which unfortunately was not ready for the July 4 celebration, was unveiled and dedicated on August 15, 1971. The marker erected by the "Maidstone-Waseca Districts Homecoming '71 Committee in Co-operation with the Department of Natural Resources" reads:

SHILOH BAPTIST CHURCH

IN 1910 MATTIE MAYES, MATRIARCH WHO WAS BORN INTO SLAVERY, AND ABOUT 40 MEMBERS OF THE MAYES FAMILY EMIGRATED FROM OKLAHOMA AND SETTLED IN THE MAIDSTONE DISTRICT. THEY WERE JOINED LATER BY OTHER FAMILIES AND AN EXTENSIVE SETTLEMENT WAS SOON ESTABLISHED.

IN 1916, A DEED WAS OBTAINED FOR SHILOH BAPTIST CHURCH AND CEMETERY. THE CHURCH HAD BEEN BUILT EARLIER AND SERVED THE COMMUNITY UNTIL THE SETTLEMENT WAS ABANDONED IN THE 1940'S. DURING THAT TIME 48 OF THEIR LOVED ONES WERE LAID TO REST IN THIS CHURCH YARD. MATTIE PASSED AWAY AFTER HER 100TH BIRTHDAY AND WAS BURIED NEAR EDMONTON.

On December 4, 1991, The Rural Municipality of Eldon No. 471, Bylaw No. 114, designated the property known as Shiloh Baptist Church and Cemetery on Part of NE Quarter of Section 12, Township 50, Range 23, West of 3rd Meridian as being a site of historical value. It is a well deserved honor.

Meaning of the word "Shiloh"

Peloubet's Bible Dictionary: Shiloh (a place of rest) was a city of Ephraim, north of Jerusalem. It was one of the earliest and most sacred of the Hebrew sanctuaries.

The local history book North of the Gully states: "We have not been able to establish for certain how 'Shiloh' got its name, but believe that this group of bible readers (in the Eldon School District, north of Maidstone, Saskatchewan) got the name from this source: It is written in the Bible that when the Israelites, who were slaves, fled from Egypt to the promised land in Palestine, their journey took several years. On their journey they found a place to rest in central Palestine. This place was called Shiloh. When translated from Hebrew, it means 'resting place' or 'sanctuary'. Perhaps this is what this group of pioneer people hoped to find when they settled in Eldon - a Shiloh to call their own."

Shiloh Cemetery

Unfortunately, the original register of those 48 persons buried beneath the towering trees in Shiloh Cemetery has not been located and is feared to be lost. It is only fitting that every effort be made to recreate those records as accurately as possible. This is a daunting task.

Since 1971, two more persons were buried in the Cemetery - George Harvey Mayes in 1975 and his wife Lucille in 1987.

The actual or approximate date of birth (b), the place born, and the actual or approximate date of death (d) has been collected from many sources -- census records, newspaper articles or obituaries, homestead and land title records, and in conversation with some descendants of the Shiloh people. Following is a list of names and dates of those persons buried in Shiloh Cemetery:

Smith, Tom (son of Rufus Saddler Smith and Drucilla Threatt) - b 1904 Oklahoma Indian Terr., d ca 1915, age 11

This list of burials is far from complete. Records are nonexistent or impossible to find in order to determine how many deaths occurred as a result of infant mortality or stillbirth, or that were caused by the 1918 flu pandemic, and who would be buried in Shiloh Cemetery.

There are some early homesteaders that COULD be buried in the Cemetery, although they may have moved out of the area. They are listed here for reference only, and perhaps to jog someone's memory. Their approximate year of birth is listed in brackets beside each person's name.

Anderson, George (1881)
and Mrs. Anderson (1890)

Beely, Wyatte (1872)
and Mrs. Beely (1873)

Boyd, Samuel M. (1869)

Boyd, John Dee (1885)

Farmer, Archie (1862)

Forester, Lewis (1853) and Mrs. Agnes Forester (1862)

A fitting final chapter to this story would be to fill in all the missing names and dates. If anyone can provide more information or corrections to the above list, please write to:

One of the members of the 1971 organizing committee for Homecoming '71 has allowed me to quote her: "As a child, I remember Granny Mayes walking through the Cemetery every chance she got. She knew each and everyone buried there. Having been a mid-wife, she had a personal relationship with almost everyone ... here as well as the homes of many, many residents both black and white in the communities."

Martha Jane "Mattie" (Warner) Mayes died on January 20, 1953, and is buried in Beechmount Cemetery, Edmonton, Alberta.

