PRESIDENT'S REPORT

1997 was a great year for the society both in memberships as well as publications. The last two cemetery books were completed as well as four ancestor books. New publications available in 1998 will be the 1870 Census Book and Asbury Methodist Church Records.

We've had our copier six years now and have run 291,380 copies. Many publications were run at Thresholds this year, which saved much wear and tear on our copier. The copier should last two more years and we'll eventually need to decide when the appropriate time will be to trade this machine in towards a new one.

At the December Meeting the following officers/board members were elected:

President	Marcia Stang
Vice President	Karen Burden
Secretary	Nelda Ravens/Mary Falter
Corresponding Secretary	Marge Ryan
Treasurer	Sharla Grosso
Editor	Marcia Stang
Webpage Editor	Lee Hollenbeck
Historian	Pauline Murphy
Board Members: Nelda Ravens, Thelma Lunsford, Toni Betourne

As many of our members know, we have our own Webpage, which was created by member Lee Hollenbeck. The Webpage has become a valuable source for new members and publications sales besides informational news and helping to connect people searching for the same ancestors. Therefore, the new board position of Webpage Editor was created. I hope everyone has a chance to see our Webpage, which includes links to many other genealogy sites. Pauline Murphy, who has spent countless hours working on the society scrapbooks, is now Historian. Since our membership has grown so much, we've reinstituted the board position of Corresponding Secretary. We ask that anyone having news of our members (such as illness etc.) contact Marge Ryan.

The Research Meetings (third Wednesday of the month) were well attended and much was accomplished. A special thank you needs to be extended to Nelda Ravens and Thelma Lunsford for all the extra Wednesday nights they helped running copies and working on research and publications. Thanks also to all those members who came to help assemble the quarterly. We finally have enough members and exchanging societies/libraries that we will be able to go to bulk mailing this year.

Though we completed cemetery books for the last two townships, we are not done working on cemeteries. We will be breaking out the Northeast Section Cemetery Book to townships this year. This publication will also list the grave markers in proper sequence in each cemetery instead of alphabetically. An upcoming project will be a complete cemetery index for the entire county. I hope all our members will feel free to let us know what potential projects they'd like to see.

Best wishes for a very successful year of ancestor hunting!

Marcia Stang, President

1870 CENSUS REPORT

All townships have been transcribed from the microfilm and typed. Harold Milling is working on the index. This publication should be available early in 1998.

QUARTERLY/NEWSLETTER EXTRACTIONS

1930 Census Information:

Only part of the 1930 census will be indexed: the southern states. The indexes were a WPA project to employ people. When they started on the 1930 census they started in the south but, before they could finish, the war broke out and the labor force was needed elsewhere. The ten southern states which were indexed for the 1930 census are Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Virginia plus 7 unnamed counties in Kentucky and 7 more in West Virginia. The 1940 and 1950 censuses have no indexes at all. The 1930 census will be released sometime in 2002 (exact date has not been set) pursuant to the 72 year restriction on public access to protect people's privacy. News 'n' Notes, St. Louis Gen. Soc., Vol. 29, No. 12.

National Archives:

Research is now available online at the new Genealogy Page <http://www.nara.gov/genealogy>, a part of the NARA homepage <http://www.nara.gov>. The new webpage summarizes NARA's services for genealogists and provides links to information about NARA's regional facilities where census records and other records of genealogical interest are available. The site's newest feature is an automatic Soundex Coding Machine. The Soundex is necessary for searching the indexes for Federal census records, 1880 to 1920, and some passenger arrival records.

Researchers interested in American history should also visit the NARA's home page. The home page links to the NARA Archival Information Locator (NAIL), an easy-to-use database of selected textual and non-textual National Archives holdings on an online Exhibit Hall featuring electronic versions of some of the most popular NARA exhibits. Illinois State Genealogical Society, Vol. 18 #6, November/December, 1997.

1880 KANKAKEE COUNTY DEATHS

Taken from the Kankakee Gazette (publication date in parentheses).

