ROOTS? LEGACY? HEIRLOOM?

by Jane Germann

It has been 15 years since Alex Haley's book "Roots" triggered a national interest in genealogy. Published in 37 languages, his book had sold more than 6 million copies in 1986. On a short clip on a television program, it was brought out that Alex Haley had the opportunity to travel back to Africa and discover the story of Kunta Kinta who had been stolen and met relatives still living in the area. Haley states that Americans can find strength by studying their ancestors but still advises youth: "Don't follow me. Make your own footsteps. Leave your own legacy."

Are you making your own legacy? Will your great grandchildren know about you a hundred years from now? That is other than information they can obtain from vital statistics or census records?

Perhaps it will be to grand nieces and nephews instead of grand-children that your heirloom will fall. An heirloom is a valued possession passed down in a family through succeeding generations and may be a piece of China, an old toy, some needlework or "the family stores." It was in rough draft in a Schoolcraft notebook that a great-aunt wrote stories that she remembered being told when she was growing up. She wrote it for two of her nieces, but because one of these nieces has shared the notebook, the legacy will be passed down to generations of Wilson relatives. They have been "polished" by the member of another generation to be put it a book for many to enjoy.

The stories she wrote were in rough form; many words were crossed out and sometimes several substitutions were offered. She included a brief history of ancestors of her mother - both sides. Then she told of their early life together and their travel across the plains to Clark County. She included the major events, but also some minor ones. Because she left this record, generations know that Indians were enamored by her great aunt and desired to trade blankets and ponies for her.

How can you go about it? First of all realize that it does not have to be perfect! And don't wait for that perfect time or place. Begin it now!

One good way to start is with a three-ring loose leaf binder. Make sections for different periods of your life: Family background; Birth to Five Years; Six to Twelve Years; Teen Age Years; College/Professional Training; Married Life and Children; Work Experiences; Retirement; What I Have Learned From Life. You may also want to have divisions for specific subjects or events. One advantage of doing it with loose leaf is that you can carry paper with you and write when your memory is "jogged" with incidents or anecdotes. A computer can be used in the same way.

Remember the five "w"s are still important: who, what, where, when, and why? Then fill in with details: size, color, shape, feelings, etc. It can help to work with a friend to stimulate your thinking. Or pretend you are talking to a person like when you write a letter and "listen" for their questions. And remember to identify people! Grandma could be one of several people. Even Uncle Larry could refer to two or more family members.

YOU: Where were you born: town, hospital, home, who was there? What has your health been like: illnesses - how were they treated? What was your weight at various ages? What are your earliest childhood memories? Stories about when you were young? Special dreams, aspirations?

CAREER/WORK: What were your responsibilities? Did you have a job outside the home? What was it like? How did you get to work? What were the careers of others in the family? If you changed careers, why?

SPECIFIC EVENTS: Record your memories of a historic weather event, the first time you saw an airplane, a president's death, an announcement of war, your wedding day, birth of a child, a vacation - what was the transportation, why did you go, what did you see? How did you celebrate (name a holiday), birthdays, etc.

ORDINARY EVENTS: How was food kept before refrigerators? When did you first use a telephone? What was your favorite dessert? What was an ordinary meal like? What were the slang words of the time - and what did they mean? Who were your friends and what did you do? What did you wear to school? What did you study? What were the classrooms like? The teachers? Describe the first time you babysat your grandchild? What makes you special?

PHOTOGRAPHS: Get out photographs to jog memories (remember the five "w"s) and identify the people written on the back or with an attached piece of paper.