Immigration Records

BY LOUISE PETSCHULAT

Certified Saskatchewan Researcher of SGS

SHIP PASSENGER LISTS

Passenger lists, or ship's manifests, are lists of people who came to Canada on a ship that docked at a Canadian port. The information given may be the ship's name, date and port of arrival, possibly the date and port of departure, person's name, age, sex, occupation, where they were from and their destination. Sometimes they show if someone died at sea, or was denied entry into Canada. Sometimes they indicate if they were a member of a specific ethnic immigration group; or if the passage was paid by someone else.

These lists were important to immigration groups at the time to keep track of immigrants who might be bringing contagious diseases. They were also a requirement for ship's captains as they were meant primarily to protect the passengers from disasters and disease. Later, they helped in the maintenance of uniform sanitation, nourishment, shelter and space for the passengers. They provided the Government with statistics on numbers of specific ethnic groups, and a tally for paying immigration agents per head for the people whom they had recruited.

In later years, the original ship's list was often used by the immigrant as his one record to show how long he had been in Canada so he could obtain his Naturalization or Citizenship papers. They may also be the only official documentation for proof of age.

When one searches a passenger list, one should be aware that:

- a name may be spelled as it sounded to a purser
- a person may have later changed the spelling of his name
- ages may be incorrect
- countries of origin may not be specific
- destinations may not be specific

If one knows the name of the ship, the Ship Notification of Arrival lists may be checked on mfm T-5460 for eastern ports; and T-4876/T-4877 for Vancouver and Victoria. If one knows the port of entry, the National Archives has a list of which mfm numbers cover specific months and years.

There are four types of Immigration records: (found at the National Archives of Canada)

- 1) Ships passenger lists.
- 2) Land border entry lists.
- 3) Certain special records of child (juvenile) immigration.
- 4) Chinese immigration records 1869-1950.

Passenger Lists pre 1865

Ship passenger lists were not required by the British government, nor by its colonies. From 1803, the British government did require a ship's captain to list all passengers at his port of departure, and in 1817 from his port of disembarkation; but these were not officially preserved. Most passengers at this time, who were coming to Canada, were from Great Britain, with those from other origins also leaving via Britain. There are a few resources which may be used, and they are listed in Brenda Merriman's book Genealogy In Ontario: Searching The Records, pages 136-140.

Passenger Lists 1865-1922

Records were kept at the designated Canadian ports. The lists have been microfilmed and the original documents were destroyed.

Passenger Lists 1922-1935

From 1919-1924, there are individual forms for each person on the passenger list, and much more detail is given; for instance, a physical description, their assets and health. From 1925-1935, they again used modified passenger lists. There are indexes for the records after 1920. Other information given is: immigrant's place of birth, name and address of a relative, friend or employer to whom they were destined, and the name and address of the nearest relative in the country from whence they came.

To access these records, one must write to the Genealogical Unit of the National Archives. One must include as much information as possible; such as: names of those in the family, year of entry; possibly, name of ship and destination and origin.

Passenger Lists After 1935

These remain in the custody of the Department of Citizenship and Immigration in Ottawa. Beginning June 1952, they returned to individual forms and these are indexed alphabetically. In order to receive a copy of one's immigration record after 1935, one must submit a Personal Information Request form (available at Public libraries and Federal Government offices) and $5.00 registration fee. A certified copy is $30.00. If for a relative, one must send proof of relationship and proof of death of that person (if deceased more than 20 years ago). If for oneself, the search is free.

THE HAMBURG PASSENGER LISTS

During periods of great emigration, German authorities kept a record of each person who left a German port. Shipping companies were required to record: passengers' names, hometown, age, other family members and occupations. The Bremen lists were destroyed in the World War Two bombing, but the Hamburg lists are available. Those who embarked on a ship which sailed directly to North America are found on the "direct" lists; and those who sailed first to England, and then left from Liverpool, are found on the "indirect" lists. These are available for the years 1850- 1934. The Family History Library has a Finding Aid to help one find the correct reel. The reels may then be ordered from their library. SGS has a copy of the Finding Aid: The Hamburg Passenger Lists, Series C, No. 30, 1976. USA: The Church of Jesus Christ of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, 1977. SGS also has an index to 1910.

CANADIAN BORDER CROSSING RECORDS

These are lists of persons crossing the Canadian-American border at designated Border Crossings. The records are only available on microfilm. They contain: name, age, sex, country of birth, country of citizenship, occupation, place of residence in the USA, destination, value of goods, mode of travel and comments. They also list those who were rejected, and may also note the reason for the rejection.

These are arranged by province-port-year and month of arrival from west to east. Therefore, it is useful to know this data before searching. Not everyone crossed at official ports, so they would not be recorded. Also, the early records were mainly for those who crossed by train. The Finding Aid for ports-dates and reel numbers is on the National Archives web page at <<http://www.archives.ca>>. There is also a Shelf list on pages 134 to 153 in Ships' Passenger Lists and Border Entry Lists in NAC, RG 76 (Records of the Immigration Branch): Microfilm Finding Aid published in Ottawa in 1986 by NAC. A reference copy may be obtained through interlibrary loan; or they are available at the Public Library in Regina, the Saskatchewan Archives Board in Regina, and the Saskatchewan Genealogical Society Library.

