LETTERS....

From the President . . .

This will be my final report to you as president of the Clark County Genealogical Society. Let me express my appreciation to each one who has helped me fulfill this responsibility.

Many have served faithfully on the Board of Directors and Executive Council with me. This combined group consists of all elective officers, all appointive officers, and all chairmen of Standing Committees. To each one of these dedicated people and to each Special Committee chairman a very special heartfelt "Thank You".

I am pleased with the progress C.C.G.S. has made these four active years. The efforts of all the librarians have produced an outstanding genealogical library. The printing committee and research chairmen have published quality Clark County early record books. The editors of the "Newsletter", "Trail Breakers", and "Directory" have kept our members up-dated on local and national genealogical information. Those who have had the responsibility of other activities, including our genealogical classes, community information booths/tables, workshops, seminars, bazaars, expos, correspondence, membership, store inventories, newspaper collections, and others which I might have omitted, are to be commended for their successful endeavors. To all members who have supported the activities by their participation and contributions, it was YOU that made all our accomplishments possible.

Serving as President for four years has been an experience I shall always cherish.

My best wishes to the incoming officers and chairpersons. I know you will have the support of the membership. Growth and good things lie ahead for C.C.G.S. It is an organization dedicated to promoting genealogy and making local history available to all, and to this it is a dedicated group.

Evelyn Maloney
President

From the Editor . . .

I'd like to take a moment and thank the Trail Breaker staff for their support this year, with their contributions in the following areas: Barbie Baker, 1880 Census; Jo Landers, Bible Records; Doris Wastradowski, Library Update; Frances Harris, Book Reports; Delillah Knight, Surname File; Gloria Holverson, Ancestor Charts; Catherine Ward, Queries. My thanks, too, to Evelyn Maloney for her contributions and support. And our Trail Breakers would not be published without Kitty Oman, Rose Marie Harshman, and their publications staff. Thanks to each member who has contributed articles. Don't stop! Our success depends on you. We would like to see more ancestor charts and queries submitted - have we seen yours yet in the Trail Breakers?

Editor

HANDLING OF PHOTOGRAPHS - BASIC RULES

DON'T

1. Don't use pressure sensitive tape of any kind on or near photographs or negatives.
2. Don't use rubber cement to mount prints. It contains sulphur and will both stain and chemically attack.
3. Don't use water absorbing glues and pastes such as white glue, library or wheat paste.
4. Don't mount on or store in plywood, masonite, or any composition board.
5. Don't store in wooden boxes or cabinets. The peroxide in wood will attack the emulsion.
6. Don't place newspaper clippings and photographs together in the same file. Newsprint is highly acidic, sulphuric and contains bleaches.
7. Don't use blotters not specifically made for photographic use.
8. Don't use any paper or cardboard that contains sulphur.
9. Don't use rubber bands around groups of prints, color slides, negatives, or to hold film on a reel.
10. Don't use paper clips. They will permanently imprint the emulsion, and they rust.
11. Don't touch the emulsion side of any print or negative. Touch only the edges. Human oils and perspiration are acidic.
12. Don't write on the back of photographs with ink--felt tipped, ball point, or fountain pens. Don't rubber stamp them. Inks are acidic and may contain sulphur.
13. Don't use glassine envelopes for negatives or prints. They deteriorate rapidly and may stick to the emulsion and trap gases inside. (Glassine is cellophane.)
14. Don't use Kraft paper envelopes or highly acidic paper printed with acidic ink.
15. Don't use white envelopes that contain bleach.
16. Don't store photographs flat in stacks or loosely in boxes. The weight may cause them to stick together. The lack of support in a box will cause curling.

DO

1. Use only acid and sulphur-free adhesives such as polyvinyl acetate, dry mount tissue.
2. Use acid and sulphur-free mount boards.
3. Slide prints into acetate sleeves with a support sheet of acid-free lightweight board. The sleeve protects the print emulsion from fingerprints, dust and abrasion.
4. Store negatives and prints upright in acid-free folders in metal cabinets with a baked enamel finish. If repainted metal filing cabinets are used, do not put the negatives or prints in the drawers for at least a month after painting until all paint fumes have evaporated.
5. Use chemically inert envelopes for negatives made of acid-free bond, cellulose acetate, polyethylene (Mylar polyester film). Use only envelopes with side seams to ensure none of the adhesive will touch the emulsion. Insert the negative with the dull or emulsion side away from the seam side of the envelope.

6. Write on the back of photographic prints with a soft lead pencil, being careful not to press so hard as to imprint the emulsion side.
- (7. Mylar mounting corners are now available -- those, used on acid-free mounting board are probably one of the most desirable methods of arranging family photograph collections.)

TOWN/TOWNSHIP?

Have you ever puzzled about the location of a place which you cannot find on a state map? Some of us do not realize the significance of the township, commonly called "Town" in the eastern states.

In some states, including Oklahoma, a township has regular boundaries, 36 miles square, which serves only as the basis of land records and, although named, it has no local government. In many states, the township is a corporate unit and is the local governing body. It may have irregular boundaries, and may have more than one village, or none at all.

Townships are often used as division on census returns. This name was (in many areas, still is) used by local residents to designate the place where they live, were born or married. Confusion comes if there is a "Town" (Township) by the same name as a village located in another county. That village can be searched, and nothing found relating to your family, because you misunderstood "Town".

In New York, the Town Clerk is custodian of the Town Archives, Registers of Births, Deaths, Marriages. In Rhode Island, Connecticut, and Vermont, the Town Clerk is the Registrar of Deeds, and in Rhode Island he is the Clerk of the Probate Court.

If you have a place name in any state which you cannot find, write to the Historical Society of that state for any reference to a city, village, or township (past or present). Oklahoma Historical Society Library has a very useful atlas of townships: maps arranged by state. It is Atlas of the United States, by John L. Andriot, 1979.

MUPHY'S LAW

1. You finally get a day off from work to go to a courthouse, and when you get there, they are closed for emergency plumbing repairs.
2. You finally find the obituary of your ancestor in old newspaper, but all it says is "...died last week..."
3. You spend eternity looking for great-grandmother's maiden name, and when you find it, your mother tells you she already knew that but you had never asked her.
4. You spend half your life looking for other side of family only to find they lived right across the street, but had changed their name because of a family feud.
5. You write down an address of a long-lost relative on back of the telephone bill, and when you go to find it, your spouse has been helpful and paid it the day before!

Certification: Would you like to become a certified genealogist? Free information concerning genealogical certification from Richard E. Spurr, Executive Secretary, Board for Certification of Genealogists, 1307 New Hampshire Ave., N.W., Washington, DC 20036. Certified researchers are divided into three categories, namely genealogists, American lineage specialists, and genealogical record searchers.

Tip: It is important to note "of" and "in" in Scottish research: "of" denotes the owner, "in" is the tenant, e.g. John Smith of (place).

GENEALOGIST

Once I was a normal person
 Before I climbed my family tree,
 Now my forbears are acquainted,
 They make a battleground of me.
 My Great-grandpa Pat from Ireland
 Makes me dance with happy feet,
 But my English one, Lord Ogley,
 Walks sedately down the street.
 Then my Swedish Grandma, Olga,
 Gives away each cent I make,
 While my Scottish Grandma shudders
 At the things I waste and break.
 My Great-grandma from Paris
 Laughs and flirts the livelong day,
 But my Great-grandma from Plymouth
 Turns my head the other way.
 Thus they differ, thus they argue,
 How I wish they would agree,
 For I never can determine
 Which of them is really me.