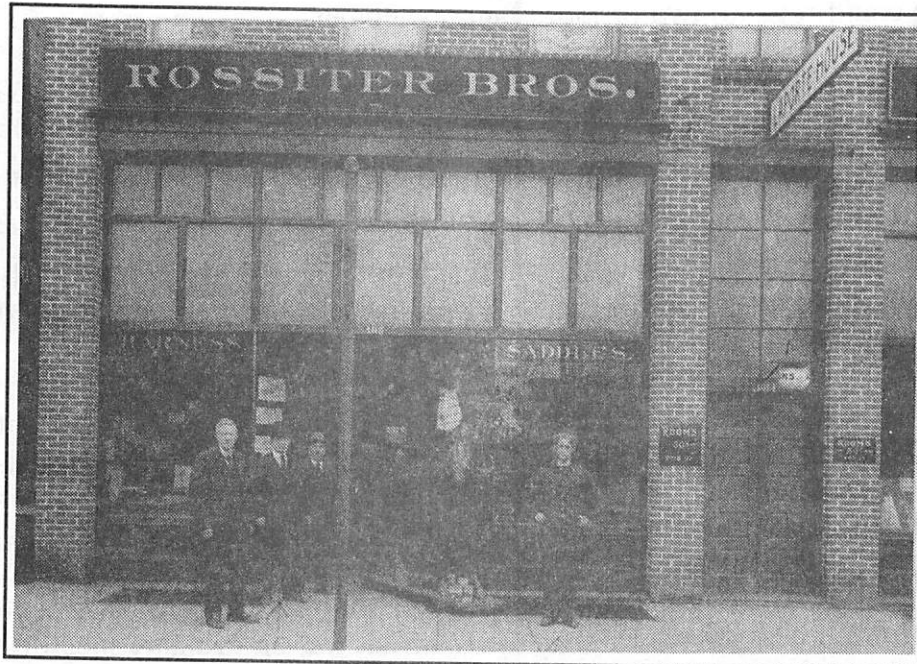

Once you have a section fairly complete, then it is time to organize it. Make a rough draft (the loose leaf pages can simply be shifted if they stories were formed in units) and make at least an informal outline. This will help indicate where additional information is needed. When you have the sections completed, it will be time to let others read your rough draft so you know where you may need to rewrite.

Photographs will be an invaluable addition to your story. If you are going to have your story published, you will need to have half-tones or PMTs made. This is a photographic process that inserts small dots of white into a copy of the photo so that it will not smear during printing. Printing machines are set for different size half-tones, so you may want to think ahead to how you want to publish your book. [Our CCGS machine accepts half-tones of "85 line."] If you furnish a "print-ready" copy, it can be very modest.

If you find it hard to write, another way to "publish" is to read your story into a video recorder. Since these are now very popular, a friend may have one he will loan. You may want to have a relative "interview" you on audio or video tape. But you should plan ahead to have a polished presentation. Make notes of incidents or topics you want to cover. You may even have a list of questions ready to ask.

This is YOUR heirloom. Don't allow time to steal this priceless gift from your descendants. They will enjoy reading your story.

The Rossiter Brothers Harness Shop

by Rose Marie Harshman

Joining his older brother Charles Frederick "Fred" Rossiter who had established a leather and harness business here around the turn of the century, Louis "Lou" John Rossiter came to Vancouver in 1906. Both men had served their apprenticeship at the McMonies Leather Company in Portland, Oregon. The McMonies brothers, Fred and Walter, were first cousins of the Rossiters.

The brothers established their shop near the corner of Fourth and Main Streets. The two story building was constructed of "Hidden Brick", with a balcony for the storage of leather and apartments on the floor above. It was the only business of its kind in Clark County. Before the popularity of the automobile every farmer had a team of horses and every town family who could afford it, had a horse and carriage. While a lucrative era for the leather business, it was short-lived.

Charles Frederick Rossiter was born July 25, 1869 in Canada. He was married to Beryl Gramille Lawrence, daughter of G.C. Lawrence and Mary L. Johns. She was born February 18, 1878 at Salem, Oregon and died of Bright's Disease at the Mt. View Sanatorium in Portland, Oregon on August 16, 1923. Fred survived her by thirty years passing away on March 24, 1953. They are both buried at Park Hill Cemetery in Vancouver. Fred and Beryl were the parents of Lawrence born ca. 1901, Gladys born ca. 1903, Frederick born ca. 1917 and Patricia Lavonia born 1919. Following a short illness of diphtheria, Patricia died at the age of ten months on February 11, 1920.