Border Crossing Records 1908-1918

The records of border entries from the USA begin from April 1908. These are available on microfilm from: National Archives of Canada (by inter-library loan), Saskatchewan Archives, Regina Public Library (to the end of 1908). They are not indexed so it is best if one knows the port and date of crossing. It will also help if one knows the place of departure and arrival.

Border Crossing Records 1919-1935

Individual forms were used for 1919-1924. In 1925, border entry lists were reinstated. The indexes are arranged in quasi-alphabetical order. These records contain more information than previously: immigrant's place of birth, name and address of the relative, friend or employer to whom they were destined, and the name and address of the relative from whence they came. The staff at the Genealogical Unit of the National Archives will do a search, if given sufficient information; such as, identifying details and port of entry or year of entry.

These are under control of Citizenship and Immigration (see Passenger Lists After 1935 information).

OTHER SOURCES and helpful information

1. The NAC has a list of the ships that left Great Britain and arrived in Canada. It gives the dates of departure and arrival. Microfilm # T-5460.
2. The Morton Allan Directory of European Passenger Steamship Arrivals, Baltimore, Maryland: Genealogical Publishing Co., 1980 (originally published in 1931) is a book containing the names of shipping lines, listed by year, then month and day and American port of all the ships that arrived in the USA (at official ports) from 1890 to 1930.
3. The book Ships of our Ancestors by Michael J Anuta, Michigan: Ships of our Ancestors, Inc, 1983, is a collection of prints and photos of the ships which carried immigrants to North America. It gives a Bibliography of resources and some addresses.
4. P William Filby published useful bibliographies; two examples are: Passenger and Immigration Lists Bibliography 1538-1900: Being a Guide to Published Lists of Arrivals in the US and Canada, Detroit: Gale Research, 1981. Passenger and Immigration Lists Bibliography...First Supplement, Detroit: Gale Research, 1984.
5. The Quebec Gazette, on microfilm, may be borrowed from the National Archives of Canada through interlibrary loan. It often recorded the ships docked in harbour and reported on special occurrences. Sometimes, it listed the people in the Quarantine stations.
6. Ethnic Group records. These often contain passenger lists. Many records can be found at the Saskatchewan Archives.
7. Genealogy publications often list a particular ship's list; or an specific group of immigrants.

Times Have Not Changed All That Much

BY SUSAN R. LEITCH

Almost two hundred years ago, genealogists were already wishing that they had more family records from which to study.

The following poem was recently forwarded to me by my newly discovered fifth cousin, John Wilson of Welland, ON. Mary Magdalen (Secord) Dunn who is making the plea is the great-niece of Laura (Ingersoll) Secord who is renowned for her 20-mile hike in Niagara during the War of 1812. Using a milk bucket for a decoy, she walked through the bush and succeeded in warning the British troops of an impending American attack. Mary (Secord) Dunn is also my great-great-aunt so I hope she is up there smiling because there are at least two of her relatives who value "the few records she was able to get together" and are attempting to leave as much for those a hundred years in the future--documented too!

"Where! Where will be the birds that sing,
A hundred years to come?
The flowers that now in beauty spring,
A hundred years to come
The rosy lips, the lofty brow,
The heart that beats so gaily now?
Oh, where will be love's beaming eye

Joy's pleasant smile, and sorrow's sigh,
A hundred years to come.

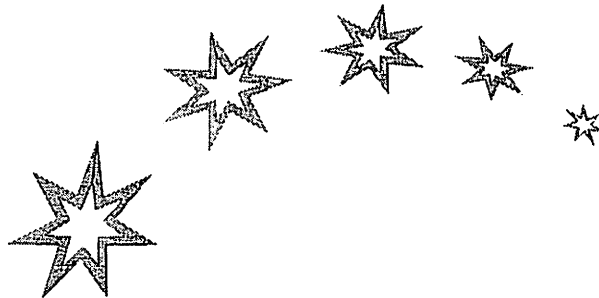

We all within our graves shall sleep
A hundred years to come
No living soul for us will weep
A hundred years to come
But other men our lands will till
And others then, our streets will fill
While other birds will sing as gay
And bright the sun shine as today,
A hundred years to come."

Author Unknown

Note at bottom of page: "These verses are copied in this book January 25, 1903. A hundred years from now I shall be forgotten, but I hope some member of the Secord family will value the few records I have been able to get together. Oh, if some of my ancestors had left me as much a hundred years ago."