(21 Oct 1880) In Milk's Grove township, Iroquois county, Ill., Oct. 3, Jane Helena, beloved wife of Owen Mansfield, Esq., aged 48 years.

(21 Oct 1880) John Michaels, of Limestone, who came to Kankakee county in 1858, died Monday night at eleven o'clock. He was a most worthy citizen and his loss will be deplored by his neighbors and all with whom he came in contact.

(28 Oct 1880) In Sumner, Oct. 15, Helen E. Crandall, wife of A. B. Crandall, aged 47 years and 11 days.

(28 Oct 1880) In this city, Oct. 22, of croup, Fannie, daughter of Charles Swift, aged 23 months.

(28 Oct 1880) In Manteno, Oct. 1, Mrs. Mathilda Mailloux, aged 34 years.

(28 Oct 1880) In Sumner, Oct. 24, of croup, Blanche N. Labrie, aged 3 years, 6 months.

(28 Oct 1880) In Otto, Oct. 3, of heart disease, Mrs. Maria Seltricht, aged 60 years.

(04 Nov 1880) Horace D. Wood, a farmer living a mile and a half west of this city on the A. Eggleston farm, hung himself last Monday evening about nine o'clock. For two or three years past his mind has been somewhat affected by loss of crops, and recently he has been heard to threaten the taking of his life. On the evening of his death he sat down to read a newspaper after supper, but seemed restless and went out of the house several times. The last time he went out, his wife and daughter waited about ten minutes and started in search of him. Noting the corn-crib door open they looked and beheld Mr. Wood hanging by his neck from a beam. The deceased was about fifty years of age.

(04 Nov 1880) In Otto, Oct. 16, of membranous croup, Jennie Oaks, aged 3 years.

(04 Nov 1880) Edward Sharkey, aged 15 years, the son of Irish parents on the South side, was returning upon the gravel train, and in attempting to board the cars after the train had started, fell upon the track and was instantly killed, his head being severed from his body and crushed out of all semblance to humanity. The operator at Otto found the remains soon after the train left and at once telegraphed to this city.

(04 Nov 1880) The death of Alfred Merrill Putnam, for the past twenty-six years a conductor on the Illinois Central, briefly noticed last week, will be deeply regretted by every person who traveled on the road and had the pleasure of his acquaintance. He leaves a wife and daughter who were both present at his death bed. Mr. Putnam was born in Andover, Mass., in 1834.

(18 Nov 1880) At Lachine, Canada, Sunday Nov. 14, Dr. A. DeCouagne, eldest brother of Mrs. I. Dorion, of this city.

(18 Nov 1880) In St. Anne, Oct. 29, of croup, Paully Laring, aged 9 months.

(18 Nov 1880) In Kankakee, Oct. 22, of croup, Fannie E. Swift, aged 23 months.

(18 Nov 1880) In Kankakee, Nov. 8, of pneumonia, August Riemenschneider, aged 72 years.

(18 Nov 1880) In Kankakee, Oct. 23, of pneumonia, Mrs. Virginie Bellanger, aged 52 years.

(18 Nov 1880) On last Thursday, Elmer, the second son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Olson, aged 14 years, was buried at the Eldridgeville cemetery. He was sick only four days. Jack Walsh, aged about seventeen, a son of William Wash, of Milk's Grove, has died of the same disease also.

(25 Nov 1880) In Buckingham, Nov. 18, Dickie, son of Thomas and Maria Crawford, aged 5 years.

(25 Nov 1880) At the hospital, Sept. 29, of organic spinal disease, W. J. Andrews, of Dixon, Ill., aged 43 years.

(25 Nov 1880) Mrs. Lillian D. Dewey, wife of Dr. Richard S. Dewey, superintendent of the State Insane hospital in this place, died on Friday last, November 19th, aet. 30, greatly regretted by all who knew her. She was born at Brooklyn, N.Y., February 21, 1850, and was the daughter of Rev. Benjamin W. Dwight, of Clinton, N.Y., and Wealthy Jane Dewey, daughter of Dea. Harvey Dewey, uncle of Dr. R. S. Dewey. She was married January 2, 1873, and was the mother of three children, previously to the birth of the infant son, which was born a few hours before her death. No wife or mother could well be more happy in her fondly cherished home than was she; or diffuse more happiness among all its members, by her animated aspect and bearing among them.