In 1911, Louis Rossiter met Nancy "Nan" Howe Wester while acting as best man at his cousin's wedding. Nancy who was the maid of honor, was a genuine Southern belle. She was a graduate of Cottey College in Nevada, Missouri, a college education being a rarity for girls in the 19th century. She pursued a career in advertising with Roberts Brothers Department Store in Portland until her marriage to Lou in 1913. Nancy was an intelligent and educated artist as well as accomplished elocutionist.

Lou waited until he had saved $10,000 before they married. A substantial sum, considering their first home, located on 23rd Street in Vancouver was built at a cost of $2,500. They were the parents of two children: William and Elizabeth Rossiter (who married Walter J. M. Kraus).

Louis was born at Toronto, Ontario, Canada on April 8, 1876 and died of a stroke at the age of 85 years, 8 months on January 1, 1962. Nancy was born February 5, 1879, in Pleasant Hill, Missouri and died at the age of 101 years of age on Christmas Day in 1980. They are both buried in Park Hill Cemetery, Vancouver, Washington. The Rossiters were members of the First Presbyterian Church, the Pomona Grange # 82, the Odd Fellows Lodge and Progress Rebekah Lodge #84.

A newspaper account published on August 1, 1930 tells of the fire that destroyed the entire block bounded by Main Street, 3rd Street, Washington and 4th Street. It was first noticed at 2:30 a.m. The loss was put between $125,000 and $150,000. After the fire they relocated in the Odd Fellows Building on Washington Street. Upon retirement in 1935, Lou sold his share of the business to his brother. Fred continued on for another ten years, closing the business in 1945.

Scandinavians found quick buck paradise

If partners Anderson and Lannerberg of the Swedish Land and Colonization Co. had waited 70 years to found Venersborg, they wouldn't have ended up with so many angry Swedes.

Instead of disillusioned immigrants trying to scratch out a living farming rocky brushland, the Portland-based company would have realized a harvest of magnificent homes nestled among the fir trees.

Venersborg, a community about five miles east of Battle Ground, was created exactly 70 years ago, in 1909, by promoters who saw a chance to turn burned-over, marginal land into a Scandinavian bonanza.

The partners who formed the colony bought the land for a song — probably a dollar or two per acre — and ran Swedish-language advertisements across the nation describing Venersborg as a garden of Eden.

"The Swedish Land and Colonization Co. of Portland, promoters of the Venersborg Colony, brought a large number of prospective settlers over to the site," reported the Vancouver Independent newspaper of June 26, 1910. "They went in a caravan accompanied by a brass band."

Original Venersborg store built in 1912 may be reopened.

Reprinted by permission of Bob Beck

It must have taken more than a brass band to drown out the groans of disappointment from the Swedish immigrants when they saw what they had purchased sight-unseen. The advertisements had pictured fertile fields covered with waving grain. They found rocky hillsides covered with blackened stumps and crumbling snags.

But, with typical Swedish grit, the settlers pitched in to make something worthwhile of their colony. They dug out or burned the stumps and used the rocks for fences.

A scant two years later, the Vancouver Columbian, describing the dedication of the new Venersborg church, reported:

"Those going out from the city were greatly surprised at the advances made by the Swedish colony since the land was first settled. The enterprising Swedes have really subdued the forest and have built up a thriving community in a district which was in the midst of the forest a few years ago."

The newspaper spoke of "fine homes, good roads, fruit trees and berry bushes." The first church was erected and a school house was in the process of being constructed of boards sawed "in a sawmill owned by the Swedes."

Bill Allworth Sr., born just after the turn of the century near Venersborg, remembers the settlers trudging by his home with their belongings on their backs. Since they spoke only Swedish, he said, local people had little to do with them. "My mother told me to stay away from them," he recalled.

