SOME TYRRELL FAMILY HISTORY

By Leland Tyrrell, October, 1973

From the Stanley Moore Collection, Berkshire Athenaeum, Pittsfield, Mass.

My father and also Uncle Hayden talked many times about the family burying grounds in Berkshire County. As Dad told the story, I got the impression that there was a Tyrrell cemetery and also a Pettibone cemetery and that these two cemeteries were side by side. Actually, it was not exactly like this, but let me go back and start with our first stop in Pittsfield.

We had no idea about how to trace records. I supposed that the court house was the place to go, but I was told by a lady in the restaurant where we ate breakfast that we would have to have dates as well as names if we were to find anything there. She suggested that we go to the public library where there was a room devoted to the history of Berkshire County. She also told us of a Miss Terrell who was a travel agent who had recently died. We paged through the telephone directory which listed all the towns in that part of the county and found that there was only one family left in the county whose name even resembled ours. They spelled their name "Tirrell." I am sure that if we had had a chance to visit with Miss Terrell before she died, she could have given us a good bit of information.

We killed a couple of hours at the library waiting for the library historian to come in. When she arrived, she was very helpful. We found, dating back 100 to 200 years, the name "Terrell," "Tirrell," "Tyrrel," and I thought the most interesting of all was "Tirril." Apparently, the family spelled by ear, and these people must have been related. This is not strange when those of us who have family history dated back to the Norman Conquest find Terrell the Red Knight of Normandy and other Terrells of that day spelling the name with "Ty," "Ti," "Te," and with almost any combination of "r," and "l."

We tried very hard to find the records concerning Grandpa Truman Tyrrell and finally found the marriage record for great-grandfather Seymore Tyrrel who spelled his name with one "l." He was a resident of Pittsfield and married Miss Nancy Whipple of Cheshire, August 13, 1840. This, of course, did make the marriage date right for Grandfather Truman Tyrrell to be the right age to serve in the Civil War.

In the record books, I found the name Truman and Seymore repeated. For instance, there was a Truman Tyrrel whose death notice was in 1820. I concluded that the name Seymore and Truman were family names that were cropping up in each generation. What I found later at the cemetery confirmed this.

I was greatly disturbed because time was so short. I had a speaking date for that night, which was at least two hundred miles away in the mountains of New Hampshire, so I had to watch my time. I spent until two o'clock in the afternoon paging through a record book of all soldiers who went from Massachusetts to serve in the Civil War. I found a number of Tyrrells who spelled their name a variety of ways, but by the time I was half way through the book, I knew I could not spare any more time and keep my speaking date for the evening, so I tore myself loose. I talked to the librarian at length about the Tyrrell and Pettibone cemeteries. Death notices dating back two hundred years were in the books.

As I left, the librarian told me there was an old cemetery about five miles out that might be worth looking at. I didn't have time to look up any cemeteries that afternoon and so started on my way. About five miles down the road I came upon an old cemetery. The grave markers were moved every way, but the grass was kept up perfectly. In spite of the lateness of the hour, I simply had to stop. I started walking through the rows of tomb stones, and about a third of the way back near the right hand side of the cemetery, I suddenly came upon the tomb stones of our ancestors on the Tyrrell side of the house. The all spelled the name with one "l." Here are the records as I copied them off the tomb stones. I took pictures of the tomb stones. I don't know yet how they will turn out. If they turn out well, I will have slides available for any members of the family who want them. (I messed up on the pictures.)

In New England they have paper, chalk, and charcoal, and take what they call "rub-bings" off the old tomb stones. If I go back, I will certainly take rubbings for all of my family. The first tomb stone reading from right to left read: "In memory of Seymore Tyrrel, son of Mr. Truman and Mrs. Serviah Tyrrel who departed this life September 9, 1814, age 30 years, 1 month and 27 days." Obviously, this Seymore Tyrrel is too early to be great-grandfather Seymore because great-grandfather Seymore was married in 1840. This first tomb stone indicates that if he was the son of Truman Tyrrel, then there had to be a Truman and a Seymore and a second Truman and Seymore.

Right beside this tomb stone was a little white marker: "In memory of Hiram Tyrrel, son of Truman Tyrrel, Jr. and Auralia Tyrrel, who departed this life September 18, 1818, age 5 years, 3 months, and 15 days."

The next tomb stone: "In memory of Servia." This second spelling did not coincide with the first. Across the tomb stone was chiseled "who depart" ("ed" was chiseled above because the man who did the chiseling ran out of space!) "this life June 27, 1820, age 57 years, 3 months, and 20 days." Underneath was "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord."