REMOVAL OF THE POSTOFFICE

Taken from the Kankakee Gazette, November 11, 1880.

For a number of years past it has been evident to everybody that the space devoted to the postoffice in the rear of Durham's bookstore has been too contracted, dark and inconvenient. It has also been a resort, more or less, for loafers, and ladies have found it embarrassing many times in visiting the office to run the gauntlet of staring men and tobacco laden atmosphere. Mr. Durham also believes that it has been a disadvantage to his business to have his store filed with idle gossipers, and on this account he refuses to renew the lease of Mr. Kenaga. Compelled to move out, Mr. K. has fortunately found a location which is in every way desirable. Mr. Fena will at once erect a brick building 24 x 50, on Schuyler avenue, just south of Court street - opposite the flour store - and into this Mr. Kenaga will move the postoffice, occupying this structure. It will be convenient to business, yet sufficiently retired to obviate many of the disadvantages of a more conspicuous location, and it will give him an opportunity to enlarge the box capacity by one-half - an improvement much needed, as the office is now restricted for accommodations. The new arrangement will, it is believed, give universal satisfaction to the community. Mr. Kenaga has consulted a large number of the leading business men of both parties and all are well pleased with the change. After all, it is "Hobson's choice"; the postoffice "must go", and the location is the only one which can be bad.

ing these boats were captured and proved to be loaded with large quantities of arms and supplies for the confederacy.

On April 23 the legislature had convened and at once proceeded to provide for the organization of six regiments of infantry.

On the 25th the legislature passed an act to organize six regiments from the state, providing for the election of regimental officers and a Brigadier General, which act became a law immediately upon its passage.

This act provided that, as token of respect to the six Illinois regiments that served in the Mexican war, the numbering of the new regiments should begin with number "Seven."

The six regiments were mustered as follows:

Seventh and Eighth on the 25th of April, 1861; Ninth on the 26th of April, 1861; Tenth on the 29th of April, 1861; Eleventh on the 5th of May, 1861; Twelfth on the 10th of May, 1861.

The reports of the adjutant general show the aggregate number of enlisted men for the State to have been:

Infantry, 185,941; Cavalry, 32,082; Artillery, 7,277; total, 225,300.

While the infantry regiments numbered as high as the 156th, the actual number was but 144, owing to the fact that the numbering began at the 7th as before stated.

There were seventeen cavalry regiments, two of light artillery and eight independent batteries.

There were mustered out as members of the different organizations, Infantry, 59,154; Cavalry, 9,982; Artillery, 2,953.

There perished in the rebel prison at Andersonville, eight hundred and seventy-two soldiers from the state of Illinois. The graves of seventy-six of these brave boys remain unmarked, it being impossible to locate the graves.

The reports of the Adjutant General show the following expenditure in the county of Kankakee, for county and town bounties, support of soldiers' families and other expenditures in aid of the suppression of the rebellion, independent of any interest that may have been paid for the use of the sums of money so expended:

Kankakee County	$ 78,334.36
Town of Yellowhead.....	7,633.50
" Sumner	10,725.31
" Manteno	20,601.20

" Rockville	3,347.51
" Momence and Ganeer.....	26,047.75
" Bourbonnais	12,881.25
" Limestone	5,916.25
" Salina	5,910.00
" Essex	2,112.50
" Aroma	7,035.30
" Otto	5,166.00
" Pilot	6,678.57
Norton Association	6,900.00

$199,289.50

We have nothing of record showing the amount of money expended by citizens of the towns of Kankakee and St. Anne.

In addition to the above sums of money, thousands of dollars were expended in the care of soldier's families that were never reported to the authorities, as was also money paid out by local and neighborhood associations for substitutes in case any of their number were drafted.