SGS NEWS

FROM THE OFFICE ...

BY MARGE THOMAS

Executive Director

It is anticipated that during the next five years, interest in family history will continue to escalate. This will place greater demands on our staff and volunteers along with higher program access.

Since this is the beginning of a new century and Saskatchewan will soon be celebrating our centennial in 2005, emphasis has been placed on preserving the heritage of Saskatchewan. This in turn has increased the awareness that everyone should collect his or her story.

Thanks to an increase in funding for 2000 from Saskatchewan Lotteries Trust Fund, SGS will meet these challenges by:

- ▶ Hiring a part-time staff to assist in the library and provide continuity for our programming
- ▶ Publish a new Saskatchewan Research Guide-later this year
- ▶ The Family History Fair "Preserving Family History Beyond 2000" will return April 8

Plan to attend the Annual General Meeting in Saskatoon April 29.

At the Annual General Meeting, the membership will be asked to approve the following Constitution change V.2 to:

That meetings be changed to read "A quorum of no fewer than 50% plus one (1) of the total number of voting members on the Board of Directors is required for any meeting of the Board of Directors.

The change is being requested to clearly define the term "quorum" for the Board of Directors's Meetings. The question arose since the constitution states the number of seats (maximum and minimum) on a board, there was a confusion with C.--V.2 with respect to "seats".

Volume II: Archival conservation in the home environment. By Althea Douglas. Published by The Ontario Genealogical Society, 40 Orchard View Boulevard, Suite 102, Toronto, Ontario M4R 1B9. 1999, vi, 94pp, 8 ½" x 7", illustrations. Softback. Outside Canada $4.50 first item plus $1.50 each additional item.

This book begins with the premise "Never Do Anything That Cannot Be Undone Without Harming the Object" and "Be Careful When Handling Anything That Can Harm You."

With this in mind, and many pairs of cotton-knit gloves and a face mask, you may prevent damaging yourself and your precious artifacts. Use the book to learn which simple conservation procedures you can safely carry out yourself and which ones you should leave to a professional. I would strongly recommend having both Volume I and II of these reasonably priced books within easy reach when you are examining your family sources.

Genealogy on CD-ROM. By Marthe Arends. Published by Genealogical Publishing Co., Inc. 1001 N. Calvert St., Baltimore, MD 21202. 1999, 258pp, 8 ½" x 11", illustrations. Softback. Price $24.95. Postage & handling (US only): One item $3.50; each additional book $1.75. International orders (including Canada): Contact them for details.

This guide begins with some valuable advice about the use of CD-ROMs for genealogical research. The remainder of the book is organized by subject listings. Each listing includes the title, publisher, price, system requirements and a description of the contents. While most of the listings are for US based CD-ROMs there are some entries for Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Ireland, England, Sweden, France, Germany, Poland and Spain. There is a symbol to indicate which CD-ROMs the author has investigated herself.

Managing A Genealogy Project. A Complete manual For the Management and Organization of Genealogical Materials. By William Dollarhide. Published by Genealogical Publishing Co., Inc. 1001 N. International orders (including Canada): Contact them for details.

This is an up-date of the popular Managing a Genealogy Project. The book provides you with concrete advise about how to start your genealogy project and how to organize you research papers. It also provides you with examples of the accepted numbering systems used to-day along with samples of the various charts and logs that will aid you with organizing your present research.

Finding Genealogy on the Internet. By Peter Christian. Published by David Hawgood, 26 Cloister Road, Acton, London W3 ODE. Web Address <http://www.hawgood.co.uk> 1999, 20pp, A5, illustrations. Order from Family Tree Magazine, 61 Great Whyte, Ramsey, Huntingdon, Cambridgeshire PE17 1HL England <http://www.family-tree.co.uk> Price including postage overseas surface £2.39, surface £2.94. Also available on-line from the Society of Genealogists at <http://www.sog.org.uk>

The aim of this book is not to explain what the Internet is but to help you get the best out of those tools for your family history once you've got started. It will help everyone, from a family historian using the Internet for the first time to the computer expert. There is a comparison of different search methods and sites including directories, search engines, GENUKI, On-line Databases, Discussion Groups, Finding Surname Interest and Finding Living People. The examples used are UK based but there are two pages of Internet addresses that can help you with your searches anywhere in the world. I have found this book most helpful for myself and for teaching others about how to use the Internet effectively.

The Naming of "The Lost - Horse Hills"

BY PEGGY LITTLE LIVINGSTON

Kathy Robertson, who is a member of SGS, thought this article would be of interest to our members. Permission was granted by Peggy to publish article as written by Robert L. Gibson, Great Falls, Montana.