The next one read "In memory of Truman Tyrrel who died August 27, 1829, age 72 years." This would have to be the Truman Tyrrel who was the son of the first Seymore Tyrrel who was the father of the second Seymore Tyrrel who was the father of our grandfather Truman Tyrrel.

By the way, before I leave the Tyrrells and go to the Pettibones, I might state that I found a Jacob Tyrrell spelling his name as we do in the 1790 census of Hampshire County, Massachusetts. As I said, there was only one Tyrrell left in the phone directory in Berkshire County. They spelled their name "Tirrell." I tried to contact them by phone but got only some children who knew nothing about family ancestry.

It seems that the Tyrrell family has no living descendants in Berkshire County, but I was told that there are many Tyrrells in Hampshire County. If I were to go back again, I would certainly search for Tyrrells and families who had Tyrrell genealogy in Hampshire County. I found that the name Tyrrell spelled in a variety of ways is as common in the New England states as warts on a toad.

It might interest you to note that everybody had a hard time pronouncing my name because the name is pronounced as though it were "Ter" as in "turf," and the emphasis is on "ell."

The Pettibone family of course was interesting because grandfather Truman Tyrrell was married to Sarah Pettibone. All the records that I found concerning the Pettibone family were early records. There were two tomb stones in two different locations in the cemeteries. The first that I located was Mrs. Savannah, wife of Roger Pettibone, died October (the day was obscure) 1796. Beside that tomb stone was the tomb of Mr. Roger Pettibone who died February 7, 1797 in the 70 year of his age.

Then on the other side of the cemetery to the right and to the back, I found Frances A. Pettibone, wife of George D. Pratt, died April 25, 1885, AE 54 years.

Evidently the Pettibones were such a proud people that they wanted the Pettibone name to be written even after they were married so he had her maiden name on the tomb stone. The other record was the name of Daniel Pettibone, died December 6, 1848, age 51. And on the same marker was "Lydia, his wife, December 30 (but I could not read the birth date) died May 14, 1882." Between two of these tomb stones there was a marble vault which must have belonged to still another member of the family, but the years had washed away the dates and other information.

I think that anybody who wanted to search for further information concerning our family history could begin with my findings and secure a great deal more information, particularly in Hampshire County rather than in Berkshire County where I am told that many Tyrrells live today.

(A postscript) One of our early ancestors founded Tyrrell County, North Carolina. It was originally spelled Tyrrel.

THIRD ANNUAL REUNION OF THE SONS AND DAUGHTERS OF WASHINGTON, AT SIBLEY'S GROVE, SEPTEMBER 4, 1911

From the Vault Pamphlet File, Berkshire Athenaeum, Pittsfield, Mass.

INTRODUCTION

The suggestion that we have a reunion coming from one of our number, Mrs. Lena Messenger Needham, has proven a great success and the interest has steadily increased from year to year. All have felt it a good thing to meet again after many ears of separation and hear the familiar voices and look into the faces of our early friends again. Old memories have been revived and interesting incidents and reminiscences have been brought to mind.

The hills and valleys where we spent our childhood days are historic and full of interest. With much labor the Fathers and Mothers toiled to bring up their families and give them better privileges and larger opportunities than they themselves had had.

"It sounds so lovely, what our fathers did,
Our work is, as was theirs to them
Toilsome and incomplete."

The homestead where we have enjoyed the hospitality of the present owner at these reunions has an interesting history. The original owner is to us unknown but in the year 1799 it was owned by one Barney Thompson. After his death this homestead was bought by Ezra Sibley, who was, in turn, succeeded by his son, Daniel. The original house forms an ell of the one which is now standing, his son, Daniel, building the main portion of the house in 1822.

In front of the grove where we gather each year may be seen traces of the old highway which leads down to the swamps which are the source of Mud Pond. This pond is one of the tributaries of the Housatonic River. Just the other side of the Washington summit, the springs there are tributaries of the Connecticut River, this being the divide between the two rivers. For a number of years this swamp was spanned by a bridge some 500 feet in length. It was called the floating bridge. It is interesting to know that during the time it was occupied as a highway nine different bridges were built and each, in turn, sank as the plank and timbers gradually became heavy and watersoaked, at last becoming dangerous for teams to drive over. Many will still remember the last bridge which was submerged in water to the depth of nearly two feet when it finally disappeared about the year 1853-4 when the present highway was changed to its present location.