EARLY CLARK COUNTY PLACES

The community itself had been established on land owned by a farmer named Vener, according to one explanation. Company officials combined the name of their hometown of Vanersborg, Sweden, with the name of this farmer to come up with Venersborg, which is supposed to mean friendly place.

In 1912, a store was built by Fred and Wilhemina Hagberg and a post office opened there. The store building still stands.

The first church built in Venersborg was Methodist-Episcopal. In 1914, the Swedish Mission Friends Church was built on land donated by John Kullberg a quarter-mile east of the Methodist Church. Later, the churches consolidated, and the buildings were fastened together. This is the non-denominational Venersborg Church still being used near the intersection of Northeast 209th Street and Northeast 242nd Avenue.

Long vanished is the Venersborg cooperative cannery that for years turned local produce into cans of pears, prunes and beans. Also gone is the sawmill.

The Venersborg school was run until 1931 when the district consolidated with the Battle Ground School District. The old school building still stands and is used as a community hall.

While Venersborg today has no real identity as a colony, the steep hills and thick brush have sprouted a magnificent crop of new homes, expensive structures running, in many cases, from $100,000 to $200,000. These houses are tucked away along narrow lanes winding through the second-growth timber and are hidden from the view of the passerby.

The owners of these homes work in Vancouver and Portland and are willing to commute long distances for the privilege of country living, according to Allworth, who himself has been a major developer of the area. Allworth Road, Allworth Avenue and Allworth Canyon all speak of the role this pioneer family has played in the growth of the area.

Little schoolhouse was built in 1912 and still is used for various activities.

AGE ON MARRIAGE LICENSE IF GIVEN AS LEGAL ACTS AS BAR TO PROOF OF AGE TO APPLICANTS FOR OLD AGE PENSION.

Hint to the love-smitten: when you apply for that marriage license you'd better put down your age instead of hiding behind the word "legal," because in the years to come you may regret it everlastingly if you do not.

You want proof that this is true? Yes sir: Auditor George W. Callender has it. Guardian angel of Vancouver's widely famed Gretna Green has been deluged in recent months by letters from all parts of the nation but particularly California, from persons who were married here as long as 40 years ago, asking him to please tell them officially how old they were when they were married.

Proof of how old a person is has become of primary importance in state pension applications and in a wide assortment of federal activities, the auditor explains: and one form of proof that the governmental agencies will accept is the individual's marriage affidavit as duly certified by the issuing officer.

Volunteer Spotlight

Born on November 17, 1916 in LaHarpe, a small town in southwestern Kansas, Grace Leona Broughton is the daughter of Percy V. Broughton and Emilie W. Heaton. Her father, the son of John Broughton and Charlotte Bledsoe, was born near Moran, Kansas on June 6, 1890. Her mother, daughter of Elmore E. Heaton and Sarah E. Cornell, was born at Big Mound, Iowa on May 10, 1892. Grandfather Elmore Heaton served with the Union Army during the Civil War.

Grace attended school for the first two years at Maple Grove School, a little one room school house near Bronson, Kansas. In February of 1925, the family moved to the newly developed city of Longview, Washington where her father went to work for the Long Bell Lumber Mill, later known as Weyerhaeuser. In the spring of that year, Emilie and her five children moved to a small ranch in the Baker community of Clark County, near the location of the Clark County Fairgrounds. After attending Baker grade school and Shumway Jr. High, Grace graduated from Vancouver High School in 1935.

On January 15, 1938, Grace was married to Robert Andrew Janssen, the son of John Janssen and Katherine Gabelmann. Robert was born on February 2, 1913 in Portland, Oregon. The Janssens are the parents of two children, both born in Vancouver. Their daughter Charlene Scarlet (Mrs. James Wasson) was born October 13, 1938, and their son Gordon Eugene (married Connie Slater) was born February 9, 1942. There are six grandchildren: James Kenneth Wasson, Katherine Joanne Wasson, Robert Wayne Janssen and twins Heather and Holly Janssen.

