A SURVEY OF FRENCH-CANADIAN RESEARCH SOURCES AT THE BERKSHIRE ATHENAEUM

By Ruth T. Degenhardt

Researchers who visit the Athenaeum are frequently surprised to discover that the Local History Collection includes not only Berkshire County, State of Massachusetts and other New England records but also materials relating to eastern New York and to eastern Canada. The following is a survey of the kinds of resources available for those searching for French-Canadian families.

Most French-Canadian migration to the Berkshire area dates from the 19th century, when many families came here to work in mills. However, some families had lived in Canada for two centuries or more, and many maintained ties with their families in Canada after they moved to the United States. The Athenaeum has the usual sources available for locating information about families in this country - census, directories, vital records compilations, town and family histories, etc. However, the library's holdings also include major French-Canadian research materials, both in print and in microform, as well as in computer sources.

The most important and comprehensive sources are Rene Jette's Dictionnaire Genealogique du Quebec, Cyprian Tanguay's Dictionnaire Genealogique des Familles Canadiennes, including the Complement (containing corrections to the original volumes), The Loiselle Marriage Index (microfiche), the PRDH of the University of Montreal (Programme de recherche en demographie historique). In addition, the library has more than 100 Parish Registers, primarily from Quebec [but not solely], and mostly listing marriages, but sometimes including baptisms and deaths. Forty-seven volumes of the PDRH are available at the Athenaeum (not the complete set), containing baptisms, marriages, burials, census and other information from the 17th century through 1765. There is an excellent guide to this set, in English, which explains codes used and the information that is contained in these volumes. The PRDH is both comprehensive and authoritative. It may also be accessed at www.genealogy.umontreal.ca for a subscription fee. The Tanguay and Jette volumes also cover the early period of Canadian settlement. All three of these sources will be useful to researchers who have traced their families back to the mid-18th century. The Loiselle microfiche, however, include marriages into the 20th century, as do many of the Parish Registers in our Collection. The Loiselle Marriage Index not only provides the date and church (parish) where a marriage took place, but also the names of the parents of each party, including the maiden name of the mother. This index is arranged alphabetically by Husbands' and Wives' last names (in separate sections - so labeled), then within each section, alphabetically by the spouse's last name. It is often possible to trace back through several generations using this source. One still must fill in the blanks (births, deaths, siblings, etc.), but this source can provide giant steps into the past. Family History Researcher Joe Lavelle has provided us with an Index to the Parish Registers in our collection (not a personal name index), arranged both by the name of the Parish and the County, so that it is easier to locate the specific volume needed. The index includes Parish Registers on Microfiche (which are sometimes overlooked) as well as the printed versions.

In addition to the Mormon's Family Search and the microfilm available from the LDS Church in Salt Lake City (using the LDS Library Catalog, and ordering through the Loan Program in Local History), Local History has numerous other programs available on CD-ROM, including the 1881 Canadian Census, acquired recently. This is an excellent source of information, and anyone using it should be sure to check the Help Screen for information about this particular census, including how it is organized, the date of record, frequently asked questions and answers, browsing tips, an explanation of terms used, how Chinese and Indian names are listed, etc. It is well worth printing this out and keeping this information at hand, if you expect to be doing any amount of research with this census. This may help prevent the misinterpretation of the information found and provide clues for further searches. The Local History Department also has a Catalogue of census returns on microfilm (Public Archives of Canada) through 1901 (the last census available in Canada), which allows researchers to find reel numbers and order film (through Interlibrary Loan) from the National Archives of Canada in Ottawa. In addition, please note that the Silvio Conte National Archives Branch in Pittsfield has recently added the 1891 Canadian Census on microfilm to their holdings, which include Canadian Border Crossing Records beginning in 1895.

Our periodical collection includes the American-Canadian Genealogist (Manchester, N.H.), Connections (Quebec Family History Society, Pointe Claire, PQ), Lifelines: Official Journal of the Northern New York American-Canadian Genealogical Society (Plattsburgh, N.Y.), Acadian Genealogy Exchange, Je Me Souviens (Pawtucket, R.I.) and others, such as New England Ancestors (NEHGS), which often feature articles on French-Canadian research. Periodical research is frequently overlooked, particularly in these days of online searches, but valid, documented records may be found in these sources, and since the publication of the PERSI Index (available in the Athenaeum), periodical articles are much more easily found.

The Athenaeum has a number of published guides to French-Canadian research, some within general Canadian works, which provide an introduction to the subject. One of the most recent in our collection is Miller's Manual: A research guide to the major French-Canadian genealogical resources, what they are and how to use them.... Everyone interested in the field should look at this book. Other very important sources include books and articles on French-Canadian names and (horrors!) the dreaded "Dit" names including French-Canadian Names: Vermont variants and French-Canadian Surnames, aliases, adulterations and Anglicizations. In addition, researchers should be aware that when using the Loiselle Index, they may find the word "Voir" instead of the name they are seeking. This is a "See" reference and may refer you to another name for a particular family.

Finally, two extremely important sources: first, a good French Language Dictionary which will provide a guide not only to words and their meaning but to their pronunciation which can be vital, especially when the census taker or priest speaks and writes a different language. I have two examples of this from my one French-Canadian line; my Gt. Gt. Grandmother's maiden name was (Louisa) Carcagne or Carcagneau. This is a very unusual surname. It is even more unusual when written out by an American census taker: my Gt. Gt. Grandmother had married my Gt. Gt. Grandfather (Moses LePorte), and the census listed her along with her husband and children. In addition, at the end of this list was a "Nicholas Cockanew" - after staring and pondering, I finally realized that this was likely my ancestor's younger brother, mangles though the name appeared. The second example is the way my LePorte ancestors spelled their name (and pronounced it). At some point the spelling changed from La to Le Porte and my Grandmother always insisted that the name be pronounced LEE Porte. At one time this family was in Lowell, Massachusetts, and I had not had any luck locating them in the state and federal census. Some years ago I mentioned this to Walter Hickey, formerly with the Pittsfield branch if the National Archives, now at the Waltham Branch. Walter knows everything, and especially, Walter knows Lowell! He knew where the French-Canadians lived in Lowell during this period, and checked the pertinent wards in the census. I had given him the names of the children, the parents, etc. He was able to trace them using this information - certainly not by the spelling of their last name! In one census the surname appeared as "Leapo" and in the other as "Leopold." During the past year, as I was reading through page after page of Montreal census (not indexed) looking for my Irish ancestors (yes, Irish), I found a very odd name: Ouelch. A "Ouelch" born in Ireland, no less. Ouest is the French word for west. "Ou" sounds like the English "ooWa." I've often wondered if the Welch family ever looked for and found this ancestor!