Before the advent of the Western Railroad, now the Boston and Albany, this farm was intact and at the northeast, beyond the Station are the ruins and cellar holes which mark the homesteads of the early settlers, one of whom, Charles Haskins, is still living at Rockford, Illinois.

How few of our numbers have remained in the town or its vicinity. We surely have not heeded the words of the poet who said:

"Were it not better to linger here on the hills of our fathers?
On the green slopes, won by our fathers, were it not well to remain?"

While we note the many changes which have taken place around us here, we can see that many things have been for the benefit of those who still remain on the hilltops or in the valleys. We surely can appreciate the words:

"We tread a better earth today
Than that the fathers knew,
A broader skyline rounds the way
To realms of deeper blue."

SECRETARY'S REPORT

The third annual meeting of the Sons and Daughters of Washington was held at Sibley's Grove near Washington station, Labor Day, September 7, 1911.

The day was an ideal one, with scarcely a cloud in the sky, just such a day as natives of the good old town seem to believe they are entitled to for such an occasion. Morning trains brought visitors from far and near and by noon more than 200 responded to the dinner bell and were ready to do justice to the lunch baskets. At two o'clock Rev. E. E. Stuart, pastor of the Methodist Church, addressed those assembled, bidding them welcome to their old home town. Others taking part in the program were, Fred Bond of Detroit, Mich., John A. Manley of Harrison, Tenn., James A. Savery of Pittsfield, Amos S. Crane of Boston, Charles Sheldon French of Dalton, Mrs. Emma Manley Bailey of Middletown, Conn., and Frank P. Sargent of West Springfield. They were introduced by the president, Mr. John W. Crane, in his characteristic way.

Miss Sargent of Pittsfield gave a fine reading and Ben Chadwick of Westfield sang several original selections.

Mr. James R. Savery and Mrs. Emma Bailey were appointed to call on Mr. Charles Crosier and extend regrets that he was unable to be with us. Mr. Savery reported the result of the call.

The treasurer reported $13.96 in the treasury. A collection amounting to $37.40 was taken, making a total of $51.36.

Mr. E. M. Powers of Dalton announced that a prize of a gold watch is offered to the oldest member of the family registering the largest number at the next meeting, after which election of officers took place as follows: President, John W. Crane; Vice-President, Michael Corcoran; Secretary, Mrs. Lena Messenger Needham; Treasurer, Gilbert E. Manley; Executive Committee: E. M. Powers, Dalton, George Messenger and G. G. Simmons of Washington, Mrs. Emma Manley Bailey, Middletown, Miss Frances Crosier, Springfield, Catherine Corcoran and Frank P. Sargent of West Springfield, John Sweeney, Mittineague, Fred Bond, Detroit, Mich., Thomas P. Corcoran, Westfield, Amos S. Crane of Boston, George A. Bills of Palmer, Thomas Fleming of Middlefield, James R. Savery of Pittsfield, Mrs. Molineux of Becket.

Mrs. Lena Messenger Needham
Secretary.

Member Pat Skinner¹ has sent us the following additional info: "In your Spring 2005 issue you said, 'The exact routes taken during Revolutionary War troop movements have always been a bone of contention for historians, not to mention the towns through which the troops were alleged to have passed.' My ancestor was John Hulet, 2nd, who lived in Tyringham during the Rev. War and later moved to Lee. He also lived for a short time in Beartown (the town was named after a fight he had with a bear), Barrington and Hudson where he said he owned 'the first house built by New England people in that place.' In his pension record, he said on their way to Ticonderoga in 1776, 'We marched from Tyringham as near as I can recollect the 14th of October through Stockbridge, Lenox, Pittsfield, Lanesborough, Williamstown, Pownal, Bennington, Shaftsbury, Ellinton, Pawlet, and so on to Skenesborough as it was then called, but now White Hall. Then we took boats and hurried down Lake Champlain in consequence of an (illegible) which was sent to us at White Hall to Ticonderoga. We went to Fort Independence. When we first started from Tyringham we were on horseback and rode until the roads became so bad that we could ride no further to a new town. We then sent our horses back and took our provisions on our backs as there was at that time no getting provisions till we got a considerable distance. It was about 150 miles to Skenesborough as it was called and very bad traveling. We stayed at Fort Independence until the British retreated which was a considerable time after we arrived there.'"

In the new high school building that is to be erected before many years [1895. Ed.], apartments should be set apart for the journalistic department. The lack of such accommodations has been sadly felt for the past year.

Miss Angie Dresser of this town is the exchange editor of The Student's Pen, the publication of the high school in Pittsfield. I have seen many school papers in my time, but I am free to say that the Pittsfield pupils have gotten out a brighter and handsomer and better-written paper than I remember to have seen anywhere.