"Old Timers" will remember the summer of 1889 as one of the hottest and driest summers ever experienced in old Assiniboia. I only remember day after day those sizzling heat waves we could see rising in the distance. Father would say, "I'm sure that heat is coming right up from the Gulf of Mexico."

Not a blade of grass grew that summer. I can remember the ground at our door burning my bare feet. Many were the anxious inquiries among the settlers: "What is to be done for fall?" We had 400 sheep and a herd of cattle and horses. About the first of July, a council-of-action was called to assist the few living just north of what is now Alameda.

My brother and two neighbours were delegated to go on a trip of discovery. Food was cooked and prepared for at least a two-week trip.

They decided to go north towards the Moose Mountains. They found all hay lands were taken in the mountains north of Carlyle and all along the mountains west. So, they rounded through the pass west of where George Smith was settled.

Matt Morrison was on Moose Creek and had a shack up there. The party continued on up Moose Creek till they came to a hay marsh just northeast of Lost Horse Hills. The hay was splendid, and I suppose it grows there to this day - broad leaf in big tufts and moss. They dug a small well in the creek about one and a half miles south of the hills where camp was to be situated. They found frost at three feet in sinking the shallow well. There was six inches of dry grass that protected it from the hot sun. They then returned home to Alameda to report on the find. They got everything ready to return to cut and stack the hay, which they completed about the middle of August.

Mr. John Gruscott and I returned to Alameda to build sod buildings, which we completed in 30 days. We built a large sheep shed, two stables - 30 x 50, and also built a large sod shack. I was only 17 years old and they wondered if I would stand the heavy work, but I did. We had to go to a large ravine about four or five miles east or northeast for poles for roofing. In this coulee, many buffalo had been killed as many bones and skulls were lying in the bottom of the ravine in wild profusion. Apparently, the buffalo had been driven over the steep banks and shot. This was a favorite way to do it. We completed the buildings by November 1 and left to notify them at Alameda that all was ready for winter. The return trip with the stock was quite tedious but eventually, we got all the stock safely to winter quarters.

My mother, father, sister Josie (now Mrs. A. G. Paul, Alameda) my brother Porter (now Credit Manager for Security Lumber Co., Moose Jaw), Mr. Wm. G. A. Deyell and myself composed the wintering party. Mr. Deyell moved back to Ontario and since has passed away.

We settled in our quarters nicely for winter. We had a good supply of meat that winter, having had to kill off all our poultry, ducks, turkeys and chickens, also hogs. The stock did well and put on flesh. The hay was the best I ever saw - prairie hay. The milk was like off fresh grass. The butter was a lovely dark orange.

We went through the usual routine of rural life. We dug a well 16 feet deep and had the finest water possible to find in any country and an abundance of it. Around the middle of January, we caught 187 pike in a spring down the creek from where the buildings were situated. This was a fine addition to our supply of meats. About this time also, one bright sunny day, we saw a herd of 22 deer moving along the contour of the hills. We went hunting that afternoon and bagged two. That winter we got seven altogether. You can imagine how well fed we were, with seven kinds of meat to choose from: beef, pork, ducks, turkeys, chickens, fish and venison. Could anyone ask for better? My mother was a lavish cook and we enjoyed our meals out in the wilds.

Only one person called on us all through that winter. This person was Sam Hopper of Arcola. He drove up in a jumper<sup>1</sup> about the middle of December.

Winter passed away quite swiftly. We had one awful storm on February 9, 1890, one of those that come up with the swiftness of a hurricane. At the time, Porter was down at the spring where we caught the fish, watering the cattle. We all thought he was a "goner," but he was a wise kid, then only 14 years old. He grabbed a cow's tail and hung on, and the cattle led him back to the buildings. One poor old ox could not make it back and we found him dead next day, on his back, with his four feet up straight in the air. A man had overworked him, or he would have withstood the ordeal, we thought. The ox's name was Jonathan. We named him that in fun.

Spring came, and all the rest of the party went back to Alameda with the horses and cattle. My brother Porter and I stayed to keep the sheep until the roads allowed us to go home. We made many trips to "The Lost Horse Hills" during the month or five weeks we stayed behind. These hills had a fascination for us so, one bright day we climbed to the top of the large rough butte on the west end - "a noble pile of earth." While looking around, I spied a burnt match, and I turned to Porter and said, "Someone has been here and the only thing that would bring them would be hunting horses." I said "Let's name these hills, Lost Horse Hills." So we gathered rocks and printed out the name, April 1890 - 49 years since last April.

We used to go up there to see if we could spot any living things, anything human. We were lonesome to see someone in those days of isolation, but we never saw a living soul. It was solitude indeed; and I can sense that feeling right now, so still, just as nature made it. The Indians used this hill down the ages as a lookout post for game and enemies. So far as the formation of the hill is concerned, my opinion is that a great glacier hung just north of the hills and protected the levelling of the formation as the plains by the great run off. This part of the west, to my mind, was a great big mud puddle. The Moose Mountains were formed in the same way. In particular, the south side is abrupt. The ice must have melted away and left it as it is, with a fairly straight fall.