While the children were growing up Grace was active in the P.T.A. and served for two years as P.T.A. President at the Hazel Dell School. In 1959 she graduated from the Vancouver Business College and was employed for a time at the Pacific Investment Company. She then went to work for the Pepsi Cola Bottling Company from which she retired in 1981 after serving for 22 years.

An active member of C.C.G.S. since joining 1980, Grace has been a regular library volunteer for the past nine years and was accessions chairman for two years. She has worked at many of the societies functions including seminars, workshops and rummage sales. She is a member of the First Methodist Church in Vancouver and of the Clark County Quilters.

The Janssens traveled throughout a large portion of the United States, Puerto Rico, Hawaii, Canada and Mexico. She has gone on research trips to Salt Lake City with the C.C.G.S. group twice. Her husband Robert passed away on July 10, 1987 and is buried in Evergreen Memorial Gardens Cemetery in Vancouver.

VANCOUVER REGISTER

The "VANCOUVER REGISTER" has been abstracted by Pat Bower and Jane Germann C.C.G.S. member, from a microfilmed copy in the Fort Vancouver Library. Copies of the "Register" are held by Clark County Historical Society. The first three editions have apparently become lost and copies begin with Volume 1 Number 4; much of Vol. 3 from 14 September, 1867 to late 1867 has also become lost. Items of local interest for genealogists and historians have been copied. The [] following articles indicate the [page # / column #].

Local Matters.

A SAD AFFLICTION. . . We regret to be obliged to announce that MRS. SIMMONS, wife of W.M. SIMMONS, ESQ., of this county, committed suicide on the evening of Sunday last by hanging herself. Mr. Simmons and family are among our early settlers, having resided in this county since 1852. The family is one of high respectability, though sadly afflicted for three years past by the insanity of the wife and mother. All efforts to restore her to sanity failed, and at length the fears of friends have been verified in the manner stated above. We sincerely sympathise with the afflicted family and friends, in their sad and bitter sorrow. [3/1]

The following suits have been commenced in the District Court since our last weeks issue:

B.C. HORN & Co. vs. TURNBULL & LEAHY.

C.B. COMSTOCK & Co. vs. TURNBULL & LEAHY.

WILLIAM TURNBULL vs. TURNBULL & LEAHY.

P. KEEGAN vs. JOHN McGEE.

In the Recorder's Court before Judge SMITH, J.C. MATNEY and GEORGE EDWARDS on complaint of Mr. JOHN PROEBSTEL were tried on charge of assault &c. and MATNEY fined $ 1 . 0 0 and costs, and EDWARDS $ 5 . 0 0 and costs. [3/1]

A NEW LAMP. . . We are in receipt from BUNNELL Bros. Portland, of a new lamp called the "Lucine lamp." It claims to be non explosive, and entirely free from smoke or offensive odor while burning, and to be cheaper than any other fluid or oil. The lamp is lined with cotton, which is allowed to absorb what oil it will, the remaining oil is poured out; it will then burn ten or twelve hours. From the little we have tried it we should pronounce the lamp a decided hit. It dispenses with the disagreeable need of broken chimneys. Messrs. BUNNELL, Front Street, Portland, are agents. [3/1]

THE SEMINARY. . . We call attention to the change in the advertisement of the Vancouver Seminary. Arrangements now are made for the board of students from abroad in good and safe families, where their morals and health will be carefully guarded. Parents abroad desiring to send their sons or daughters away from home to attend school, cannot do better than to send them here under the present arrangements. Board and Tuition in such cases will be $40 per quarter. For further information address W.D. NICHOLS, Principal.

DOCTOR JIM

The Celebrated CHINESE PHYSICIAN

Being now permanently located in Portland, takes pleasure in informing his old patients and the public at large that he can be found at his residence,
NORTH SIDE OF WASHINGTON STREET, SECOND DOOR WEST OF SECOND.
PORTLAND, OREGON.