THE BOOKSTALL

The Eleazer Barrett Identity Puzzle, by Brian S. Barrett. 66 pages with index, soft cover. $7.00, postpaid in U.S. Order from the author at BSB Technical Services, 805 Minaka Drive, Waukesha, WI 53188.

As a direct ancestor of the Barretts of Alford, Massachusetts and someone wishing to publish accounts about these people, it was important to have an accurate picture of their lives and activities. Amazingly, there were five men named Eleazer Barrett who lived in Alford. Therefore it was quite important to distinguish between them.

These five Eleazer Barretts were all related to one another. During several decades, they lived near each other, a condition that created uncertainty about their identities. Most of the time, it was possible to distinguish between them by matching historical records and their ages. In the rare instance when it was not possible to determine who fit a particular circumstance, it was noted in the text.

This book is an historical account of the five Eleazers, who lived in various places in Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York and Indiana, and is heavily footnoted with many citations from primary sources.

SLOCUM GENEALOGY

From the William Bradford Browne Collection, Berkshire Athenaeum, Pittsfield, Mass.

Generation 1 Anthony Slocum

Generation 2 Giles Slocum

Generation 3 Ebenezer Slocum Born in Portsmouth 25th of first month (March) 1650. Married Mary daughter of Edward Thurston. He was Deputy in 1679, and often speaker in the Assembly.

He was a very earnest and influential member of the Society of Friends, an enterprising farmer and owned much land. In 1710 he gave the land for the Friends meeting house in Jamestown, and in the same year he gave an acre to the Society of South Kingston. The Friends Record of Deaths has this entry: "Ebenezer Slocum of Jamestown in ye colony of Rhoad Island aged 65 years and neare a month, being of good reputation and sarvis in the Church of Christ he departed theare at his own house ye 13th day of ye second month about ye 11th hour of ye night in ye year 1715 and was buried in the Friends burying ground in Jamestown."

In an early volume entitled "Piety Promoted" published in 1723 there is a long account of him, from which these extracts are quoted.

"Ebenezer Slocumb who departed this life 1715 was born in Portsmouth 1652 and his education among the people called Baptists. Being a man of great stature, and strong and nimble of body he was given to civil recreations. When about 20 years of age he heard George Fox preach on the Quakers and at about the time of his marriage became converted and in a few years undertook the work of the ministry in which he proved himself a laborer who needed not to be ashamed. He was sound in doctrine, a great minister and mediator of the truth. He was made an overseer of the churches in this part and acquitted himself like a true servant of Christ. He traveled in his work for 36 years, both in the colonies of New England, Long Island, East and West Jersey, Pennsylvania and Maryland. In 1714 he travelled to Boston, Lynn, Salem and Dover taking leave of his friends whom he never expected to see again. Thus he with such sweetness continued a faithful elder until he was taken ill and continued weak all winter. During his illness he often talked of his desire that the Friends should keep in love and unity. Almost his last words were "I desire thee to remember my love to all Friends in New England."

He had twelve children. The sixth was Ebenezer, Jr., Born Jan. 20, 1696 who married Naomi, daughter of Benjamin Barton. He died in 1715 and soon after had a posthumous daughter named Ruth who became the 2nd wife of Peter Wells (3--2--1) and was the mother of Mary, Naomi, Samuel, John, Peter and probably others who came to Adams, all of whom were Quakers.

GAMWELL FAMILY

From A Genealogical Record of the Descendants of Gamwell in New England, In the Family History File, Berkshire Athenaeum, Pittsfield, Mass.

- I. Samuel Gamwell was living in Northboro, Mass. in 1730. His wife was Ann Hambleton, whom he married March 11, 1741. By her he had a son John. She was his second wife.
- II. John Gamwell was born in Northboro, Mass. Sept. 7, 1742 and died April 10, 1813. By his second wife, Jane Hamilton, he had, among other children, a son, Samuel. Jane Hamilton was born Sept. 30, 1734 and died April 19, 1813. The family moved to Chester, Mass. John served seven days in the Revolutionary War.
- III. Samuel Gamwell was born (probably in Northboro) Jan. 20, 1784. He died April 3, 1858. His wife was Clarissa Moore, born in New Marlboro, Mass. June 18, 1790, and died in Providence, R.I., May 2, 1868. They were married in October, 1810, and had nine children, among them, Franklin Burt Gamwell. Samuel is buried in Huntington Street Cemetery, Chester.
- IV. Franklin Burt Gamwell was born in New Marlboro, Mass., July 29, 1829 and died in Holliston, Mass., March 26, 1904. He married Victoria C. Maxwell of Shelburne Falls, Mass. on Nov. 29, 1866. They had three children, one of them Irving H. Gamwell.
- V. Irving H. Gamwell was born in Weymouth, Mass., July 21, 1871. He married Sarah Wilson Boyer of Newport, R.I. on August 9, 1898. They had two children - a daughter Constance, born in Franklin, Mass. on March 20, 1903, and a son Franklin, born in Newport, R.I. on July 15, 1907. Their mother died at Pittsfield, Mass. on April 16, 1941. On Nov. 1, 1944 I.H.G. married Amey Jencks Cook of Woonsocket, R.I. as his second wife.