We started on our journey home May 1, 1890, with 400 sheep. I think those sheep were the first ever brought into Saskatchewan. We had a slow, very tortuous journey and arrived May 10. We were very glad to get back. Little lambs were born the last two days of our trip, so we had to deposit them in boxes and boilers in the wagon. Mother said there was a lamb in every nook and corner.

I forgot to say we found the remains of the last buffalo killed in Saskatchewan. This buffalo was shot and wounded by a man named Hazzard who homesteaded near the "Gap" but the buffalo got away and crossed Moose Creek, and Hazzard never could find it. I told him about finding some remains. He said, "No doubt it was the one I shot." He shot it in 1886 and this was in 1890. We found the remains about ten miles south of our camp west of Moose Creek. My father had a close call with his life with a buck deer just west of Lost Horse Butte. The deer was wounded, and it dashed at him. He warded it off with his rifle and it dropped dead at his feet. This deer had plenty of horns too.

I look back on those days of pioneering with satisfaction, having been privileged to live through it and see things in the making. ++++

The 1935 Federal Electoral Roll for Disley, Stony Beach and Keystown, Saskatchewan

TRANSCRIBED BY KENNETH G. AITKEN

This 1935 voters list covers the eligible electors of Federal Rural Polling Division Number 11, of the Lake Centre Electoral District. This division comprises township 18, and that portion of township 19 south of the Qu'Appelle River, in range 23 west of the 2nd meridian. The Polling Station appears to take its name from the Fairville School District.

The village of Disley is located just east of this polling district. The Canadian National Railway's siding of Keystown, (named for the Keys family in this list falls in the polling district) and in 1935 the post office was located at Section 11, Township 18, Range 23 West of the 2nd Meridian. Stony Beach is a hamlet in the northwest quarter of Section 30, Township 17, Range 28 West of the Second. However, the Stony Beach Post office located at Section 6, Township 18, Range 23 West of the 2nd falls within the polling district.

Many of these families are mentioned in Pense Community 1882-1982, a copy of which can be found in the Prairie History Room of Regina Public Library. Those families that were in the area in the early 1920s will be listed in Mona Morrow's Index of names Located on Cummins Rural Directory Map, 1922 Issue of the Regina Area in Saskatchewan (Regina: [Mona Morrow] 1990).

The value of voters lists like this is that they are perhaps the best substitute of nominal census returns in times when censuses are not available. As the immediate future of public access to 20th century Canadian census returns is rather bleak, lists like this one are going to be of greater value to the genealogist in the new century ahead. Elsewhere I have described the process of locating 1935 federal electoral rolls and locating the appropriate constituency and polling station.

If you would like to see this listing for yourself you will need Microfilm reel: M-4763 which is available in the Prairie History Room at the Regina Public Library.

Birth Briefs

Have you ever wondered how people proved who they were and how old they were before the days of civil registration? It is likely true that very few people were called upon to prove that they were who they claimed to be in those early days. A Birth Brief was used by individuals who needed to provide proof of their identity. These were documents that were created by having witnesses swear under oath before magistrates of the town, that the family and the individual were known to them personally, and that they were willing to verify that the claim to kinship was honest.

Many people were attracted to Eastern Europe as merchants, soldiers or business enterprises and later might want to prove they were from an important or a respectable family. Perhaps a member of the family expired in a foreign land leaving no heirs, and local members of the family, would need a brief to prove they were entitled to the estate.

The SGS library has acquired a copy of Birth Briefs of Aberdeen 1637-1705 that makes interesting reading. Under Innes, Walter there is a detailed account of relationships between several families, a member of which was a Catherine Pitendrich. The only dates that appear is the one when the certificates was "extended in ample form".

Looking For Ancestors

DEEP shadows post farewell to parting day,
Solemn tolls the church clock from the tower high;
I put away my pen and wend my way
From the silent graveyard where my ancestors lie.
Night owls swoop and hoot their raucous calls;
Bright fireflies come dancing on the air;
Inside these timeworn, friendly, grey stone walls,
Generations of my forebears lie a-sleeping there.
'Neath sturdy oaks and ancient elms they rest,
Midst crumbling, tumbling, flaking, rough-hewed stones;
And weary, but exultant, in my quest,
I pay my lonely tribute to their perished bones.
Where now I stand in tranquil meditation,
Once walked a merry host of kinsfolk grand;
Many a village swain did find his inspiration
To woo a fair young lass, a-strolling hand in hand.
Their names have all but vanished now,
Who once did tread these paths with strides so bold;
Yet they bequeathed to us a fleeting vow
Of better lives and dreams, these steadfast folks of old.
Soft moonlight strays across the muted churchyard,
Sends eerie shadows flickering through the trees,
And if I raise my head and harken hard
The voices of my forebears come whispering on the breeze.
Now far too soon the cloaking night has come,
My search must end, alas, to my deep sorrow;
But, rest assured, until my quest is done
I will be here again upon the morrow.