Certificate

WE THE UNDERSIGNED, take great pleasure in testifying to the following facts:

That Miss KATE DERRICK of Walla Walla County W.T. was for a long time afflicted with a disease of the throat, arising from an attack of the measles. That she was treated for said throat disease by a number of the best physicians of Wahington Territory, none of whom affected even a partial cure. That as a last resort she entrusted her disease to the care of the Chinese physician who, after a short treatment, entirely cured her.

That C.N. BABCOCK was confined to his bed for more than two months, by injuries on the knee, resulting from a kick by a horse. That two of the best physicians in Walla Walla City, W.T., failed to relieve him, and stated that amputation alone would save him from death. That Doctor Jim was employed, and after four weeks of his treatment said C.N. BABCOCK was fully restored to health and the full and free use of the wounded knee.

EDWIN L. FISH was attacked with white swelling in the knee, and knowing that Doctor Jim had established an enviable reputation in the treatment of that almost incurable disease, he was employed, and in a very short time effected a complete cure.

That Mrs. WM. H. BABCOCK was for ten years afflicted with fever soar in both her lower limbs. That during that time she employed a great many eminent physicians, none of whom gave her any relief. That about the 1st of July, 1864, she was induced to employ Doctor Jim, and that in a space of six weeks he effected a complete and perfect cure.

In view of the above facts, and of Doctor Jim's well known skill ability and success, in the cure of all diseases of extreme nature, and more particularly of cuts, bruises and all manner of wounds and diseases of the bone, we would earnestly recommend Doctor Jim to all persons thus afflicted.

Signed to first testimonial, KATE DERRICK

PERSONAL . . . A.C. SMITH, Esq., late Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Idaho, and son-in-law of the late Dr. HENRY of this Territory has settled in Vancouver with the intention of practicing law. Mr. SMITH came to Oregon as we are informed in 1852 and served as deputy under Surveyor Generals PRESTON, GARDINER and ZIEBER. He removed from Oregon to Washington Territory and was a deputy under Surveyor Gen. TILTON. Subsequently to this, he was elected to the office of prosecuting attorney, and after having served one term entered upon and served a second by appointment from the Governor, and after this acted as Draughtsman in the Surveyor General's office of this Territory, under the late Doctor HENRY. It will thus be seen that Mr. S. has had the benefit of much experience. * * * * [2/1]

W.W. UPTON, Esq., of Portland, has been appointed Judge of the 4th Judicial District in Oregon in place of E.D. SHATTUCK resigned. The Oregonian says: "Mr. UPTON came here from California about three years ago, has followed the practice of law in this city, has been City Attorney, and a member of the House of Representatives from this county."

THE VANCOUVER HOUSE . . . Mrs. RHEINHARDT late keeper of this house, has moved to the garrison. Capt. W. BAKER will continue his business at the Vancouver House. The Capt. has kept successfully a Restaurant in this city for some two years; and is at home as a keeper of a Public House. We trust the Captain will do well in his new location.

[2/1]

SUICIDE . . . We learn from the Olympia papers of Nov. 30, that a young man by the name of ROBT. CLIFFORD committed suicide in that place on Sunday or Monday last by taking morphine. The Standard says, "the cause which led to the commission of this rash act are not definitely known."