It is in accordance with tradition that the name Gamwell was once common in Scotland as it perhaps still is. The Gamwells in America are descended from one of the three brothers who came to this country from Ireland, early in the 18th century; two of them remained in New England and the other went to Georgia or North Carolina. The name of the progenitor of the Gamwells in the United States is not definitely known but there is good reason to believe it was Samuel.

GAMWELL MISCELLANY

GAMWELL CORRESPONDENCE

202 S. Carondelet St.
Los Angeles, Calif.

July 18, 1961

Dear Mrs. Wendell,

I was living in Pittsfield from 1920 to 1937 and knew quite a few Gamwells, distant cousins of mine.

My mother is Swedish and returned to her home in Halsingborg, Sweden when my father died.

My Father, Charles William Gamwell was born in Torrington, Conn. on July 13, 1877, the son of Dr. John W. and Frances Barber Gamwell. They moved to Pittsfield in 1890, however I was born in Manhattan on Dec. 18, 1919. Father died on Sept. 9, 1943 and his sister Carrie Frances Gamwell (a spinster) died last year.

It was my Aunt Carrie who many years ago told me of the Gamwell genealogy that had been traced back to England and the first Gamwell who had been swordbearer to the king.

My father also had one brother, a sort of "blacksheep" in the family, whom he referred to as my "Uncle Louie." He migrated west in the early days and finally settled down to raise a family in Carson City, Nevada.

Most Sincerely,
Charles William Gamwell

TAX RECORDS OF SAVOY, MASSACHUSETTS, 1799-1855

From the Elmer I. Shepard Collection, Berkshire Athenaeum, Pittsfield, Mass.

Taken from the tax records of the town; taxes are polls, real estate, personal estate, schools, defraying town charges, bridges and highways. Each name appears for the years indicated and is useful in determining the years of residence in the town. Years are as early as 1799 and as late as 1855. Not all years are represented, as Mr. Shepard copied only what records were available. The list for 1799 previously appeared in BG 8/4 and is repeated in integration here. (We have retained all of the original phonetic spellings.)

SOME SUGGESTIONS FOR WRITING QUERIES

1. Give the full name, including middle name or initial, of the person subject to enquiry.
2. Establish identity of the person by giving place and date of birth, place and date of death, parentage, place and date of marriage and identity of spouse to the extent these data are known, as:
John DOE b Hartford, CT 12 Jan 1900; d Fairfield, CT 19 Mar 1967 s/o Richard & Abigail (WESTON) DOE m Hartford 11 June 1923.
3. If unable to give a complete description of the person under enquiry, start with a son or daughter for whom more information might be available and ask for that person's ancestry.
4. Identify spouse in manner described in (2) above.
5. State what information is desired, as:
Need ancestors of John and Abigail.
6. Place the question at the end of the query.
7. Do not abbreviate the names of persons or towns.
8. For any locale outside Massachusetts, be sure to identify the state.
9. Dates should be written: day, month, year as: 13 Oct 1743.
10. Use multiple queries rather than several parts to the same query.
11. Queries should not exceed four or five lines and should be submitted as an ASCII file on a diskette or E-mailed to bfha@berkshire.net marked as a query on the subject line. Printed or typed queries will also continue to be accepted.
12. Well-known abbreviations may be used but elaborate use of them is not required.
13. Address for reply should be stated on each card so that the Editor is not obliged to keep their envelope as well in order to have a complete record.
14. Acknowledge receipt of all replies and reimburse respondent for postage and the cost of any material copied. One should not be left out of pocket for having answered a call for help. If the submitted material is of little use, that is the risk assumed in transactions by correspondence.
15. When requesting information, always include a SASE.
16. Help your query editor judge the effectiveness of this section. If you make a contact that provides significant help with your search, won't you let us know