Saskatchewan Local History Books

A committee has been struck for a millennium project to develop a bibliography of all local history books ever published in Saskatchewan.

SGS is a member of the committee and is asking its members to support this project . We ask that you send us information on Saskatchewan local history book collections and any local history books that you may have in your collection or know about. We need the following information: complete name of book, location(s) covered, publisher, printer, date published and number of pages.

For more information contact Marge at (306)780-9207 or e-mail:

Cemetery Program

BY LINDA NEELY
Cemetery Coordinator

In 1999 the cemetery program totals were boosted to 3,096 located, 1,838 recorded and 736 entered into the SRI database. We now have maps for all but four RM's. The remaining ones are #17, 40, 372 and 404. A big thank you to everyone who contributed maps and to the Grenfell Branch who have been working very hard on the map collection.

The RM maps we have for the following RM's are 20-30 years old. We would like current maps if possible: 1, 9, 12, 35, 99, 101, 103, 107, 111, 122, 123, 124, 139, 141, 154, 155, 157, 161, 169, 171, 181, 183, 211, 219, 230, 232, 241, 243, 244, 245, 247, 273, 274, 279, 286, 287, 305, 310, 315, 342, 345, 347, 350, 367, 401, 426, 458, 463, 464.

We have expanded the web site information a little bit by adding the last burial date (if known) in addition to the recording date. This will help researchers in narrowing down information, as often the last burial date is many decades before the cemetery was found and recorded. There are about thirty (30) visitors a day to the cemetery index, so we know it is being used. Thank you to our SGS volunteers who help to enter the web site data, it is a continuous job and there always seems to be changes to be made with each update, which happens about twice a year. If you have some free time on your hands, we need some more volunteers to help in entering the cemetery data onto the SRI. You may do this from your home.

As always it is the SGS volunteers who really make the cemetery program happen and I extend the Society's thanks and appreciation.

Please feel free to contact me at lnelly@cableregina.com if you have any stories about recording, information about cemeteries or questions about cemeteries. I'll be glad to get them.

What Does That Mean?

Inst. Or instant [in a date] refers to something that happened in the current month. Ult. or Ultimo [in a date] refers to something that happened in the previous month.

When reading French-language records, the adjective "feu" found before a man's name and "feue" before a woman's name indicates that the person is deceased [as in the late John Smith].

Computer Corner

BY CHRIS KRISMER

Recall the saying, "Patience is a virtue."? Whether you are entering data and sourcing, waiting for someone to answer a letter or surfing the net, you must be patient.

Careful data and complete source entry means you won't likely have to redo or go over your work again. Complete sourcing results in easier access to your source, should you need to go back again or if you pass it on to someone else. The same applies to the software you choose. A careful study of what is available with an idea of what you expect to do with your data will help you when you are working with your program. It is frustrating to go into a store expecting to have choices and to find there are very few, if any. I also question choices, when the same company owns the rights to several programs. That in itself need not be a problem, if upgrades are done so that a program keeps its distinctive style. Just as a matter of information Broderbund now owns Family TreeMaker, Family Origins and one more, if I am correct.

For your interest I am giving you an Internet site that you can visit for a listing of many of the genealogy software programs available for your use. Pros and Cons of the programs are given for some and you can download a demo of any you may wish to try: <http://www.gensoftsb.com/>

They had a list of Mac programs. One of those programs may interest some. It is GENE, a shareware program. You can find it at: <http://www.ics.uci.edu/~eppstein/gene/>

What I would like to deal with mainly in this article is – using your software to its potential. I know most of us have not done this or even tried many of the features. What kind of charts or print outs is your program capable of and what would you like to be able to do, do you know?

We recognize that we can print group sheets, individual sheets, and descendancy or ascendancy outlines. We can print out generation reports. Timelines can be very interesting, especially if you incorporate your family times lines with historical time lines. A general overview of the events and the times of a family can be combined with descendancy charts of son # 1, son #2, and daughters. Each of these can have pictures and stories incorporated. You may use some of these when going on a research trip – lots of information on less paper.

Have you ever exported your generation report to a RTF (rich text file), opened it in your word processor and then embellished or edited it? This can easily be done with each family member as a unit or as one big report of all the ascendants or descendants of one person. Again, when you are trying all of these things with your program, be patient. If a particular format doesn't appeal, try another.