SEVENTH REGIMENT ILLINOIS INFANTRY

This regiment was originally mustered for three months' service at Camp Yates and April 25, 1861, it was forwarded to Alton, St. Louis, Cairo and Mound City, where it remained until mustered out.

The Seventh was reorganized for three years service July 25, 1861, and in Kentucky, under Gen. Grant, took part in the investment and siege of Ft. Donelson. It also participated in the battles of Shiloh and Corinth, and was in almost continuous skirmishing expeditions. At one time it was mounted and sent on scouting duty through the mountains. The battle of Allatoona Pass, in which this regiment fought as a part of the third brigade, is said to have been the bloodiest encounter considering the number engaged in American history. General Sherman, in speaking of the battle of Allatoona Pass, makes it the subject of a general order commending the officers and men for "their determined and gallant defense of Allatoona." After this battle the regiment joined Sherman at Kingston, Georgia, on his famous march to the sea. They had been dismounted on the 14th of June, 1864, but were remounted on November 21, and entered Savannah, with Sherman, as the advance of the 15th Corps. Turning north, it entered the campaign of the Carolinas, participating in the battles of Salka-hatchie Swamp, Bentonville and Columbia.

This regiment was the only one in the service to purchase its own guns, the first to re-enlist as veterans, and the first to return to the capitol of the state.

Of this regiment Kankakee county has but two men credited to her: Walter H. Smith, Kankakee; William H. Van Horn, Bourbonnais.

FIFTEENTH ILL. INFANTRY.

This regiment was organized at Freeport, Illinois, and mustered into service May 24, 1861, for three years. It did gallant work in covering Seigel's retreat from Rolla's Creek, Missouri, assisted in the capture of thirteen hundred rebels at Sedalia, Missouri, took part in the siege and surrender of Ft. Donelson, was in the first line of the two days' battle of Shiloh, and with the Fourteenth Illinois Infantry was personally led by Gen. Grant in the final charge on April 7, 1862. In this engagement the regiment had two hundred and fifty killed and wounded, and there are more of its dead in the National Cemetery at Pittsburg Landing than of any other regiment. It went with Grant through Mississippi to Coffeerville, returning to Memphis having many severe encounters, including the battle of the Hatchie. Thence it proceeded to Vicksburg, where it took an active part in all movements during the siege.

The Fifteenth captured Ft. Beauregard on the Wachita river, was repeatedly engaged with the confederates at Champion Hills and was with the Second Brigade at Allatoona Pass.

After the capture of Savannah, it was sent north where it took part in various skirmishes, and was mustered out September 1, 1865.

Kankakee county had but one representative in this regiment: Fordyce Lee, Essex.

NINETEENTH ILLINOIS INFANTRY.

This regiment came from the state at large, and consisted of four companies of Chicago, commanded by Col. Joseph R. Scott. It was mustered into the United States service May 4, 1861, at Camp Yates, and on the third of June was ordered to Chicago, as the nucleus of the Nineteenth Illinois Volunteer Infantry, which was mustered into the federal service for three years June 17, 1861.

The roster of the Nineteenth Illinois Infantry was as follows:

Field and Staff—Colonel, John B. Turchin; Lt. Colonel, Joseph R. Scott; Major, Frederick Harding; Adjutant, Chauncey Miller; Quarter-Master, Robert W. Wetherell; and Surgeon, Samuel C. Blake.

Having been a Colonel of staff in the Russian Guards, Colonel Turchin paid particular attention to the preliminary drill and discipline of the regiment, and, assisted by several officers and sergeants of the original Ellsworth Zouaves, utilized the first two weeks at Camp Long in bringing about the greatest possible efficiency. Subsequently when not on the march, he improved every opportunity for drill and discipline and finally succeeded in making the Nineteenth Illinois one of the best, if not the best drilled regiment in the western army. Colonel Turchin was promoted to brigadier general, July 17, 1862. His regiment served in the armies of the Cumberland and Tennessee, actively participating in the greater number of the important battles and returned to Chicago June 17, 1864, being mustered out of service July 9, 1864. The Nineteenth left Chicago July 12, 1861, nearly one thousand strong, received during its service a large number of recruits, and was mustered out with less than three hundred and fifty men. From the records of this regiment it is shown that but three men enlisted from Kankakee county: Alfred (Fred) Bernier, who was mustered out as a Sergeant; James L. Handy, transferred to the Signal Corps October 26, 1863, and Frank Seguin.