The Tribune says: "It is not known whether the deceased intended suicide or not. Those most intimate with him say he was in the habit of taking morphine to induce sleep, and believe he unintentionally took so much as to cause his death." * * * * [2/2]

PERSONAL ITEMS . . . * * * *

If you will just step in and make a bill with Messrs. CRAWFORD & Co., or M. WINTLER or Messrs. SOHNS & SCHULE, in the place of dry "goods of every description," "hats and caps," "boots and shoes,:" and every thing else in their line, you will find they now have every thing in their line, the articles above specified * * * *

The business of C.H. HUNDER "dealer in American and English hardware," and J.T. HEALY who is in the stove trade, never changes much. * * * *

JOHN F. SMITH, every body knows Smith. He keeps "cigars and tobacco," the best part of penknives, and pocket-knives, and port-monies, and perfumeries. There will be no change except that he will keep more * * * * Mr. STEVENS at his well known corner still keeps the best of family groceries and convectionerys generally, and JOHN MANEY will of course increase his stock and deliver to his customerrs better pies and cakes as their number and his business increases. Don't forget R.J. MOORE, or SOVEY & M'GRATH, if you need a pair of new boots, or if your old ones don't look just to your notion. Then go to MILLER whose new advertisement may be found in to-day's papers: He will fit you out with a first rate suit, unmentionables and all, in less than no time, and GEORGE WEEDEN, if you want to ride or drive, as nearly everybody does about Christmas and New Years, will complete your outfit with a new saddle or harness that will even take the "shine" off your boots. * * * *

KILLED . . . A Sergeant by the name of O'CONNOR was shot in this place about eight o'clock on Thursday evening last. On examination it was found he had been shot through the heart by one ball and that another had grazed his breast. * * * * We understand that a soldier who was in company with O'CONNOR a short time before, is under arrest on suspicion.

[2/3]

In Fairfield Cemetery, Fairfield, Iowa, the following reads:

Isaac L. COEN

1849 - 1884

Sarah E. YOUNG

1842 - 1902

And in North Wayne Cemetery, Olds, Iowa, the following reads:

Isaac L. COEN

Died May 14, 1884

Age 35 yrs

Gone but not forgotten

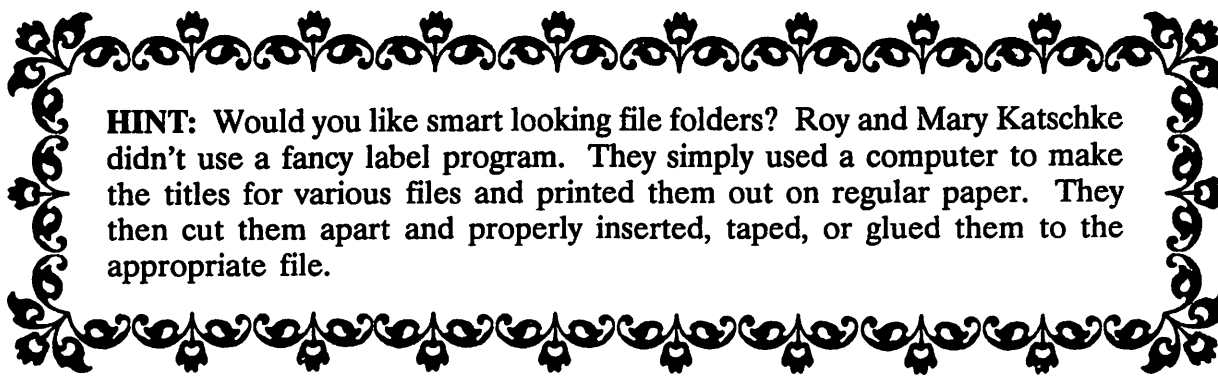

Sarah E. His wife

Died April 15, 1902

Age 59 yrs, 6 mo. 10 days - Rest in Peace

I know my Great Grandparents are not in both cemetery's. My theory at this point: Isaac buried in Olds, & Sarah buried in Fairfield. Names added on other stones only as a memorial to spouses. Any help solving this puzzle greatly appreciated.

HINT: Would you like smart looking file folders? Roy and Mary Katschke didn't use a fancy label program. They simply used a computer to make the titles for various files and printed them out on regular paper. They then cut them apart and properly inserted, taped, or glued them to the appropriate file.

See article on Venersborg under
"Early Clark County Places" on page 8-9.

Venersborg church formerly was two separate churches that merged both congregations and buildings.