Perhaps the only drawback to this may be that should you make changes in the data, notes or sources in the program, you don't automatically get the changes in your writing. You have to start over and you cannot carry the editing done in the word processor back to the program. A major editing would likely not want to be done until you are ready to publish. As you are working with your program, try some of these features with a small group or family. You may be pleasantly surprised at what you can produce.

When printing out pedigree charts or ancestral charts you may want to check what options you have. If there are say three or four of you as siblings, you may want to start with the siblings list and print out the chart from there. In that way the same sheet can be copied or shared with your siblings and no one has to be offended because their name doesn't appear in the number one spot – you are all there. Printing pedigree or ancestry charts with three or four generations on a page will allow you then to print another pedigree chart with the last ancestor as number one, thus going back as far as you want and still having a nice typed chart that is easy to follow. In some programs, you can print out a six or eight page pedigree chart that then requires you to tape it together to make one big chart. One of these at home on a wall is fine but it is not as convenient to use when you are going on a research trip.

I came across this little tip that may interest some of you. It relates to keeping a log of your research on the computer in NOTEPAD. Notepad has a feature that allows you to date and time stamp each time you open a file. Here's how to do it:

1. Open a new notepad document.
2. Type .LOG on the first line.
3. Save as – use whatever file name you choose and remember where you are saving it.
4. Now close it and reopen it.

You should see the current time and date stamped there waiting for your journal entry, research notes or whatever. When you have filled the document up with entries, you can start another in the same way. The text including date and time stamp can be copied and pasted into your favorite word processor or genealogy program whenever you like. It really saves work and saves a lot of time. Try it.

Internet

Here again, you need to be patient. There are times of the day when the Internet highway is busier than other times. This means travel will be slower. Another thing that sometimes happens is addresses change and what was a correct address today may not be tomorrow. It is a good practice to bookmark sites you may want to go back to or that you may find interesting but do not have the time to search presently. If the site doesn't prove worthwhile after you have book marked it – remove the bookmark.

I cannot emphasize enough the importance of making sure your data is correct and well sourced before you share it with anyone, especially if you choose to put your family tree on the Net. It is doubly important that whatever you enter into your information from the Net is accurate and complete with sources! More and more genealogy pages are being uploaded to the Net. It is your responsibility to keep your tree accurate. With the ease with which we can communicate you can easily see how inaccurate information can be spread very quickly.

One final address for you that is constantly improving and expanding, thus giving you all kinds of help for genealogy research, is Cyndi's Home Page. The web site is: <http://www.cyndislist.com>

She has over 50,000 links to almost anything or anywhere you may wish to search – a site well worth book marking and visiting often.

Notes to the Financial Statements
December 31, 1999

1. GENERAL

The Society is incorporated under the Non-Profit Corporations Act of Saskatchewan. Its primary objective is the promotion and development of the study, research, and preservation of genealogy and family history in Saskatchewan.

2. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The Society has adopted the practice of recording capital assets as expenditures in the year acquired. This procedure was adopted in order that grants received, which are based on anticipated capital expenditures, as well as usual operating expenditures, might be more closely matched with the corresponding expenditures.

In order to accurately reflect the financial position of the Society, the capital assets are then recorded with an offsetting credit to "Equity in Capital Assets". Depreciation is recorded on the straight line basis on computer equipment at 40% per annum and 20% on other equipment. This is recorded as a charge to "Equity in Capital Assets".

Total capital assets charged to operations during the year were $3,003 (1998 - $2,705)

3. DEFERRED REVENUES

BARNETT: Seek info on grandfathers brother Harry (Harold) Barnett who came from Kingston on Thames, London. His father was a Metropolitan Policeman, who I believe served at Holborn, by the name George Barnett and he married Emily (nee Town). Ernest Barnett (his brother and my grandfather) was b in 1882 and Harry was younger (year of birth unknown). George, Emily and Ernest moved to Bournemouth in 1911, I do not know if Harry came with them or if he was already married and continued to live in London. Harry apparently divorced his wife Lilah (name I was given) and subsequently remarried in Canada and had another child. Believe that he died of cancer without returning home. Jill Owen, 6 Noyce Gardens, Townsend, Bournemouth, Dorset England BH8 0JZ.

BURDEN: Edward and Mary Burden and their children George, Richard, John, Edmund Kenward, Sarah, Mahala and Olive Jane came to Canada in April or May 1843. Traveling with them were Susan

Boorman (b.1828), Robert Bridger (b.1823), Hezekiah and Elizabeth Iden and their children George, Carolyn and Elizabeth. Any info about any of these people would be appreciated. Mary Sones, 1109 95th Avenue, Dawson Creek BC V1G 1J2.