TWENTIETH ILLINOIS INFANTRY.

Of the record of this gallant regiment we quote largely from the history written by E. B. Sleeth, late sergeant of Company I of the regiment.

The Twentieth Infantry was organized at Joliet, Illinois, May 14, 1861, under command of Col. C. C. Marsh, and it was mustered into the United States service June 13, 1861, by Capt. T. G. Pitcher, of the United States army. June 18, by order of Gov. Yates, it proceeded to Alton; July 6, went to the St. Louis arsenal; on the 10th moved to and fortified Cape Girardeau, Missouri; on the 23d went on a forced march to Dallas, and captured a large amount of rebel stores; August 12th moved to Bird's Point, Missouri; October 17, returned to Cape Girardeau; on the 19th started for Fredericktown, Missouri, where, on the 20th it had a severe but victorious engagement with the enemy under Gen. Jeff Thompson, capturing a twenty-pounder howitzer; and November 1, returned to Bird's Point, and went into winter quarters. January 14, 1862, it accompanied Gen. Grant on a reconnoissance in Kentucky, towards Columbus; on the 20th returned to Bird's Point; February 2d, moved to Fort Henry, under command of Gen. W. H. L. Wallace, and occupied the fort on the 4th. On the 11th it arrived at Fort Donelson, and engaged in the three days' battle before that place. It was the first regiment that held its position and staid the daring charge made on the right wing of our army by Forrest, in his great effort on the afternoon of the last day of the battle. For this the regiment received the personal thanks of Generals Grant and McClernand. Lieut. Col. Irwin and fifty men were killed in this battle.

The regiment next moved with the advance of Gen. Grant's army to Savannah, Tennessee. On the 24th it arrived at Pittsburg Landing; engaged in the battle of Shiloh, April 6 and 7, charged upon and captured a rebel battery of two guns, and had forty-two men killed, among whom was our own adjutant, John E. Thompson.

The regiment was in the front on the road, and was conspicuous for its daring during the siege of Corinth. It left its position before Corinth, June 3, and arrived at Jackson, Tennessee, on the 8th, and was engaged in guarding the railroad during the remainder of that and the following month.

August 14, it went to Estrapula, on the Hatchie river; September 1, fought the battle of Britton's Lane, and returned to Jackson on the 4th, and started on the Holly Springs expedition November 8.

It arrived at the Springs Dec. 1, and on the 3d crossed the Tallahatchie river and marched to Oxford; recrossed the river on the 24th, on account of the destruction of the stores at the Springs by the enemy.

The regiment suffered severely on this campaign for want of food, living for ten days on corn foraged from the desolate and impoverished country. It then proceeded to Memphis, Tennessee, and March 1, went to Lake Providence, Louisiana, arriving at Milliken's Bend April 1. A call being made for volunteers to run boats past the Vicksburg batteries, the entire regiment tendered its services, but a delegation only was elected to make the perilous voyage, the remainder marching around Vicksburg on the Louisiana side of the river, crossing in the transports that had run the blockade to the Mississippi shore, and at once marching to the rear of the rebel fortifications at Grand Gulf which was at once abandoned. On May 9 was fought the battle of Thompson Hill; May 12, the battle of Raymond, where Col. Richards and forty men were killed; May 13, Jackson, Mississippi, was captured; May 15, the regiment took a prominent part in the great battle of Champion Hills; and on May 17, crossed the Black river and took position in front of Vicksburg, where on May 22, it engaged in the daring charge on that stronghold, and was one of the few regiments to reach the rebel works. Here it remained for eighteen hours, sheltering itself by digging under the walls of the earthworks, and vacated its position only because the other regiments could not come to its assistance.

It participated in the whole of that memorable siege, from May 22 to July 4, working in the trenches and mines under Fort Hill, rushing into and holding that stronghold with three other regiments when it was blown up. It was the second regiment to enter the city of Vicksburg under Gen. Logan, and in consideration of the services rendered in the capture of Fort Hill, the key to the Vicksburg defences, the regiment was appointed provost-guard of the city, which place it occupied until the beginning of the winter, when it was relieved and joined the third division at Black river, Mississippi. Here it remained the greater part of the winter, going with Gen. Sherman on his raid to Meridian, Mississippi. On this campaign it was engaged in numerous skirmishes; was cut off from communication with the north for thirty days; returned to Vicksburg and from thence went to Cairo, Illinois.

The veterans, comprising two-thirds of the organization, went north on a veteran furlough, while the remainder, or non-veterans, went to Clifton, Tennessee, and marched from there to Huntsville, where the regiment was again united. They joined the army of the Tennessee under Gen. Sherman, at Cartersville, Georgia, under command of Gen. Force, First Brigade, Third Division, Seventeenth Army Corps, and took an active part in all the great battles fought and won during the remainder of that campaign.

July 22, 1864, at the battle of Kenesaw Mountain, the regiment was almost totally annihilated.

ed, after which, by order of Col. Leggett, commanding the division, it was mounted, and acted as his body-guard and scouts.

When Sherman started on his march to the sea this regiment was in advance of the "Old Third Division," Seventeenth Corps, and was engaged in continuous skirmishing from Atlanta to the Gulf. It went east with Sherman's army and was in the grand review at Washington City, after which it went to Louisville, Kentucky, was mustered out of service, and sent to Chicago, Illinois, where the members were paid off and discharged July 19, 1865.

This regiment served continuously during the war in the First Brigade, Third (or Logan's) Division, Seventeenth Army Corps,—always at the front, yet never suffering a defeat.

In the assault on Kenesaw Mountain, it was flanked by the enemy and overpowered after severe loss, and all of the force engaged that day were killed or captured, save about sixteen. Afterward this squad was increased to thirty-five by men reporting who had been absent on leave or detached duty. This band of survivors of the grand old regiment was mounted and placed under the command of Capt. King and employed as scouts by Gen. Leggett, during the "march to the sea," also through the subsequent marches through the Carolinas.

When this detachment of the Twentieth reached Goldsboro, North Carolina, it was joined by 250 recruits from Illinois, and the rest of the old soldier comrades who had been captured at Kenesaw Mountain and had been fortunate enough to survive the tortures of Andersonville and other prison pens of the south. Later others from the prisons rejoined the regiment at Alexandria, Virginia.

Some idea of the service done by the daring fellows of this veteran regiment may be gained from the fact that of the twenty-two officers and three hundred and twenty-two men mustered out in 1865, only about seventy were members of the original organization, which, a little over four years before, numbered over nine hundred men.

With the exception of five persons the original membership of Company G of this regiment was from Kankakee county.

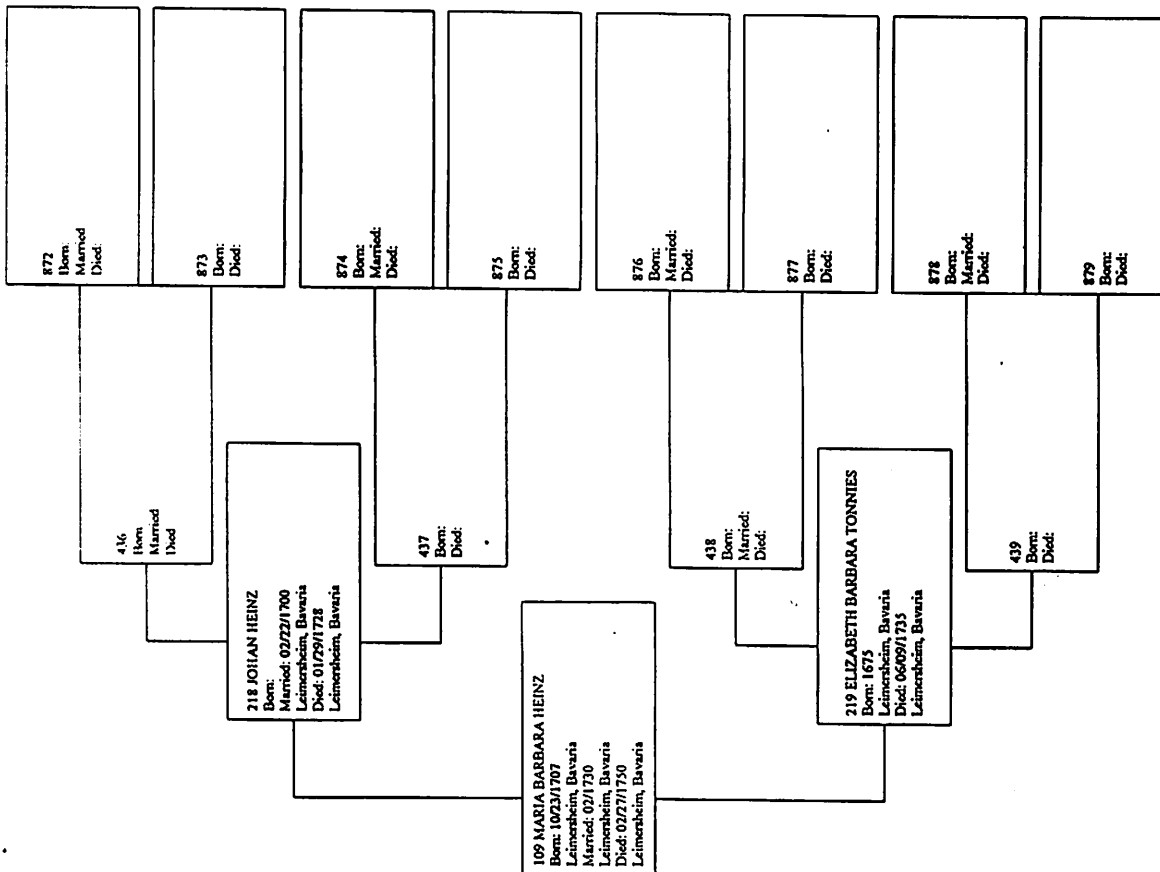

The company was organized at Kankakee April 24, 1861, and reported at Joliet the following month, with James W. Burgess captain, John Tunison first lieutenant, and Cephas Williams second lieutenant. Owing to ill-health, Jas. W. Burgess resigned, August 20, 1861, and John Tunison succeeded him as captain.

Subsequently Edward P. Boas and Andrew J. Down became captains. Those serving as first lieutenants were John Tunison, James Hubbard, Edward P. Boas, Oscar Hottenstein and Andrew J. Down. Second lieutenants, Cephas Williams, Martin Norton, and William L. Carter. There are now living in the county, William Frith, Frank Chester, Alex Meyer, Frank Wickens, Eusebe Giroux, Peter Fina.

The following men enlisted from the county of Kankakee:

Ayers, Lemuel, Otto; Amlot, John B., Otto; Buckner, Edmund, Kankakee; Bauer, Philip, Kankakee; Bierman, Henry, Kankakee; Baker, Rollins, Rockville; Boas, Edward P., Kankakee; Brouillette, Alphonso, Kaneer; Bowers, David A., Kaneer; Brown, James, Otto; Chester, Frank, Limestone; Carter, William L., Yellowhead; Covert, James L., Bourbonnais; Down, J. INTERESTING FACTS

The youngest man ever to be President of the U.S. was Theodore Roosevelt. He was 42 when he became President. John Kennedy was the second youngest President. He was 43 when inaugurated.

Although the Pony Express was one of the most famous chapters in U.S. history, the service lasted just one year - from 1860 to 1861.

Oddly enough, the abbreviation for the word "ounce" is "oz." - even though there's no "z" in ounce.

The Battle of Bunker Hill in the American Revolutionary War was not fought on Bunker Hill, but on Breed's Hill.

The distance across Texas at its widest part is greater than the distance between New York and Chicago.
